School Systems Overlapping With Bus Routes

By SAM HANNA
Staff Writer

Both local school systems are transporting students in overlapping areas at a cost of about $58,000 annually, a Morning World survey disclosed yesterday.

In short, the Ouachita Parish School Board has 23 buses transporting students from within the city limits of Monroe while the City School Board has five buses operating outside the city limits.

Figures taken from the record, with the cooperation of Supt. W. W. Ward and Supt. Van D. Odom, showed this:

1. $55,154.26 was spent last year by the parish school board to transport students from within Monroe's city limits to parish schools out in the parish.

2. $2,584.80 was spent last year by the city board to transport students from out in the parish to city schools inside Monroe.

TOTAL COST

This came to a total estimated cost of $57,739.06.

Since Ouachita Parish and the City of Monroe do not have legal school districts, both school boards are within the law in operating buses on the overlapping basis.

In addition, the records show this:

1. Ouachita Parish transports 1,037 students from inside Monroe, or 11.58 per cent of its total number of students who ride parish buses.

2. City of Monroe transports 120 students from outside Monroe, or 5.7 per cent of its total number of students who ride city school buses.

Thus, on a percentage basis, the parish transports about twice as many students in overlapping areas than the city board, yet the cost is far above the city's expense.

Here is the reason:

Because of a law passed by the legislature, the City of Monroe does not have to comply with a state salary schedule for school bus drivers, but Ouachita Parish does.

This means that Ouachita Parish has to pay its drivers a minimum salary of $2,400 annually (although some drivers use this as a part-time job) while the city gets by with a minimum of $648 annually.

In other words, the city uses non-professional drivers making

Cuban Charges U.S. Aiding In Guatemala Plot

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — Foreign Minister Raul R. A. charged Friday American-made bombers were in Guatemala as part of a plot to attack Cuba or to stage a fake Cuban attack on Guatemala.

Rao also told the United Nations General Assembly that the United States was planning an act of aggression from the American naval base at Guantanamo so as to provoke a conflict which would lead to a break of diplomatic relations.

Rao, speaking in reply to Guatemalan charges that Cuba was preparing an invasion of its territory, said the United Fruit Company and the U.S. State Department were behind the assembling of planes and training of an invasion force in Guatemala.

Guatemala recently obtained six B-25 bombers at a cost of half a million dollars apiece, Rao said. He said bombers bearing Cuban military markings had been observed on Guatemalan airfields.

Rao charged that more than 100 American airmen and technicians had entered Guatemala to help prepare the "conspiracy." He said the "White House" also was planning to break relations with Cuba by "aggression being prepared at Guantanamo."

The plans fit in with previous American action advising U.S. citizens to leave Cuba and with the "dispatch of mercenaries" to Cuban soil, Rao said.

Prime Minister Disputes Soviet

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — A British Foreign Office spokesman denied Friday night that Prime Minister Harold Macmillan promised Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev there would be a summit conference next spring.

John Russell, the official spokesman for British Foreign Secretary Lord Home, denied four assertions Khrushchev made at a lunch meeting of the U.N. Correspondents Association Friday.

He said Macmillan did not reject Khrushchev's proposal for a special assembly session on disarmament, but at the same time "he did not accept it."

Northeast To Seek $1,750,000

Permission For Application Given By State

The State Board of Education Friday gave Northeast Louisiana State College permission to file preliminary application for funds to finance a $1,750,000 building program.

The money would be used for a Student Union building and housing for approximately 300 students.

PROBABLE COST

Estimated cost of the Student Union is $800,000, while cost of the student housing is estimated at $950,000, according to Dr. George T. Walker, president of Northeast.

The preliminary application for funds will be filed with the federal Housing and Home Finance Agency in Fort Worth, Tex. Walker told the board meeting in Baton Rouge that the need is great for both the additional student housing and an adequate student center.

Announcement of the preliminary approval came on the eve of the college's 28th annual Homecoming.

Parade Opens Homecoming At Northeast

A living representation of Northeast State College's symbolic Indian will lead the parade that begins at 10 a.m. and will wind its way through downtown West Monroe and Monroe. Homecoming Queen Sandra Edwards of Monroe, Maid of Honor Jeanie Duffey of West Monroe and the Homecoming court will ride atop an Alumni Association float in the parade.

The Chief of the Tribe, as he is called, will head the parade that begins at 10 a.m. and will wind its way through downtown West Monroe and Monroe. Homecoming Queen Sandra Edwards of Monroe, Maid of Honor Jeanie Duffey of West Monroe and the Homecoming court will ride atop an Alumni Association float in the parade.

Parade elements will leave the campus at 9 a.m. and organize on Riverside Drive. At 10 a.m. the parade leaves Riverside and crosses the new bridge into West Monroe. It will go down Trenton Street, return to Monroe on the old bridge and head down DeSiard until it reaches Sixth Street, where the elements will disperse.

FLOATS, CARS

Some 39 to 40 decorated floats and cars are expected to be in the parade, which will also include the Northeast band and about 700 marchers from the college ROTC contingent. Riding in the lead car will be Monroe Mayor W. L. (Jack) Howard, West Monroe Mayor J. Allan Norris and Dr. George T. Walker, president of Northeast.

Winners of the decorations contest for floats and cars, as well as for dormitories and fraternity houses, will be announced during the football game Saturday afternoon.

The parade is the first of a series of activities to follow in rapid order Saturday. An Alumni Association meeting is scheduled at 11 a.m., followed by an alumni buffet luncheon at 12:15 p.m. Pre-game activities begin at 1:40 p.m. in Brown Stadium, 20 minutes before Northeast meets Northwestern in the Homecoming football game. After the game an open house will be held, and a dance.

Picket Line Clash Brings Riot Fears

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (UPI) — Eleven persons were arrested Friday in a picket line clash at the General Electric Co.'s biggest plant, Mayor Malcolm Ellis immediately declared a state of emergency.

The arrests were made after 150 non-strikers tried to crash a 3,500-man picket line set up by the International Union of Electrical Workers at GE's "home plant."

Some 30 non-strikers breached the line, but witnesses said 100 others were pushed back.

FEAR VIOLENCE

More violence and arrests were reported Friday at GE plants at Neskeayuna, N.Y., Burlington, Vt. and Pittsfield, Mass.

Schenectady's entire 132-man police force had been mobilized, but was unable to cope with the situation. Ellis and city manager Arthur Blessing declared the emergency in fear of more serious picket line violence and called on Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller for assistance.

In Albany, the governor's office said Robert MacCraty, Rockefeller's counsel had been in touch with city officials and Schenectady County Sheriff Harold Calkins who indicated his willingness to help.

"The sheriff's powers to deputize individuals for law enforcement duties can be exercised to supplement the police personnel of the city of Schenectady if requested," the governor's office said. "The maintenance of order historically has been the responsibility of local law enforcement officials."

A possible major outbreak was prevented when W. S. Ginn, vice president in charge of GE's turbine division, came to the main gate and urged non-strikers not to invite violence. He said he had received information that a "near riot was in the making."

Gremillion Found Guilty Of Contempt

Judge Suspends Sentence, Hands Out Probation

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Federal District Judge Edwin F. Hunter today slapped a 60-day suspended sentence and an 18-month unsupervised probation on Louisiana Atty. Gen. Jack Gremillion for contempt of a federal court hearing last August.

Hunter, who went to Louisiana State University with Gremillion, found Gremillion guilty of the contempt charges for calling the hearing "a den of iniquity" and a "kangaroo court."

NO CONTEST

Gremillion stormed out of the Aug. 28 hearing in New Orleans when the court overruled his objections in a case involving integration of New Orleans public schools.

Attorneys for the volatile, stocky attorney general did not contest the charges. One of them, state Rep. Wellborn Jack, said Gremillion was "technically guilty of contempt" but he was motivated by "the heat of battle."

Hunter said the court could not tolerate Gremillion's actions despite the circumstances.

Vigorous advocacy for any cause, Hunter said, must never extend to contempt.

"Neither zeal, good intentions or devotion," Hunter said, can alter the due processes of law and the respect all should have for the law.

"There is no place for pride in the law," Hunter said. "Humility forestalls humiliation."

In suspending the sentence, Hunter said, there was no need for a fine or other punishment "which could only lead to further publication of this unfortunate incident which everyone regrets."

U.S. Dismisses Russia Threats Against Arming

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department Friday night dismissed new Russian threats against the arming of West Germany as attempts to distract attention from Soviet actions "which are the real causes of tension" in the world.

The statement was made in reply to a Soviet note handed over in Moscow Thursday to U.S. Ambassador Lewellyn Thompson.

According to Moscow radio, the note said the Russians would take "relevant measures" if West Germany is supplied with American nuclear missiles.

It said "The Soviet government would not remain an inactive witness of the arming of West Germany with rocket-nuclear weapons."

Russia then would be compelled to take the "relevant measures," it added, "which it regards as indispensable for ensuring the security of the Soviet Union and States allied with it."

The State Department said the Russian note contained "obvious distortions." A spokesman charged that Russia has been arming East Germany since 1946.

Press officer Francis W. Tully called the Russian note "a patent effort to divert attention from Soviet inspired actions," including Russian threats against Berlin, threats to use rockets, the Russian walkout from the Geneva disarmament conference last summer and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's behavior in New York.

King Chides Neutralists In Cold War

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower held a "very friendly" conference Friday with a youthful mid-East ruler who chided neutral nations in the cold war and said there never could be any compromise with communism.

The President's visitor was 26-year-old King Hussein of Jordan, who flew to Washington from New York he is the only ruling monarch attending the United Nations General Assembly session.

RESPECTS RIGHTS

Hussein said after a 25-minute talk with the President that he respects the right of any nation to "choose its own line." But he said "We don't believe there could be or should be any neutralism with regard to communism."

Hussein, whose relations with some other mid-east nations are chilly at best, was asked whether he noticed a trend by smaller nations toward neutralism. He said it wasn't a matter of "alignment with the West" but of the free world versus communism—"in my opinion the greatest destructive force in the world."

Soviet Premier May Fly Home First Of Week

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Russians indicated Friday that Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev may fly home to the Kremlin early next week.

The Soviet government received permission to bring two planes into Idlewild International Airport Monday or Tuesday, police reported.

Russian officials also have called what appears to be Khrushchev's farewell news conference for Monday or Tuesday.

The port of New York Authority lost no time in granting clearance for two Soviet jets as soon as it was requested.

15 In Havana Prison Escape

HAVANA (UPI) — Fifteen political prisoners escaped from Morro Castle Prison Friday in a pre-dawn mass jail break from the old Spanish fortress on Havana Bay.

A government announcement said the escaped prisoners were aided by a non-commissioned officer and four enlisted men, presumably on guard duty at the time.

"The escape was connected with the (Tuesday) landing (of an invasion force) in Oriente," the statement said. It did not explain the connection.

THREATENS FORCE

Soviet Demands Spring Summit

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Premier Khrushchev threatened Friday night to support Soviet interests outside the United Nations "by relying on our own force." He demanded a summit conference after the U.S. election as his price for restraining Soviet action on isolated West Berlin's status.

Police In N.O. Get Orders To 'Shoot To Kill'

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Police Supt. Joseph A. Giarrusso issued his men sawed-off shotguns Friday and ordered them to "shoot to kill."

As he was issuing the orders, armed robbers were committing three separate hold-ups netting more than $10,000.

About $10,000 was stolen by two masked gunmen at the J and L Restaurant and Bar. Two truck drivers were held up of $55 and $75. Earlier, gunmen stole checks they can't cash from a bank messenger.

Giarrusso said that September robberies were "practically double those reported for the same month last year." He said he hoped the number of robberies and muggings could be cut down if police carried shotguns on duty.

Giarrusso said: "I intend to meet force with force."

"Therefore, I am giving all persons who may be intent on committing armed robbery warning that my men will be prepared to act against them when such persons are caught in the act of robbing any citizen."

Candidate Debates Sway Some Voters

By United Press International The Kennedy-Nixon television debate Friday night swung some voters from one position to another and left others undecided, a United Press International spot check indicated.

James L. Slaughter, a Miami, Fla., manufacturer's agent, said the debates have changed his mind.

"In the beginning I was more or less a Nixon supporter," he said. "But after the last two debates, I'm afraid I have more or less switched to Kennedy. I think he seems to know what he's talking about more."

But Joseph Pettit said in Chicago that he believed Nixon did a better job in the Friday night debate.

vote Democratic," Pettit said. "But I feel that Nixon, on the basis of experience, is the better man for the job."

John Pavelle, an Army colonel, said in Washington, D.C., that his position was wavering.

"I've made up my mind, but the debate gave me some doubt," he said. "Both men made some bad points, I thought. I don't divulge how I vote."

Harry R. Sowers, 39, a Pittsburgh office manager, was among the fence-sitters.

"I haven't made up my mind on either candidate so I couldn't change it," Sowers said. "Between them, there is no real difference except one of party."

Candidates Fire Blasts In Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP) — The political titans of 1960, Richard M. Nixon and John F. Kennedy, fought a gloves-off battle over the whole field of foreign and domestic policy Friday night with millions of Americans looking on.

Vice President Nixon accused Kennedy, his Democratic rival for the White House, of advocating a position with regard to Formosa that represented "the same kind of woolly thinking that led to disaster in Korea."

FORESEES TEST

Kennedy foresaw a terrific test of nerve, will and strength facing the next president over Berlin. He called for revitalization of America's military strength in the next Congress and contended that this country's relative strength has "deteriorated in the last eight years and the American people should know it and be told the facts."

As he has in one campaign speech after another, Nixon contended Kennedy's plan for America offers only "retreads of programs that failed" before and would cost the country $10 billion more than the GOP program. Kennedy branded that $10-billion figure "fantastic" and he said the Eisenhower-Nixon administration has failed to meet its responsibilities.

This was the second great television-radio debate in a series of four bringing the picture and voices of the candidates before perhaps 70 million Americans.

And it was a far cry from the mild-mannered affair Kennedy and Nixon staged in Chicago last week.

Nixon saved one of his heaviest bombs almost to the end. Kennedy had been asked about his position with respect to defending the Quemoy and Matsu

Raiders Loyal To Lumumba Kill 35 Persons

LEOPOLDVILLE (UPI) — Village officials in northeast Katanga Province Friday reported at least 35 persons killed in recent days by raiding Baluba tribesmen loyal to ousted Congolese Premier Patrice Lumumba.

Unconfirmed reports from Elisabethville said nearly 60 persons had been slain in the raids.

The situation was termed "very serious" by authorities there who said that at least three Europeans were among those taken prisoner by the Balubas.

United Nations forces which are in the area but have not become involved reported they found nine bodies of Africans following a raid Thursday night on the village of Niembu, three hundred miles north of Elisabethville.

They said 30 Niembans were kidnapped after communications were destroyed. Six raiders were reported killed in another attack Thursday on Bakumba. Airport Here in Leopoldville, Congolese leaders awaited a possible move by strongman Col. Joseph Mobutu to re-open parliament following the apparent collapse of his attempt for a round table conference to discuss the crisis.

Observers believe that, with the recent withdrawal of support of Lumumba by some of his former followers in parliament, the government of Premier Joseph Ileo can be installed.

Tully called the Russian note "a patent effort to divert attention from Soviet inspired actions," including Russian threats against Berlin, threats to use rockets, the Russian withdrawal from the Geneva disarmament conference last summer and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's behavior in New York.

Good Weather At Homecoming

Partly cloudy skies and mild temperatures will reign today, along with Northeast State College's lovely Homecoming Queen.

Football fans will enjoy the sunless, rainless day predicted. The high temperature expected is 84. The low will be near 62.

The Friday high was 77 with a low of 65.

No rain was recorded early last night but thundershower warnings had been issued.

King Chides Neutralists In Cold War

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower held a "very friendly" conference Friday with a youthful mid-East ruler who chided neutral nations in the cold war and said there never could be any compromise with communism.

The President's visitor was 26-year-old King Hussein of Jordan, who flew to Washington from New York he is the only ruling monarch attending the United Nations General Assembly session.

RESPECTS RIGHTS

Hussein said after a 25-minute talk with the President that he respects the right of any nation to "choose its own line." But he said "We don't believe there could be or should be any neutralism with regard to communism."

Hussein, whose relations with some other mid-east nations are chilly at best, was asked whether he noticed a trend by smaller nations toward neutralism. He said it wasn't a matter of "alignment with the West" but of the free world versus communism—"in my opinion the greatest destructive force in the world."

Soviet Premier May Fly Home First Of Week

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Russians indicated Friday that Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev will go home to the Kremlin early next week.

The Soviet government received permission to bring two planes into Idlewild International Airport Monday or Tuesday, police reported.

Russian officials also have called what appears to be Khrushchev's farewell news conference for Monday or Tuesday.

The Soviets also have asked for a conference with airport officials and police on Tuesday.

The port of New York Authority lost no time in granting clearance for two Soviet jets as soon as it was requested.

15 In Havana Prison Escape

HAVANA (UPI)—Fifteen political prisoners escaped from Morro Castle Prison Friday in a pre-dawn mass jail break from the old Spanish fortress on Havana Bay.

A government announcement said the escaped prisoners were aided by a non-commissioned officer and four enlisted men, presumably on guard duty at the time.

"The escape was connected with the (Tuesday) landing of an invasion force" in Oriente," the statement said. It did not explain the connection.

The government identified the escaped prisoners only as "counter-revolutionaries serving terms for (anti-government) crimes."

Soviet Demands Spring Summit

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Premier Khrushchev threatened Friday night to support Soviet interests outside the United Nations "by relying on our own force." He demanded a summit conference after the U.S. election as his price for restraining Soviet action on isolated West Berlin's status.

Police In N.O. Get Orders To 'Shoot To Kill'

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Police Supt. Joseph A. Giarrusso issued his men saved-off shotguns Friday and ordered them to "shoot to kill."

As he was issuing the orders, armed robbers were committing three separate hold-ups netting more than $10,000.

About $10,000 was stolen by two masked gunmen at the J and L Restaurant and Bar. Two truck drivers were held up of $55 and $75. Earlier, gunmen stole checks they can't cash from a bank messenger.

Giarrusso said that September robberies were "practically double those reported for the same month last year." He said he hoped the number of robberies and muggings could be cut down if police carried shotguns on duty.

Giarrusso said: "I intend to meet force with force."

"Therefore, I am giving all persons who may be intent on committing armed robbery warning that my men will be prepared to act against them when such persons are caught in the act of robbing any citizen."

Candidate Debates Sway Some Voters

By United Press International

The Kennedy-Nixon television debate Friday night swung some voters from one position to another and left others undecided, a United Press International spot check indicated.

James L. Slaughter, a Miami, Fla., manufacturer's agent, said the debates have changed his mind.

"In the beginning I was more or less a Nixon supporter," he said "But after the last two debates, I'm afraid I have more or less switched to Kennedy. I think he seems to know what he's talking about more."

But Joseph Petito said in Chicago that he believed Nixon did a better job in the Friday night debate.

"I'm Catholic and maybe should vote Democratic," Petito said. "But I feel that Nixon, on the basis of experience, is the better man for the job."

John Pavelle, an Army colonel, said in Washington, D.C., that his position was wavering.

"I've made up my mind, but the debate gave me some doubt," he said. "Both men made some bad points. I thought, I don't divulge how I vote."

Harry R. Sowers, 39, a Pittsburgh office manager, was among the fence-sitters.

"I haven't made up my mind on either candidate so I couldn't change it," Sowers said. "Between these except one of party."

Mrs. W. M. Brewington, a Washington, D.C., housewife, said

Candidates Fire Blasts In Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP)—The political titans of 1960, Richard M. Nixon and John F. Kennedy, fought a gloves-off battle over the whole field of foreign and domestic policy Friday night with millions of Americans looking on.

Vice President Nixon accused Kennedy, his Democratic rival for the White House, of advocating a position with regard to Formosa that represented "the same kind of woolly thinking that led to disaster in Korea."

FORESEES TEST

Kennedy foresaw a terrific test of nerve, will and strength facing the next president over Berlin. He called for revitalization of America's military strength in the next Congress and contended that this country's relative strength has "deteriorated in the last eight years and the American people should know it and be told the facts."

As he has in one campaign speech after another, Nixon contended Kennedy's plan for America offers only "retreads of programs that failed" before and would cost the country $10 billion more than the GOP program.

Kennedy branded that $10-billion figure fantastic and he said the Eisenhower-Nixon administration has failed to meet its responsibilities.

This was the second great television-radio debate in a series of four bringing the picture and voices of the candidates before perhaps 70 million Americans.

And it was a far cry from the mild-mannered affair Kennedy and Nixon staged in Chicago last week.

Nixon saved one of his heaviest bombs almost to the end. Kennedy had been asked about his position with respect to defending the Quemoy and Matsu

Raiders Loyal To Lumumba Kill 35 Persons

LEOPOLDVILLE (UPI)—Village officials in northeast Katanga Province Friday reported at least 35 persons killed in recent days by raiding Baluba tribesmen loyal to ousted Congolese Premier Patrice Lumumba.

Unconfirmed reports from Elisabethville said nearly 60 persons had been slain in the raids.

The situation was termed "very serious" by authorities there who said that at least three Europeans were among those taken prisoner by the Balubas.

United Nations forces which are in the area but have not become involved reported they found nine bodies of Africans following a raid Thursday night on the village of Niamba, three hundred miles north of Elisabethville.

They said 30 Niambans were kidnapped after communications were destroyed. Six raiders were reported killed in another attack Thursday on Bukuma Airport.

Here in Leopoldville, Congolese leaders awaited a possible move by strongman Col. Joseph Mobutu to re-open parliament following the apparent collapse of his attempt for a round table conference of provincial political leaders to discuss the crisis.

Observers believe that, with the recent withdrawal of support of Lumumba by some of his former followers in parliament, the government of Premier Joseph Ileo can be installed.

a minimum of $72 monthly while the parish is bound by law to meet the state schedule.

Thus, it costs the city $21.54 to transport each student annually while the parish's expense, on a yearly basis, is $32.18 per student.

And the law increases the cost of transportation by prohibiting the Department of Education from reimbursing the local boards for bus students who live within a mile of the school.

Because of this law, the city does not pick up students within a mile of its schools unless the weather is inclement while the parish stops for "a few."

"We stop in special cases," explained Ward, "like for students who can't walk because of physical reason or poor health."

In regard to this, Ward said the State Board of Education was islands, off the Red Chinese mainland. He said he believes strongly in defending Formosa, the Nationalist Chinese base in a hundred miles out. But he added that he believes it is strategically wrong to try to defend the inner islands, which he said various military men—and Secretary of State Christian A. Herter—have declared in the past were indefensible.

As long as Quemoy and Matsu are not essential to the defense of Formosa, Kennedy said, the defensive line should be drawn around Formosa itself.

"I disagree completely with Sen. Kennedy," Nixon shot back. "It isn't two pieces of real estate, or the few people on them, that are important, he said, but the principles involved. America, Nixon said, shouldn't force an ally to give up part of its territory, an area of freedom, and hand it over to Communists."

"That would start a chain reaction," Nixon said. "It is the same kind of woolly thinking that led to disaster in Korea."

And, he added firmly, he would never tolerate it as president and he hopes Kennedy will change his mind.

No subjects were barred in this second dramatic installment of the big face-to-face debate of 1960. In the first, the discussion was limited to domestic issues.

This time, newsmen tossed any questions they wished at either contestant, although the reporters took turns and alternated their inquiries between the two men.

Nixon sat on the right, Kennedy on the left, with moderator Frank McGee of the National Broadcasting Co. in between, as the viewers saw them.

Nixon looked better than he did in the Chicago encounter a week ago Monday—not so pale under more makeup. Some spectators thought he looked drawn and haggard in the first program.

Again there was no mention of the issue of Kennedy's Roman Catholic religion—something both conducting a survey on students riding the buses from their homes close to the schools.

As an upshot of the law, some students who live close to one particular school are attending a more distant school because of the available transportation — overlapping or not.

With a total enrollment of 14,747 students, the parish has 132 buses in operation and last year transported 8,126 students at a cost of $476,199.76.

The city, which this year has 9,322 students registered, has 25 buses in operation, transporting 2,104 at a cost of $45,320.16 annually.

Ward said the parish has eight buses operating within the city limits exclusively with 15 other buses that come in from outside the city limits to make pick-ups.

Noting that the parish spends about $35,134.26 transporting students from inside Monroe, Ward said:

"We must bear in mind, however, that the above method of arriving at this cost is not the most accurate. For example, it would cost more to transport a student living out in the Bosco Community to Ouachita Parish High School than it would to transport one living within the city limits of Monroe."

"A more accurate method of figuring a cost of this type would be to base it on the pupil-mile basis. However, this would be a time consuming task and would get rather involved."

"If the above information is to be used in a comparative type report, then it would be well to bear in mind that the Ouachita Parish School Board pays its bus drivers on the state minimum salary schedule while some other systems in the state do not pay on this basis. This would have a major effect on the per pupil cost of transportation."

At present, the Monroe city board is the only system in Louisiana that does not comply with the state minimum salary schedule.

When the law was drafted regarding bus drivers' pay, several systems, which at that time were using student drivers, were omitted, including Monroe.

candidates say should not be brought into their campaigns.

But not much else was skipped. The hard-hitting debate skipped around over such subjects as civil rights, Cuba, the Paris summit conference and U2 spy plane, the state of the national economy, the whole cold war outlook, foreign aid, taxes, the possibility of a summit conference in 1961.

On that latter point, Nixon and Kennedy found one thing they could agree on: Either they meet with Soviet Premier Khrushchev if it would promote the cause of peace, but not without some preparations first at the diplomatic level to make sure there would be some reasonable chance of getting someplace. The two sounded much like President Eisenhower in that respect.

But Nixon jabbed at Khrushchev as having put on a disgraceful performance both at the Paris summit conference that foundered last spring and at the United Nations General Assembly session now in progress.

Registration for the alumni meeting will be held in 100 Administration Building on campus from 10:30 a.m. until the meeting begins at 11. Main item of business is election of officers. Roland Carter of West Monroe and Fred Huenefeld Jr. of Monroe have been nominated for the presidency and James Boone and H. Kirt Touchstone Jr., both of Monroe, for vice presidency.

Alumni and their husbands and wives will be guests of the college at the 12:15 luncheon in the new dining hall.

At pre-game activities the Chief of the Tribe will be formally presented for the first time, and the college's new precision dance team will make its first appearance. At halftime ceremonies President Walker will formally crown Miss Edwards queen of Homecoming, and she and her court will be presented.

From the time the game ends until 6 p.m. guests from Northwestern, and Northeast students, faculty and staff plus their families, have been invited to an open house in the dining hall.

The dance will also be held in the dining hall, from 9 p.m. to midnight, with Phares Corder and the Constellations providing the music.

Homecoming activities got under way Friday evening at the college with a picnic in Brown Stadium and a pep rally on the parade grounds. The lighting of a giant bonfire climaxed the rally.

Mrs. George Forman plans for refreshment and hostesses. Mrs. R. E. Major is chairman of the event.

The Red Cross also has two "must" services: Disaster and Home Service.

Ouachita has escaped major disasters thus far in 1960. If flood, hurricane or other emergency situation should arise, the disaster committee is set up to help, provide food, clothing and shelter.

The home service branch has seen plenty of activity this year.

One typical situation was that of Seaman First Class and Mrs. Felix Camille and their six young children — stranded in Monroe after an auto wreck.

Enroute to Long Beach, Calif., from Camp Lejeune, N.C., with no money for "extras," the Camilles reached the outskirts of West Monroe and were hit by another vehicle. The family suffered minor injuries. The car was heavily damaged.

Red Cross stepped in, furnished lodging and meals at the Penn Hotel during the four days it took to repair the car.

Repair bill on the car came to $185. The sailor didn't have it immediately available. Red Cross helped again, by making arrangements for him to pay later, and by guaranteeing payment.

"We didn't pay for the repairs, but we made it possible for him to take the car and pay later," Mrs. Veazey explained.

The younger members of Red Cross are equally helpful.

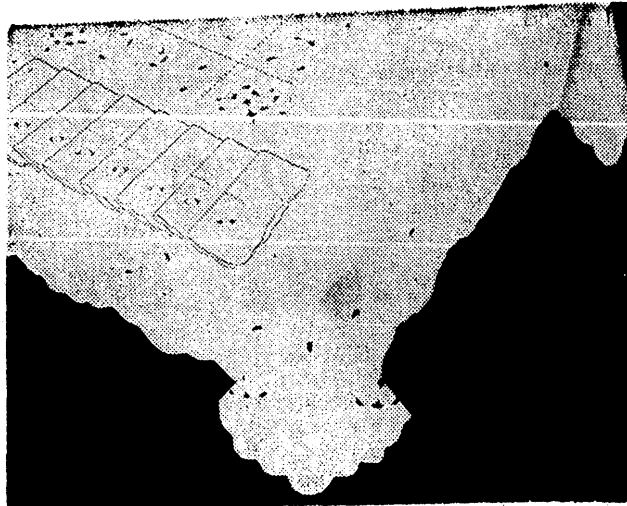

Ouachita's Junior Red Cross was honored as "Chapter of the Month" by National Red Cross Headquarters during 1960, for the outstanding work, enthusiasm and "will to serve" shown by the junior members.

West Monroe Paving

After waiting eight or 10 years—during the entire regime of the present administration—for some improvement or maintenance work on the city streets of West Monroe, residents of that town were cheered some two years ago when an announcement was made that a general street-paving program would be conducted and that streets not already in good condition would be covered with asphalt topping. The people were pleased in spite of the fact that they were informed they would have to bear the entire cost of the paving.

During those 10 years or so the streets of West Monroe had deteriorated to a condition probably never paralleled in any city in the United States. More than 30 years ago most streets inside the city limits of West Monroe were paved in an over-all paving program. At that time, the paving was mostly concrete. Since then the tendency in paving city streets has been to lay asphalt paving or asphalt over concrete.

Most of the time since that big West Monroe paving program was carried out there has been a gradual decline in the quality of the West Monroe paving but in the last 10 years the city street system has completely "gone to pot." Almost the only maintenance work that has been carried on has consisted of "patching," or filling up holes big enough to bury a dog, or sometimes a horse, in. In recent years a considerable part of this patching has been done with gravel, which means that many of our former paved streets are now gravel streets.

Streets have not been maintained and virtually the only new paving that has been laid has been paid for by the state, either on direct state routes, or on streets connecting with state routes or expected to connect with them later. A few blocks have been paved by property owners who banded together and employed their own paving contractor. Nothing has been done by the city, although a few streets have been paved under city sponsorship, with the property owners footing the bill.

This situation existed about two years ago when the city announced it planned to carry on a new city-wide paving program, to be paid for by property owners. People of West Monroe were so tired of shak-ing their cars to pieces by traveling over hole-filled roads and so tired of breathing gravel dust that they welcomed this announcement, even though they knew they had to pay for it. It was hoped that the program would soon be under way and that the people of West Monroe would soon be able to negotiate their streets in comparative comfort.

This, however, was not to be. Months have gone by and now the city has announced that it may be well into next year before the program is started.

It begins to look as if the city officials are planning things so that the paving program will be completed about the time they plan to run for re-election, so they can point to a good street system and say, "Look what we have done," even though the money is coming directly out of the people's pockets.

It seems wholly inexcusable for any city to allow its streets to become a total wreck. Adequate maintenance work should have been carried on through the years and the streets should have been repaved when they needed it. The cost would have been far less than that of starting over again after almost total deterioration.

Commenting on the situation, Mayor J. Allan Norris said, "All delays have been caused by state law," but he added that the biggest delay had been caused by the fine-point work which the engineers had to tackle. It is difficult to see how those two statements are compatible. The mayor added:

"Ever since the program was inaugurated two years ago, we have proceeded as fast as was legally possible.

"Preliminary surveys took almost a year, but this had to encompass a multitude of factors.

"Included in the surveys were involved studies to determine the best method of construction in order to save six or seven miles of curb and gutter streets.

"Unless the concrete base can be preserved, the whole street would have to be torn up. Comprehensive and detailed reconstruction have prevented this.

"After the low bid is determined, engineers figure the front-foot cost. They tell me this is quite a job.

"Then assessments are levied and it requires 30 more days for property owners to decide whether they will pay all costs at once or use paving certificates.

"Then certificates are advertised for, taking another 30 days. All these waiting periods are state law, not city ordinances."

If it takes three years to get a paving program under way, the city officials of West Monroe were short-sighted in not starting the program three years sooner.

The people of West Monroe are long-suffering but they have already suffered too long.

Poor Man's Kennedy

Everyone who knows anything about national politics is familiar with the name of the man who makes the Democratic party's "liberals," radicals, leftists and socialists cringe.

This man has put into practice the socialist principles his party platform embraces, so why should the others of his ilk shun him so?

In six terms as governor, this man bankrupted a proud and wealthy state so that it had to go about, hat in hand, begging its industrialists and small businessmen to turn over their taxes in advance so the state could pay its teachers, truck drivers and typists.

This man has established a nationwide reputation, never before endured by any other chief state executive in the United States. He set an all-time record for running his state into the red. Eventually he had to ask for "charity" from industry and business so that the state machinery could be kept in operation.

At one time this man was considered a potential candidate for the presidency of the United States. He was one of the "liberals" who was looked upon as being especially attractive to socialist-laborites and leftists generally.

The thing that tripped him up in his designs on the presidency was that he had a chance to put his plan into operation on a state scale before the presidency opening came up and the plan blew up in his face so hard that his fellow Democratic "liberals" would like to sweep him under a rug at least until after the presidential election is over.

By popular request, this man is not running for re-election and, presumably by party request, is lying under a rock through the current campaign.

This man the poor man's John F. Kennedy is Mennen G. "Soapy" Williams, governor of Michigan.

A law requiring that public an area of 169,300 square miles. schools be established in every town of 50 families or more was passed in 1647 in the Massachusetts Bay Colony.

Khrushchev's Wild Temper

Man Acting Way Russian Dictator Does Is Suffering From Some Sort Of Pathological Misfortune

A Diagnosis
When a man who has attained to Khrushchev's position in life acts the way he did in Paris and the way he is now acting in the United Nations, he is either suffering from some pathological misfortune or he is politically desperate. By the looks of him, he undoubtedly is of the Eastern European type that, when prosperous, develops diabetes and arteriosclerosis. His current wild temper must be new or Stalin would have had him decapitated. Stalin never accepted impudence from equals much less from subordinates. The compulsion to drink water constantly is characteristic of diabetics. Reports have it that Khrushchev is on a low salt diet such as is usually insisted upon by physicians treating patients who have cardiac difficulties.

The loss of temper on Saturday is beyond belief under the circumstances. Responsible men cannot afford to be so irresponsible and to risk their own country and its allies as Khrushchev does constantly. Up to a point, his buffoonery is an act but last Saturday, it was the response of a man who had lost control—and lost it pathologically.

On the other hand, Khrushchev does have serious political troubles. Here we shall mention only two:

1. Khrushchev's relations with Mao;

2. The neutralist bloc.
Mao is essentially ideological, but to a Communist country the basis of thought and action is Marxism. The Chinese are orthodox Marxists; Soviet Russia is opportunistically Marxist. Red China insists that it is possible to establish communism without going through various stages of socialism; Soviet Russia is now a socialist country in the perspective of a rising industrialization and those in power hope to keep it that way.

What Khrushchev calls co-existence is an effort to compete with the West economically and diplomatically without resort to war. Mao correctly believes that the Soviet world has reached as far as it can go by infiltration and corruption; that now war is required to finish the Revolution and to achieve the Marxist goal of a universal state. Shall the heart of the universal state be Moscow or Peking?

So far as Mao is concerned, it could be Peking; Khrushchev insists on the hegemony of the Kremlin over all socialist countries, even those which have no intention of becoming Communist. Khrushchev is concerned with intentions because he believes in the inevitability of historic results, one of which is that nationalism, internationalism, and capitalism belong to another era. He acts in the United Nations the way he does, because he regards opposition to his "scientific" point of view utter nonsense. Besides who are these small countries to challenge mighty Russia? And who is this Irishman to tell the great Khrushchev when he is to speak and when he is to shut up?

Mao Tse-tung can pour 100,000,000 persons into Siberia and Uzbekistan and what will Khrushchev do with them? Kill them? That could help to solve Mao's population problem. He would merely send another 100,000,000 into Siberia and Uzbekistan.

2. The neutralist bloc is a particularly difficult problem because it represents a third force which can grow into a real and effective power. It will most likely be led by Tito and have the powerful support of Nehru. The neutral bloc's major problem is to avoid being gobbled up by either Soviet Russia or Red China. If Mao Tse-tung decided on the conquest of any part of India or the whole of it, India would not stand the slightest chance, unless India were protected by either Soviet Russia or the United States. Which protection will India ultimately be forced to choose?

Nehru apparently still believes that Khrushchev can influence Mao Tse-tung. This is an error as every student of the China problem knows. Ultimately Nehru will be forced to seek protection from the United States and that day is not too far off. His neutral bloc allies are useful in the United Nations but should Mao Tse-tung invade Nepal, Kashmir or any other Indian territory, Nehru will have to have aid either from the United Nations, Soviet Russia or the United States. Whatever choice he makes will bring on a war of wide dimensions. Neither Tito nor Nasser is in an equally perilous situation, but Tito is by no means safe from Russian conquest unless he has American protection. His neutrality therefore is a myth. He must go one way or the other.

Boy Bed-Wetter

Wise Parents Do Not Discuss This Problem With Neighbors

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Will you discuss bed-wetting? We have this problem at home in our only boy of nine. Are electric alarms of any value? Thank you. Mrs. X.

ANSWER: Enuresis is more common than most parents realize. Wise parents usually do not discuss this personal problem with their friends and neighbors. It is something that needs to be fought silently, courageously and optimistically.

Whenever there is a child who suffers from this failure to control urination (especially at night) you must begin a well-considered plan of action. Call in your pediatrician or family doctor. It is important that any likelihood of organic trouble in the urinary tract (system) be eliminated. Sometimes a chronic cystitis (bladder inflammation) may be the cause; sometimes a stricture at the neck of the bladder needs dilating.

Usually bed-wetting will cease before a boy reaches 10 years of age; and before a girl begins having her monthly periods. However, some continue to have enuresis into their teens and later.

If the doctor has carefully examined your child and finds no evidence of structural or other defects, then we must consider the possibility that the condition may be caused by emotional disturbances. In many cases the cause is an unconscious resentment against parents; in others a lack of maturity in controlling the bladder. Whatever the cause, I keep telling parents that they must not become impatient; they must not punish the child; they must keep reassuring him (or her) that he will one day conquer it.

Otherwise your child will suffer greater tortures than he can sometimes bear without carrying the scars all his life. For pity's sake, don't have him wash the wet sheets as punishment! I assure you he would like to stop wetting even more than you want him to. He receives punishment enough in not being able to go to camp like other children; in not being able to sleep at a friend's house. I place parental compassion, understanding, and patience at the top of the list in helping the child overcome bed-wetting.

Now, as for the electric alarms. They have been helpful in many cases. When nothing else has helped, they are surely worth trying. They work on this principle. The patient sleeps naked from his waist down. He lies on a moisture-sensitive pad which is connected to an alarm.

The first few drops of urine set off this alarm. The patient awakens long before the wet spot is as large as a silver dollar. He stops urinating, turns off the alarm and goes to the bathroom. He replaces the wet pad with a dry one.

Gradually, the alarms decrease and the patient becomes a "dry-sleeper." In many cases, this apparatus helps cure the habit within ten days or two weeks.

This subject of bed-wetting deserves a large reading audience. I hope many parents with this problem in their homes are reading this column today. Perhaps I can transform cruelty and misunderstanding in the treatment of unhappy youngsters into true, sympathetic guidance. These children suffer enough without having to bear the added burden of thoughtless punishment for something over which they have no conscious control.

Good In Defeat

Party Improvement Likely If Kennedy Or Nixon Trowned

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Paradoxically, while the country has little to gain by the victory next month of either John Kennedy or Richard Nixon, the nation is bound to benefit by the defeat of whichever one finishes second. The party of the loser is likely to bury him deep and try for something better.

After all, the Republican party got its start by rebounding from Fremont to Lincoln. The Democrats had to bite the dust three times with Bryan before turning to Wilson. In contemporary times, the British conservative party ruthlessly dumped Eden and found a really splendid leader in Macmillan.

Should Kennedy be defeated, many of his methods and ideas must be expected to tumble with him. It will conceivably be a long time before the Democrats permit an ambitious young adventurer to run almost unchallenged through the state primaries. We know now that virtually anybody except Hubert Humphrey could have stopped Kennedy in West Virginia.

Also, if Kennedy loses, it's very unlikely that the Democrats will ever again rule out the southern states as the legitimate seedbed of presidential timber. Southern Republicanism, flowing from a Kennedy defeat, would eliminate one of the reasons why Democrats take the Old Confederacy for granted. Manifestly superior men — like Byrd, Russell, Thurmond, Smathers, Talmadge, Byrnes, Shivers — have been passed over by the northern wing of the party. Why nominate a southerner to head the ticket, since the south was already in the bag? Well, the worse Kennedy is beaten below the Potomac, the more chance a top-flight southern statesman will have for the Democratic nomination in 1964.

Another thing to go down the spout with Jack Kennedy is the brazen idea that the highest office in the land can be had by creating publicity or renown for its seeker. The idea belongs to Ambassador Joseph Kennedy, the candidate's father, and if Kennedy does win, there's no use arguing with success. But if he loses, the chiefs who succeed to a party leadership — Johnson, Jackson, Talmadge, and Symington are of the age and ability to rise on merit — will be very leery of anybody who seeks to rise on anything else.

Should Nixon be defeated, it would offer great hope that Republican Me Too-ism has gone under for the third time. I venture to say that Nixon, in his first debate with Kennedy, introduced Me Too-ism to millions of Americans who never really understood it before. But Nixon insisted more than once on September 26th that he and the Democrats were driving for the same "goals." Nobody who heard him could doubt that he planned to take us to a welfare state by a slightly different route than Kennedy proposed.

Unless Nixon completely reverses this position, it is likely to be swept off the political map with him if he loses — for there is a strong demand among Republicans that their leaders reassert a positive, unapologetic, unhyphenated position for capitalism. Senator Barry Goldwater is making a great hit as spokesman for this firm position on free enterprise. A leader is needed to say that rises in minimum wage, aid for the aged, federal school construction and public housing should not even be tolerated. These measures are the crutches of a society which does not pay big wages, or manufacture a flood of cheap consumer goods, or raise plenty of food, or permit labor-management bargaining, or produce increasing prosperity for the masses.

They are Communist state measures and have little or no place in a free economy. If Nixon, like Dewey, loses by trying to imitate Democrats, the Grand Old Party is likely to go Republican again.

Daily Devotional

Thine habitation is in the midst of deceit. — Jeremiah 9:6.

We are living in a time of claims and counter-claims; in an era of propaganda and deception; in the midst of a struggle for the mastery of minds. What can a man believe and do? Dr. Ernest Gordon, Dean of the Chapel of Princeton University, reports in Christian Herald that, before he became a minister, he got the answer — which changed his whole life — from a fellow-prisoner in Thailand: "I sought my soul, but my soul I could not see. I sought my God, but my God eluded me. I sought my brother — and I found all three!"

O God, help us to realize that we are "our brother's keeper" and that aid given to others is given to Thee. In Christ's name we ask. Amen.

Hughes Deals

For Jet Fleet

CULVER CITY, Calif. (AP)—Industrialist Howard Hughes has made a deal for the money to buy a fleet of new jets for his Trans World Airlines—but to do it he had to give up control of TWA, at least temporarily, a spokesman said Friday.

Terms of an agreement reached in New York Thursday night were disclosed by a representative of Hughes' big aircraft parts plant here.

Under the plan, presumably to be signed next week, Hughes agreed to turn over his voting rights in 78 per cent of the TWA shares—actually held by the Hughes Tool Co., which Hughes owns.

It was hoped that the program would soon be under way and that the people of West Monroe would soon be able to negotiate their streets in comparative comfort.

This, however, was not to be. Months have gone by and now the city has announced that it may be well into next year before the program is started.

It begins to look as if the city officials are planning things so that the paving program will be completed about the time they plan to run for re-election, so they can point to a good street system and say, "Look what we have done," even though the money is coming directly out of the people's pockets.

It seems wholly inexcusable for any city to allow its streets to become a total wreck. Adequate maintenance work should have been carried on through the years and the streets should have been repaved when they needed it. The cost would have been far less than that of starting over again after almost total deterioration.

Commenting on the situation, Mayor J. Allan Norris said, "All delays have been caused by state law," but he added that the biggest delay had been caused by the fine-point work which the engineers had to tackle. It is difficult to see how those two statements are compatible. The mayor added:

"Ever since the program was inaugurated two years ago, we have proceeded as fast as was legally possible.

"Preliminary surveys took almost a year, but this had to encompass a multitude of factors.

"Included in the surveys were involved studies to determine the best method of construction in order to save six or seven miles of curb and gutter streets.

"Unless the concrete base can be preserved, the whole street would have to be torn up. Comprehensive and detailed reconstruction have prevented this.

"After the low bid is determined, engineers figure the front-foot cost. They tell me this is quite a job.

"Then assessments are levied and it requires 30 more days for property owners to decide whether they will pay all costs at once or use paving certificates.

"Then certificates are advertised for, taking another 30 days. All these waiting periods are state law, not city ordinances."

If it takes three years to get a paving program under way, the city officials of West Monroe were short-sighted in not starting the program three years sooner.

The people of West Monroe are long-suffering but they have already suffered too long.

Poor Man's Kennedy

Everyone who knows anything about national politics is familiar with the name of the man who makes the Democratic party's "liberals," radicals, leftists and socialists cringe.

This man has put into practice the socialistic principles his party platform embraces, so why should the others of his ilk shun him?

In six terms as governor, this man bankrupted a proud and wealthy state so that it had to go about, hat in hand, begging its industrialists and small businessmen to turn over their taxes in advance so the state could pay its teachers, truck drivers and typists.

This man has established a nationwide reputation, never before endured by any other chief state executive in the United States. He set an all-time record for running his state into the red. Eventually he had to ask for "charity" from industry and business so that the state machinery could be kept in operation.

At one time this man was considered a potential candidate for the presidency of the United States. He was one of the "liberals" who was looked upon as being especially attractive to socialist-laborites and leftists generally. The thing that tripped him up in his designs on the presidency was that he had a chance to put his plan into operation on a state scale before the presidency opening came up and the plan blew up in his face so hard that his fellow Democratic "liberals" would like to sweep him under a rug at least until after the presidential election is over.

By popular request, this man is not running for re-election and, presumably by party request, is lying under a rock through the current campaign.

This man the poor man's John F. Kennedy is Mennen G. "Soapy" Williams, governor of Michigan.

A law requiring that public an area of 169,300 square miles, schools be established in every town of 50 families or more was passed in 1647 in the Massachusetts Bay Colony.

Prof. Lucia C. Morgan of the University of North Carolina reports that temperature and humidity affects hearing ability.

Khrushchev's Wild Temper

Man Acting Way Russian Dictator Does Is Suffering From Some Sort Of Pathological Misfortune

A Diagnosis
When a man who has attained to Khrushchev's position in life acts the way he did in Paris and the way he is now acting in the United Nations, he is either suffering from some pathological misfortune or he is politically desperate. By the looks of him, he undoubtedly is of the Eastern European type that, when prosperous, develops diabetes and arteriosclerosis. His current wild temper must be new or Stalin would have had him decapitated. Stalin never accepted impudence from equals much less from subordinates. The compulsion to drink water constantly is characteristic of diabetics. Reports have it that Khrushchev is on a low salt diet such as is usually insisted upon by physicians treating patients who have cardiac difficulties.

The loss of temper on Saturday is beyond belief under the circumstances. Responsible men cannot afford to be so irresponsible and to risk their own country and its allies as Khrushchev does constantly. Up to a point, his buffoonery is an act but last Saturday, it was the response of a man who had lost control—and lost it pathologically.

On the other hand, Khrushchev does have serious political troubles. Here we shall mention only two:

1. Khrushchev's relations with Mao;

2. Khrushchev's difficulties with Mao are essentially ideological, but to a communist country the basis of thought and action is Marxism. The Chinese are orthodox Marxists; Soviet Russia is opportunistically Marxist. Red China insists that it is possible to establish communism without going through various stages of socialism; Soviet Russia is now a socialist country in the perspective of a rising industrialization and those in power hope to keep it that way.

What Khrushchev calls co-existence is an effort to compete with the West economically and diplomatically without resort to war; Mao correctly believes that the Soviet world has reached as far as it can go by infiltration and corruption; that now war is required to finish the Revolution and to achieve the Marxist goal of a universal state. Shall the heart of the universal state be Moscow or Peking?

So far as Mao is concerned, it could be Peking; Khrushchev insists on the hegemony of the Kremlin over all socialist countries, even those which have no intention of becoming Communist. Khrushchev is concerned with intentions because he believes in the inevitability of historic results, one of which is that nationalism, internationalism, and capitalism belong to another era. He acts in the United Nations the way he does, because he regards opposition to his "scientific" point of view utter nonsense. Besides who are these small countries to challenge mighty Russia? And who is this Irishman to tell the great Khrushchev when he is to speak and when he is to shut up?

Mao Tse-tung can pour 100,000,000 persons into Siberia and Uzbekistan and what will Khrushchev do with them? Kill them? That could help to solve Mao's population problem. He would merely send another 100,000,000 into Siberia and Uzbekistan.

2. The neutralist bloc is a particularly difficult problem because it represents a third force which can grow into a real and effective power. It will most likely be led by Tito and have the powerful support of Nehru. The neutral bloc's major problem is to avoid being gobbled up by either Soviet Russia or Red China. If Mao Tse-tung decided on the conquest of any part of India or the whole of it, India would not stand the slightest chance, unless India were protected by either Soviet Russia or the United States. Which protection will India ultimately be forced to choose?

Nehru apparently still believes that Khrushchev can influence Mao Tse-tung. This is an error, as every student of the China problem knows. Ultimately Nehru will be forced to seek protection from the United States and that day is not too far off. His neutral bloc allies are useful in the United Nations but should Mao Tse-tung invade Nepal, Kashmir, or any other Indian territory, Nehru will have to have aid either from the United Nations, Soviet Russia or the United States. Whatever choice he makes will bring on a war of wide dimensions. Neither Tito nor Nasser is in an equally perilous situation, but Tito is by no means safe from Russian conquest unless he has American protection. His neutrality therefore is a myth. He must go one way or the other.

TRY AGAIN

FROM things in life that come with ease... We rarely ever learn... It takes a lot of weary work... A golden goal to earn... A man no master can become... In chosen field or art... If in the striving for his aim... He does not do his part... No concert pianist is made... Upon a single day... The chances are for many years... He had to learn to play... It takes the patience of the gods... And perspiration, too... To find the key to give the world... An inspiration new... Don't question that it can be done... Or be discouraged now... But try and try again and you... Will reach the top somehow.

Boy Bed-Wetter

Wise Parents Do Not Discuss This Problem With Neighbors

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Will you discuss bed-wetting? We have this problem at home in our only boy of nine. Are electric alarms of any value? Thank you. Mrs. X.

ANSWER: Enuresis is more common than most parents realize. Wise parents usually do not discuss this personal problem with their friends and neighbors. It is something that needs to be fought silently, courageously and optimistically.

Whenever there is a child who suffers from this failure to control urination (especially at night) you must begin a well-considered plan of action. Call in your pediatrician or family doctor. It is important that any likelihood of organic trouble in the urinary tract (system) be eliminated. Sometimes a chronic cystitis (bladder inflammation) may be the cause; sometimes a stricture at the neck of the bladder needs dilating.

Usually bed-wetting will cease before a boy reaches 10 years of age; and before a girl begins having her monthly periods. However, some continue to have enuresis into their teens and later.

If the doctor has carefully examined your child and finds no evidence of structural or other defects, then we must consider the possibility that the condition may be caused by emotional disturbances. In many cases the cause is an unconscious resentment against parents; in others a lack of maturity in controlling the bladder. Whatever the cause, I keep telling parents that they must not become impatient; they must not punish the child; they must keep reassuring him (or her) that he will one day conquer it.

Otherwise your child will suffer greater tortures than he can sometimes bear without carrying the scars all his life. For pity's sake, don't have him wash the wet sheets as punishment! I assure you he would like to stop wetting even more than you want him to. He receives punishment enough in not being able to go to camp like other children; in not being able to sleep at a friend's house. I place parental compassion, understanding, and patience at the top of the list in helping the child overcome bed-wetting.

Now, as for the electric alarms. They have been helpful in many cases. When nothing else has helped, they are surely worth trying. They work on this principle. The patient sleeps naked from his waist down. He lies on a moisture-sensitive pad which is connected to an alarm.

The first few drops of urine set off this alarm. The patient awakens long before the wet spot is as large as a silver dollar. He stops urinating, turns off the alarm and goes to the bathroom. He replaces the wet pad with a dry one.

Gradually, the alarms decrease and the patient becomes a "dry-sleeper." In many cases, this apparatus helps cure the habit within ten days or two weeks.

This subject of bed-wetting deserves a large reading audience. I hope many parents with this problem in their homes are reading this column today. Perhaps I can transform cruelty and misunderstanding in the treatment of unhappy youngsters into true, sympathetic guidance. These children suffer enough without having to bear the added burden of thoughtless punishment for something over which they have no conscious control.

Good In Defeat

Party Improvement Likely If Kennedy Or Nixon Trowned

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Paradoxically, while the country has little to gain by the victory next month of either John Kennedy or Richard Nixon, the nation is bound to benefit by the defeat of whichever one finishes second. The party of the loser is likely to bury him deep and try for something better.

After all, the Republican party got its start by rebounding from Fremont to Lincoln. The Democrats had to bite the dust three times with Bryan before turning to Wilson. In contemporary times, the British conservative party, ruthlessly dumped Eden and found a really splendid leader in Macmillan.

Should Kennedy be defeated, many of his methods and ideas must be expected to tumble with him. It will conceivably be a long time before the Democrats permit an ambitious young adventurer to run almost unchallenged through the state primaries. We know now that virtually anybody except Hubert Humphrey could have stopped Kennedy in West Virginia.

Also, if Kennedy loses, it's very unlikely that the Democrats will ever again rule out the southern states as the legitimate seedbed of presidential timber. Southern Republicanism, flowing from a Kennedy defeat, would eliminate one of the reasons why Democrats take the Old Confederacy for granted. Manifestly superior men—like Byrd, Russell, Thurmond, Smathers, Talmadge, Byrnes, Shivers—have been passed over by the northern wing of the party. Why nominate a southerner to head the ticket, since the south was already in the bag? Well, the worse Kennedy is beaten below the Potomac, the more chance a top-flight southern statesman will have for the Democratic nomination in 1964.

Another thing to go down the spout with Jack Kennedy is the brazen idea that the highest office in the land can be had by creating publicity or renown for its seeker. The idea belongs to Ambassador Joseph Kennedy, the candidate's father, and if Kennedy does win, there's no use arguing with success. But if he loses, the chieftains who succeed to party leadership—Johnson, Jackson, Monroney, McCarthy, Mansfield, Talmadge and Symington are of the age and ability to rise on merit—will be very leery of anybody who seeks to rise on anything else.

Should Nixon be defeated, it would offer great hope that Republican Me Too-ism has gone under for the third time. I venture to say that Nixon, in his first debate with Kennedy, introduced Me-Tooism to millions of Americans who never really understood it before. But Nixon insisted more than once on September 26th that he and the Democrats were driving for the same "goals." Nobody who heard him could doubt that he planned to take us to a welfare state by a slightly different route than Kennedy proposed.

Unless Nixon completely reverses this position, it is likely to be swept off the political map with him if he loses—for there is a strong demand among Republicans that their leaders reassert a positive, unapologetic, unhyphenated position for capitalism. Senator Barry Goldwater is making a great hit as spokesman for this firm position on free enterprise. A leader is needed to say that rises in minimum wage, aid for the aged, federal school construction and public housing should not even be tolerated. These measures are the crutches of a society which does not pay big wages, or manufacture a flood of cheap consumer goods, or raise plenty of food, or permit labor-management bargaining, or produce increasing prosperity for the masses.

They are Communist state measures and have little or no place in a free economy. If Nixon, like Dewey, loses by trying to imitate Democrats, the Grand Old Party is likely to go Republican again.

Daily Devotional

Thine habitation is in the midst of deceit. — Jeremiah 9:6.

We are living in a time of claims and counter-claims; in an era of propaganda and deception; in the midst of a struggle for the mastery of minds. What can a man believe and do? Dr. Ernest Gordon, Dean of the Chapel of Princeton University, reports in Christian Herald that, before he became a minister, he got the answer—which changed his whole life—from a fellow-prisoner in Thailand: "I sought my soul, but my soul I could not see. I sought my God, but my God eluded me. I sought my brother—and I found all three!"

O God, help us to realize that we are "our brother's keeper" and that aid given to others is given to Thee. In Christ's name we ask. Amen.

Hughes Deals For Jet Fleet

CULVER CITY, Calif. (AP)—Industrialist Howard Hughes has made a deal for the money to buy a fleet of new jets for his Trans World Airlines—but to do it he had to give up control of TWA, at least temporarily, a spokesman said Friday.

Terms of an agreement reached in New York Thursday night were disclosed by a representative of Hughes' big aircraft parts plant here.

Under the plan, presumably to be signed next week, Hughes agreed to turn over his voting rights in 78 per cent of the TWA shares—actually held by the Hughes Tool Co., which Hughes owns.

The earlier building program consisted of an air-conditioned dining hall, which opened only last month, and a new dormitory for men and another for women. Both housing units are still under construction.

MAP SUMMARY
A low pressure system centered over Mississippi late Friday continued to spread showery and thundershowers through much of the Southeast. To the East of the low center numerous thundershowers broke out over Florida and nearby adjoining areas with some places receiving locally heavy rainfall. Several funnel clouds were sighted and a small tornado touched the ground just West of Jacksonville causing minor damage. A waterspout occurred near Fort Myers along the southwest coastal shore. To the other side of the low showers fell from Arkansas to the Southeast coastal strip of Texas where scattered thundershowers at times picked high winds and heavy rainfall.

Mostly sunny skies were features across the remaining major portion of the country although light rain mixed with showers persisted in the far northwest drifting inland to the northern Rockies. Temperaturewise, a mild regime prevailed in most sections with late afternoon and early evening readings generally in the 70s. Cool 50s were maintained in the New England states and also in the rainy areas of Washington and Oregon. The southern tier of states warmed into the 80s while the mercury pushed past the 100 mark once more over the deserts.

Mostly fair and mild weather is forecast for the nation Saturday with precipitation confined to thundershower activity along the South Atlantic and gulf coast areas and to a few showers over the mountains of the Northwest. Cooler temperatures are expected through the northwestern high plains and northern half of the Rocky Mountain region while warming takes place from the Ohio Valley and Great Lakes into New England.

The earlier building program consisted of an air-conditioned dining hall, which opened only last month, and a new dormitory for men and another for women. Both housing units are still under construction.

If the new building program is approved, Walker said, the college will issue revenue bonds to pay for the cost of construction.

This is a method of financing previously used by other state colleges and also used by Northeast for the $1,517,000 project, Walker added.

Other voter reaction: Mrs. Richard C. Vaughan, Miami, Fla., housewife: "I believe he (Nixon) was a little stronger tonight than during the last debate. I think on a good many of his points he seemed more decisive."

Area Writers To Appear In Art Festival

As a feature of the Caldwell parish Library Art Festival, Donald Thornton and Lee Holland will read from their recently published poetry collection "Outcry" and from other selections.

These two young poets not only wrote the poems but did the publication themselves by the paper-master process. They are recent graduates of Louisiana Tech, Thornton receiving a degree in Art Education and Holland in English.

Thornton is teaching art on the faculty of the North Caddo High school of Vivian and Holland is engaged in writing in New Orleans.

Donald Thornton, whose home is near Columbia, is a graduate of the Columbia High School. He has participated in the festival for five years and has won a number of ribbons. He will have a showing of his work again this year. One of his paintings was recently chosen to hang in the Beaumont Art Museum. He illustrated "Outcry."

Holland is from Ruston. He won a number of literary prizes while in college and he says that one theme is dominant in his life — to become as good a writer as possible and to pass on

DOOMED FROM START

Murder Ends Ill-Fated Romance; Husband Held

By ARTHUR EVERETT

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP)—The ill-starred romance of husky, blond Eugene Failla and slim, dark-haired Kathryn Levy began two years ago in Northport on Long Island when she was in high school. By turns tender and tempestuous, the love affair apparently was doomed from the start.

Failla, 22, was a Roman Catholic who drove a truck for his father's landscaping company. Kathryn, 18, was Jewish, the daughter of a wealthy shoe manufacturer.

Because of their religious differences, perhaps, or maybe for other reasons, too, the families of the young couple opposed their marriage. But where another boy and girl might have accepted the mandate and turned away from each other, the parental objections seemed to draw Failla and Kathryn closer.

In March 1958, they ran away together, to launch a period of sporadic intimacy, a pale, illicit copy of the marital bliss they were denied. Kathryn told her mother they had eloped to Maryland. Actually, she was to admit later, there had been no marriage. Ten months ago Kathryn bore Failla a son, James.

Finally, six weeks ago, the young lovers separated, apparently on Kathryn's initiative and apparently for good. Kathryn went to her parents' new home in Freeport, N.Y., with her baby.

But Failla was not to be denied. He wanted Kathryn back, and she complained to police that he pursued her, molested her and threatened her life. Last Sept. 1 Failla was locked up overnight on an assault charge lodged by the girl's mother. But he was released next day on $500 bail.

On Wednesday, Failla met Kathryn and his son at a Freeport playground. Somehow he induced her to go with him in her mother's car. They drove about for a time, finally dropping the baby with a relative in the Bronx.

The young couple ended up near the 11th hole of the Sprain Lake public golf course here in Westchester County. The final moments of their love affair were of the pattern—tender, then tempestuous. Police said they made love in the car, then fell into a quarrel.

When Kathryn failed to return home Wednesday night, her parents notified police.

Early Thursday, Failla telephoned police himself and told them: "I've just killed my wife. You'll find her on the golf course. By the time you find me I'll be in the same condition."

The strangled body of Kathryn was found in her mother's car, sprawled face up on the back seat.

Kathryn Levy's love affair was finally at an end. Her body was taken to Grasslands Hospital at Valhalla, N.Y., for an autopsy.

A police alarm was issued for Failla—wanted for murder.

Early Friday, he telephoned his father from Greenwich Village in New York and told him: "I took 15 pills. I'm going up to Grasslands to see her, and I'm going to take 15 more."

Then Failla boarded a taxicab and headed for the Westchester County hospital. Police seized him at a toll booth on the Saw Mill River Parkway. He was groggy from the sleeping pills he had taken but was revived.

Failla pleaded innocent Friday to a first-degree murder charge in the slaying of Kathryn. He was held without bond for a hearing. Death in the electric chair is the penalty for first-degree murder in New York.

Authorities refused Failla's plea to be allowed to see Kathryn. And so the bitter-sweet romance of Eugene Failla and Kathryn Levy came to an end, with a final footnote from police—the girl was pregnant again when she died.

Orleans School Building Halted

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The Orleans Parish School Board today suspended planning of six new schools, throwing its building program two years behind schedule, because of its recent rejection of bids on $10 million in bonds.

Bids on the bonds were turned down Wednesday. They carried the highest interest rate ever received by the board. Bidders agreed the school integration dispute affected the rates. Bids will be readjusted next year.

Lloyd Rittner, board president, said planning was suspended on six new schools and additions to others.

He said the board has enough money to take care of its current obligations, but couldn't carry on futures planning without the $10 million.

School Bus Hits Truck, 33 Hurt

COLLINS, Miss. (AP)—Thirty-three persons, most of them children, were injured when a truck and a school bus collided after the bus blew a tire and the vehicle swung into the truck Friday.

Bus driver Thad Keys said the accident occurred about 100 yards from Carver School for Negroes. Principal J. R. Todd said of the 33 injured, four were in serious condition. They were:

Keys, who suffered deep facial cuts.
James Martin, 7, who suffered cuts on the head.
Diane Gamble, 9, who suffered cuts on the head and neck.
Eugene Weathersby, 16, who had a broken leg.

Perjury Counts Due In Probe Of Quiz Shows

NEW YORK (UPI)—A New York County grand jury investigating television quiz show fixes is drawing up second degree perjury charges against 20 to 25 persons who participated in the programs, it was learned Friday.

The jury was said to be drawing up information against some of those who have testified before it about the 1958-59 TV scandals. The charges were expected to be handed to General Sessions Judge Charles Marks next week.

This jury began its investigation in July. A previous jury decided to take no action after months of hearing witnesses, including Charles Van Doren, one of the top winners, who later said his original testimony was false.

Informants said the grand jury had decided to return information rather than indictments. Charges in an information involve misdemeanors, while indictments concern felonies.

More than 100 persons have been questioned in the district attorney's investigation of the quiz show fixes, which resulted in the cancellation of some of the big money shows. Names of those charged in the informations were not disclosed.

Among those who have testified, in addition to Van Doren, was another top money winner, Elfrida Von Nardoff, Miss Von Nardoff, who won $200,000 on the NBC show "Twenty-one," testified for 90 minutes last July.

Pianist To Retire

LONDON (AP)—Concert pianist Harriet Cohen said Thursday night she is retiring because of failing sight. Miss Cohen, 59, injured a hand in an automobile accident some years ago but carried on her career when composers wrote concertos for one hand specially for her. Later she regained the use of the injured hand.

Royal Visitors Lunch With Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Prince Albert and Princess Paola of Belgium lunched with President Eisenhower Friday.
The strictly social occasion brought about 90 guests to the White House, most of them officials but including also several businessmen and personal friends of the Eisenhowers.
Members of the prince's official household and the Belgian ambassador and his wife also attended.
Among the American guests were Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson and Mrs. Anderson, Secretary of Commerce Frederick H. Mueller, Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, chief of naval operations, and Mrs. Burke.

Statement of

John J. McKeithen

It has been brought to my attention that the most recent bills sent out by United Gas Company to its customers in West Monroe and surrounding areas contain a slip of paper explaining that the increase in gas rates was ordered by the Louisiana Public Service Commission. This statement is misleading and inaccurate and the Commission has directed the Gas Company to discontinue this practice.

For over five years, United Gas Company has been attempting to get a rate increase in Monroe, West Monroe and surrounding communities. The Louisiana Public Service Commission, feeling that the contract which the Gas Company had with each of the Twin Cities was binding, refused to allow the increase in either City. In a divided opinion, the Courts finally held that the contract was binding in Monroe but not binding in West Monroe. The new rates were ordered into effect in West Monroe and surrounding areas by the State Supreme Court, not by the Louisiana Public Service Commission. The Louisiana Public Service Commission fought it every step of the way.

Let's keep the records straight.

When Kathryn failed to return home Wednesday night, her parents notified police. Early Thursday, Failla telephoned police himself and told them: "I've just killed my wife. You'll find her on the golf course. By the time you find me I'll be in the same condition."

The strangled body of Kathryn was found in her mother's car, sprawled face up on the back seat.

Kathryn Levy's love affair was finally at an end. Her body was taken to Grasslands Hospital at Valhalla, N.Y., for an autopsy.

A police alarm was issued for Failla—wanted for murder.

Early Friday, he telephoned his father from Greenwich Village in New York and told him: "I took 15 pills. I'm going up to Grasslands to see her, and I'm going to take 15 more."

Then Failla boarded a taxicab and headed for the Westchester County hospital. Police seized him at a toll booth on the Saw Mill River Parkway. He was groggy from the sleeping pills he had taken but was revived.

Failla pleaded innocent Friday to a first-degree murder charge in the slaying of Kathryn. He was held without bond for a hearing. Death in the electric chair is the penalty for first-degree murder in New York.

Authorities refused Failla's plea to be allowed to see Kathryn.

And so the bitter-sweet romance of Eugene Failla and Kathryn Levy came to an end, with a final footnote from police—the girl was pregnant again when she died.

Orleans School Building Halted

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The Orleans Parish School Board today suspended planning of six new schools, throwing its building program two years behind schedule, because of its recent rejection of bids on $10 million in bonds.

Bids on the bonds were turned down Wednesday. They carried the highest interest rate ever received by the board. Bidders agreed the school integration dispute affected the rates. Bids will be readvertised next year.

Lloyd Rittiner, board president, said planning was suspended on six new schools and additions to others.

He said the board has enough money to take care of its current obligations, but couldn't carry on futures planning without the $10 million.

Diane Gamble, 9, who suffered cuts on the head and neck.

Eugene Weathersby, 16, who had a broken leg.

Perjury Counts Due In Probe Of Quiz Shows

NEW YORK (UPI)—A New York County grand jury investigating television quiz show fixes is drawing up second degree perjury charges against 20 to 25 persons who participated in the programs, it was learned Friday.

The jury was said to be drawing up information against some of those who have testified before it about the 1958-59 TV scandals. The charges were expected to be handed to General Sessions Judge Charles Marks next week.

This jury began its investigation in July. A previous jury decided to take no action after months of hearing witnesses, including Charles Van Doren, one of the top winners, who later said his original testimony was false.

Informants said the grand jury had decided to return information rather than indictments. Charges in an information involve misdemeanors, while indictments concern felonies.

More than 100 persons have been questioned in the district attorney's investigation of the quiz show fixes, which resulted in the cancellation of some of the big money shows. Names of those charged in the information were not disclosed.

Among those who have testified, in addition to Van Doren, was another top money winner, Elfrida Von Nardoff, Miss Von Nardoff, who won $200,000 on the NBC show "Twenty-one," testified for 90 minutes last July.

Pianist To Retire

LONDON (AP)—Concert pianist Harriet Cohen said Thursday night she is retiring because of failing sight. Miss Cohen, 59, injured a hand in an automobile accident some years ago but carried on her career when composers wrote concertos for one hand specially for her. Later she regained the use of the injured hand.

Royal Visitors Lunch With Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Prince Albert and Princess Paola of Belgium lunched with President Eisenhower Friday.

The strictly social occasion brought about 90 guests to the White House, most of them officials but including also several businessmen and personal friends of the Eisenhowers.

Members of the prince's official household and the Belgian ambassador and his wife also attended.

Among the American guests were Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson and Mrs. Anderson, Secretary of Commerce Frederick H. Mueller, Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, chief of naval operations, and Mrs. Burke.

John J. McKeithen

It has been brought to my attention that the most recent bills sent out by United Gas Company to its customers in West Monroe and surrounding areas contain a slip of paper explaining that the increase in gas rates was ordered by the Louisiana Public Service Commission. This statement is misleading and inaccurate and the Commission has directed the Gas Company to discontinue this practice.

For over five years, United Gas Company has been attempting to get a rate increase in Monroe, West Monroe and surrounding communities. The Louisiana Public Service Commission, feeling that the contract which the Gas Company had with each of the Twin Cities was binding, refused to allow the increase in either City. In a divided opinion, the Courts finally held that the contract was binding in Monroe but not binding in West Monroe. The new rates were ordered into effect in West Monroe and surrounding areas by the State Supreme Court, not by the Louisiana Public Service Commission. The Louisiana Public Service Commission fought it every step of the way.

Let's keep the records straight.

Northeast State Ready For 28th Homecoming

QUEEN IN SPOTLIGHT

Colorful Float Lineup Scheduled In Parade

Northeast Louisiana State College's 28th annual homecoming shifts into high gear Saturday morning with a giant parade consisting of about 40 decorated floats and cars.

Highlighting the parade will be the float bearing Homecoming Queen Sandra Edwards, Maid of Honor Jeanie Duffey and a court of five. This float will be sponsored by the Alumni Association. Walking elements will include the entire ROTC contingent of about 700 from the college and the Northeast band.

The parade is scheduled to leave Riverside Drive at 10 a.m. Saturday and move over the new bridge into West Monroe and then return to Monroe and march down DeSiard Street.

IN LEAD CAR

Monroe's Mayor W. L. (Jack) Howard, West Monroe Mayor J. Allan Norris and Northeast President George T. Walker will ride in the lead car in the parade. The wives of the three men will follow in a second auto, and college officials will ride in other cars.

The float judged the best decorated will be awarded a prize of $50 plus a rotating trophy to be presented by the Northeast Boosters' Club. Prizes of $30 and $20 will be awarded to the next two floats.

A prize of $20 will be awarded to the best decorated car in the parade.

A prize of $50 and a Student Council trophy will be presented to the best decorated dormitory or fraternity house. Second and third prizes of $30 and $20 will also be presented.

Winners will be announced at pre-game ceremonies which begin at 1:40 p.m. Saturday, 20 minutes before the Northeast-Northwestern football game in Brown Stadium.

Homecoming co-chairmen Marcus Mapp and Thomas McCann said that cars and floats may organize on campus on the drive in front of the men's and women's dormitories. They will leave the campus at 9 a.m. with a police escort while walking elements are transported by bus.

If they prefer, entrants may join the parade on Riverside Drive at 9:30 a.m. Cars and floats will be judged there, beginning at 9:30, while dormitories and fraternity houses will be judged from 9-10 a.m.

POINTS

Originality of idea, development of idea and esthetic qualities will determine the winners. The judges will be a group not connected with the college. The Alumni Association float on which the queen and her court will ride will not be included in the judging, Mapp and McCann said.

After the floats and cars are judged, the parade will leave Riverside at 10 a.m. and cross the new bridge into West Monroe. It will go down Trenton Street, return to Monroe on the old bridge and head down DeSiard Street until it reaches Sixth Street, where the walking elements will disperse.

Col. Lawrence R. Longfellow, professor of military science and tactics, is chairman of the parade committee. Ralph McKay is chairman of the committee on the queen's float and Emmett Foster heads the committee on judging houses, floats and cars.

HOMECOMING QUEEN AND COURT—A touch of glamour will be added to Northeast Louisiana State College's 28th annual Homecoming activities Saturday when the queen, the maid of honor and the Homecoming court are presented during halftime ceremonies at the Northeast-Northwestern game. The queen, Sandra Edwards, Monroe, seated on far right, will be crowned by Dr. George T. Walker, president of Northeast. The maid of honor is Jeanie Duffey of West Monroe, standing on the far right behind the queen. At the left are members of the court: Sandra Stancil, Monroe, Linda Rogers, also of Monroe, and Carol Shipp, Bosco (all seated), and Sue Payne, Crowleyville, and Patsy Price, Ferriday (both standing). Northeast Louisiana State College welcomes its alumni back to campus this week end as the fast-growing college celebrates its 28th annual homecoming Friday and Saturday.

Festivities open at 5:30 p.m. Friday with a picnic and pep rally and continue at a rapid pace until midnight Saturday when the homecoming dance comes to an end. Among the events packed into the 30 hours are these highlights:

HIGHLIGHTS

A mammoth parade through downtown Monroe and West Monroe Saturday at 10 a.m.

A meeting of the Alumni Association at 11 a.m. Saturday, followed by an alumni luncheon at 12:15 p.m.

The homecoming football game between Northeast and Northwestern State College at 2 p.m. Saturday, complete with pre-game activities beginning at 1:40 and halftime ceremonies.

And an open house after the game and a dance from 9 p.m. to midnight.

A 19-year-old Monroe beauty, Sandra Edwards, will be formally crowned queen of homecoming at halftime ceremonies Saturday by Dr. George T. Walker, president of Northeast. Miss Edwards, maid of honor Jeanie Duffey of West Monroe and the homecoming court of five will be formally presented.

Two floats will be unveiled at the pre-game ceremonies. The college's new precision dance team, directed by Sherry Sims of Rayville and consisting of nearly 20 dancers, will make its first appearance.

And the Chief of the Tribe—a living replica of Northeast's traditional Indian—will also be formally presented for the first time, attired in a specially designed costume. Earlier Saturday the Chief will lead the homecoming parade but will not be formally presented until the pre-game activities.

EXPECT BIGGEST

Marcus Mapp and Thomas McCann, homecoming co-chairmen, said this year's homecoming is expected to be the biggest in the school's history and issued an invitation to Northeast alumni to attend all the activities.

A picnic in Brown Stadium at 5:30 p.m. Friday kicks off the annual celebration. Northeast faculty, staff and students—and their families—have been invited to attend. A pep rally to back the Indian football team in its battle against Northwestern will follow on the parade grounds. The pep rally will be climaxed by the lighting of a gigantic bonfire Saturday morning. Homecoming activities begin with the annual homecoming parade. The parade leaves Riverside Drive at 10 a.m. and moves over the new bridge into West Monroe. It goes down Trenton Street, returns to Monroe via the old bridge and then heads down DeSiard Street until it reaches Sixth, where the elements disperse.

Queen Edwards, Maid of Honor Duffey and the homecoming court will ride atop an Alumni Association float as the Chief of the Tribe leads the march on horseback. In the lead car will be Monroe Mayor W. L. (Jack) Howard, West Monroe Mayor J. Allan Norris, and Northeast's President Walker. Marching elements include the entire ROTC contingent of about 700 and the Northeast band.

PRIZES

Cash prizes will be awarded to the three best decorated dormitories or fraternity houses with a Student Council trophy also going to the winner.

Winners will be announced during the football game Saturday afternoon.

Registration of alumni will take place from 10:30-11 a.m. in the Administration Building on campus with the combined board and general meeting beginning at 11 a.m. Roland Carter of West Monroe and Fred Huenefeldt Jr. of Monroe have been nominated for the presidency, and James Boone and H. Kirt Touchstone Jr., both of Monroe, for the vice presidency. Carter and Boone are the incumbents in those positions.

Two parishes from each of 14 area parishes and 12 from Ouachita have been nominated for the board. One person from the 14 parishes and six from Ouachita will be elected.

Alumni and their wives or husbands will be guests of the college at a buffet luncheon in Northeast's new air-conditioned dining hall after the meeting. The luncheon begins at 12:15 p.m.

Pre-game activities open in Brown Stadium at 1:40 p.m. Saturday. Highlights will be the precision dance team and the Chief of the Tribe.

At 2 p.m. Coach Jack Rowan's Northeast Indians meet Northwestern in the homecoming football game as Northeast seeks to win its second contest of the season before a homecoming crowd.

During halftime President Walker will welcome alumni, and Carter, the incumbent alumni president, will preside. Winners of the alumni elections will be announced.

Following will be the formal presentation of Queen Edwards, Maid of Honor Duffey and the Homecoming court—Linda Rogers and Sandra Stancil, both of Monroe, Carol Shipp of Bosco, Sue Payne of Crowleyville and Patsy Price of Ferriday. Then will come the climax of Homecoming—the formal crowning of the queen.

From the end of the game until 6 p.m. the annual Homecoming open house will be held in the new dining hall. Alumni, faculty, staff and students and their families—as well as guests from Northwestern—have been invited. Refreshments will be served.

DREAM OF LIFETIME REALIZED

Student Here From Greece Among Happiest At N. E.

"I am the happiest student in the whole world!"

Those were words spoken in the precise English of Anastasios Chronopoulos, Tassos, as his friends call him, has realized his dream of a lifetime—to study in the United States.

And the 20-year-old student from Athens, Greece, has chosen Northeast Louisiana State College for his work.

Tassos is at Northeast because Miss Hazel Mitchell, an associate professor of Spanish at the college, looked up a Monroyan's relative in Athens.

INTERPRETER

Before leaving on a 72-day trip to Europe, Miss Mitchell was asked by Mrs. Tom Johnson of Monroe to visit Mrs. Johnson's brother in Athens. She did—but found she needed an interpreter.

The interpreter was Tassos. Tassos told Miss Mitchell of his dream of studying in this country, and she described Northeast to him. Tassos made his decision and flew to Monroe.

Tassos, who has only been here since mid-September, has found the people of Monroe and of Northeast most friendly and helpful. "Everyone has been wonderful to me," he exclaims. And he marvels at the informal relationship between students and teachers in this country.

In Greece there is a chasm between student and teacher that can seldom be bridged. Here Tassos finds that his instructors not only seek to help him academically but also want to help him with any personal problems he might have.

GLOWS

The young student glows at the educational opportunities offered American youth. "In Greece," he explains, "there is only one university—and you have to be an exceptional student to be admitted. If you can't enter the university, there is no other place to go." However, many, like Tassos, who have studied foreign languages, attempt to enter colleges and universities in countries where those languages are spoken.

Tassos, therefore, is taking a most serious attitude toward his pre-engineering studies. He learned English before coming to this country and is having relatively little difficulty with the language. One slight linguistic hurdle has been understanding of a Southern accent.

"The people in New York are much easier to understand than the people here," Tassos says. But Tassos likes this area and has found Monroe a "very pretty city," though a much smaller one than his native Athens. And he is much impressed with the green grass, which Athens lacks.

Tassos gives a handsome appearance with his blue eyes and golden-brown hair and his 5-10, 142-pound build. While pursuing his studies, he is living with a relative, Mrs. Gus Jackson, at 311 Roselawn. Tassos' father is a government superintendent who supervises newspapers in Athens.

SMALLER MEALS

American eating habits are a source of amazement to the young visitor. Tassos says that, although there is no set menu for breakfasts in Greece, the morning meals are much smaller than in this country.

And at dinner Americans eat many of their courses at the same time, while in Greece each course is served and eaten and the dishes removed before the next is brought on.

A typical Greek meal might consist of soup, salad, cheese, fish and/or meat, bread and butter, fruits and ice cream. Wine or beer or other beverages might be served.

Tassos feels that Americans generally eat more than the people of Greece—and he has a

SANDRA EDWARDS

Northeast Queen Is Local Beauty

Northeast's queen of homecoming for 1960 is a 19-year-old Monroe beauty, Sandra Edwards.

The brown-haired business-education major will be formally crowned by Dr. George T. Walker, president of Northeast, at a highlight of halftime ceremonies Saturday afternoon.

For Miss Edwards the coronation will be a slightly early birthday present, for Sandy becomes 20 years old three days after the crowning.

MAID OF HONOR

Jeanie Duffey of West Monroe is Miss Edwards' maid of honor. Miss Duffey is a sophomore home-economics major.

The five other members of the homecoming court are Linda Rogers, a sophomore, and Sandra Stancil, a freshman, both of Monroe; Carol Shipp, a sophomore, Bosco; Sue Payne, a junior, Crowleyville; and Patsy Price a junior, Ferriday.

The seven coeds were elected from a field of 22 nominees in a full day of campuswide balloting.

theory on American eating habits. Americans work harder than most other people, he believes—not in the sense of physical activity so much as in the sense of work that causes emotional or mental stress.

Tassos has nothing but praise for what he calls American push-button life. "I think Americans have only tried to free themselves from physical labor to devote more time to making life pleasant for everyone," he concludes.

Miss Edwards, her maid of honor and the court will preside over a crowded schedule of homecoming activities.

They will ride in the Alumni Association float in Saturday morning's parade. At Saturday afternoon's football game between Northeast and Northwestern the queen and her court will arrive a half hour early—at 1:30 p.m.—and will circle the field in convertibles before being taken to their seats for the game.

At halftime the queen and her court will be presented as they walk beneath an arch of swords formed by the Pershing Rifles and Scabbard and Blade.

Miss Edwards will be escorted by her father, H. D. Edwards, 406 Lakeshore, Monroe; Miss Duffey by her father, Donald Duffey, 503 Glenmar, Monroe; Miss Rogers by her father, R. W. Rogers, 215 Redwood Drive, Monroe; Miss Stancil by her uncle, O. M. Stancil, Horn Street, West Monroe; Miss Shipp by her father, G. A. Shipp, Route 2, Monroe; Miss Payne by her father, T. M. Payne, Crowleyville; and Miss Price by her father, J. E. Price, Ferriday.

CORONATION

After the presentation President Walker will formally crown Miss Edwards queen of 1960 homecoming.

Miss Edwards is the younger sister of Ann Edwards, who was maid of honor at last year's homecoming. Sandy was a member of the court then. Ann is now teaching in Lake Charles.

Former Northeast Louisiana State College students and other visitors returning to the campus for the 1960 Homecoming will notice many changes signifying the institution's continuous growth.

Now well under way in its second decade as a four-year institution, Northeast has been using its new $200,000 air-conditioned dining hall since the beginning of the school term.

BOOKSTORE

A new bookstore has been completed and is being used. In the very near future a system of additional outdoor campus lighting will be completed, increasing the illumination of the college grounds. Sections of the system are in operation now.

By the first of the year a $200,000 expansion of the school's gymnasium will be nearing completion—an addition that will bring the gym to collegiate standards and allow Northeast's basketball team to play its home games on campus.

By June of 1961 Northeast is scheduled to open the doors on a new men's and a new women's dormitory, both of which are already under construction. And in the early fall of 1961 the school is anticipating completion of a new biology-geology building.

Northeast's new dining hall seats 450 persons, and its serving lines are capable of handling a total of 1,500 persons per meal. A part of the dining area may be separated for use in private functions.

The serving lines are separated from the dining area by a decorative screen so that the interior can be used for special functions other than food service. Kitchen equipment is of stainless steel.

DINING HALL

The dining hall, which contains approximately 19,000 square feet of floor space, stands between the tennis courts and the former baseball diamond and faces the president's home.

The new $200,000 bookstore, approximately 45 by 90 feet, is an addition to the east end of the Student Center. It is a brick veneer permanent structure matching existing campus buildings. Materials available from a demolished house, which is being replaced by the new men's dormitory, were used in the bookstore construction.

The new outdoor lighting at Northeast will cost approximately $25,000. It consists of 81 light standards and luminaires, or globes. Wiring will be underground on the project.

The lights are being located along sidewalks and drives and near the major buildings on campus.

Northeast's gym expansion will include the addition of new bleachers to increase the seating capacity from the 500 to 1,000 persons. It will also include two practice courts and areas suitable for teaching modern dancing, handball, gymnastics and other activities.

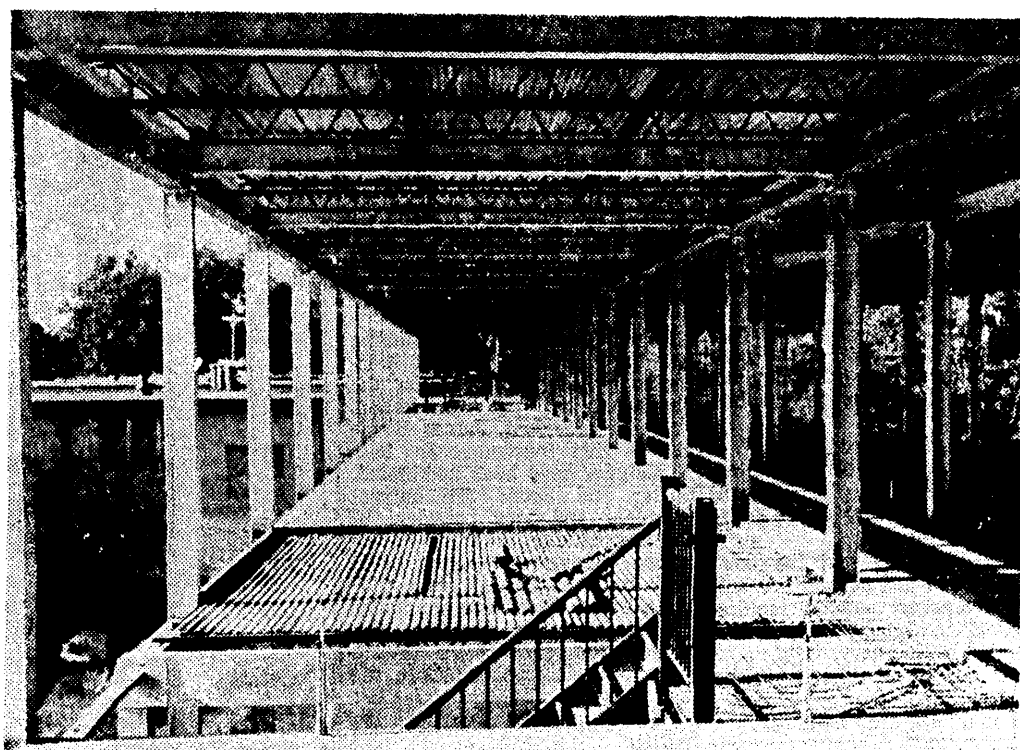

The expanded gym will be used by both men and women students. Later the college plans to convert it for women only and to build a new gym for men.

Two major structures are expected to be ready by June of next year—the men's and the women's dormitories, both of which will be air-conditioned.

MEN'S DORM

The men's dorm is designed for 300 students. It will be an H-shaped structure with three-story dormitory units on the west and east and a two-story central unit.

It will have two-man bedrooms on both sides of each wing with bathrooms in the center. This arrangement will provide a private bath between every two rooms on either side of a wing. Each room will contain a built-in

FUTURE SHOWPLACE—The new women's dormitory which is well under construction will be a campus showplace and one of the finest and most modern residences for women in the state. Located on the bank of Bayou DeSiard, the three-story structure of steel and frame with brick and stone trim will house 150 students. (Northeast News Bureau Photo by Davis Roane)

English Jazz And Southern Accent Billed

English jazz with a southern accent will be heard in Monroe on Thursday, Oct. 20, when Chris Barber and his band will appear as a feature attraction of the Northeast State Concerts Association.

Barber, his band of five and vocalist will perform at Neville High auditorium beginning at 8:45 p.m.

The concert association is conducting its annual membership drive through next Monday. Information may be obtained from the dean's office, division of fine arts, Northeast State College.

In Europe today the name Chris Barber has become a household word. This English jazz band has astonished the entertainment world with its smash box-office records. Rated as one of the top jazz bands in Europe, Barber and company tour widely and are seen and heard through the media of radio, television, motion pictures and records.

BASIC

Although the basic structure is the New Orleans sound, the Chris Barber band plays a wide and varied selection of numbers, including the old Dixie standards, Ellington tunes, ragtime, blues and folk tunes. Though versatile, the distinctive Barber sound remains.

This band has played and toured with many of the jazz greats and in turn has learned and absorbed the finer points of this type of music.

The band members consist of Barber, trombone; Monty Sunshine, clarinet; Dick Smith, bass; Pat Halcox, trumpet; Eddie Smith, banjo; Graham Burbridge, drums; and the charming vocalist, Ottillie Patterson.

The popularity of the Chris Barber band reached a new high in 1959 with the international success of the recording, "Petite Fleur." This record sold over two million copies in America and Europe together and the band collected a golden record on both sides of the Atlantic.

Among the other attractions scheduled this season by the concert association are Mantovani and his orchestra of 45, which will perform here Friday, Nov. 4; "Fiorello!" on Dec. 2. Other attractions will include "Amahl and the Night Visitor"; Gen. Carlos P. Romulo, Philippine Ambassador to the United States; and the U. S. Air Force Band.

Nearly Perfect Tax Collection

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—The city of Dallas has collected more than 99 per cent of the taxes owed it for the past fiscal year. Officials think this may be the highest percentage in the nation.

When the year's books were closed Sept. 30 the city had collected 99.0736 per cent of the $55,938,304 owed to it. Dallas has collected more than 99 per cent of its taxes four times in the last decade.

By comparison, Houston collects about 86 per cent of its taxes and Fort Worth, 96 per cent, Dallas officials said.

QUEEN IN SPOTLIGHT

Colorful Float Lineup Scheduled In Parade

Northeast Louisiana State College's 28th annual homecoming shifts into high gear Saturday morning with a giant parade consisting of about 40 decorated floats and cars.

Highlighting the parade will be the float bearing Homecoming Queen Sandra Edwards, Maid of Honor Jeanie Duffey and a court of five. This float will be sponsored by the Alumni Association. Walking elements will include the entire ROTC contingent of about 700 from the college and the Northeast band.

The parade is scheduled to leave Riverside Drive at 10 a.m. Saturday and move over the new bridge into West Monroe and then return to Monroe and march down DeSiard Street.

IN LEAD CAR

Monroe's Mayor W. L. (Jack) Howard, West Monroe Mayor J. Allan Norris and Northeast President George T. Walker will ride in the lead car in the parade. The wives of the three men will follow in a second auto, and college officials will ride in other cars.

The float judged the best decorated will be awarded a prize of $50 plus a rotating trophy to be presented by the Northeast Boosters' Club. Prizes of $30 and $20 will be awarded to the next two floats.

A prize of $20 will be awarded to the best - decorated car in the parade.

A prize of $50 and a Student Council trophy will be presented to the best - decorated dormitory or fraternity house. Second and third prizes of $30 and $20 will also be presented.

Winners will be announced at pre-game ceremonies which begin at 1:40 p.m. Saturday, 20 minutes before the Northeast-Northwestern football game in Brown Stadium.

Homecoming co-chairmen Marcus Mapp and Thomas McCann said that cars and floats may organize on campus on the drive in front of the men's and women's dormitories. They will leave the campus at 9 a.m. with a police escort while walking elements are transported by bus.

If they prefer, entrants may join the parade on Riverside Drive at 9:30 a.m. Cars and floats will be judged there, beginning at 9:30, while dormitories and fraternity houses will be judged from 9-10 a.m.

POINTS

Originality of idea, development of idea and esthetic qualities will determine the winners. The judges will be a group not connected with the college. The Alumni Association float on which the queen and her court will ride will not be included in the judging. Mapp and McCann said.

After the floats and cars are judged, the parade will leave Riverside at 10 a.m. and cross the new bridge into West Monroe. It will go down Trenton Street, return to Monroe on the old bridge and head down DeSiard Street until it reaches Sixth Street, where the walking elements will disperse.

Col. Lawrence R. Longfellow, professor of military science and tactics, is chairman of the parade committee. Ralph McKay is chairman of the committee on the queen's float and Emmett Foster heads the committee on judging houses, floats and cars.

Before leaving on a 72-day trip to Europe, Miss Mitchell was asked by Mrs. Tom Johnson of Monroe to visit Mrs. Johnson's brother in Athens. She did — but found she needed an interpreter.

The interpreter was Tassos. Tassos told Miss Mitchell of his dream of studying in this country, and she described Northeast to him. Tassos made his decision and flew to Monroe.

Tassos, who has only been here since mid-September, has found the people of Monroe and of Northeast most friendly and helpful. "Everyone has been wonderful to me," he exclaims. And he marvels at the informal relationship between students and teachers in this country.

In Greece there is a chasm between student and teacher that can seldom be bridged. Here Tassos finds that his instructors not only seek to help him academically but also want to help him with any personal problems he might have.

GLOWS

The young student glows at the educational opportunities offered American youth. "In Greece," he explains, "there is only one university — and you have to be an exceptional student to be admitted. If you can't enter the university, there is no other place to go." However, many, like Tassos, who have studied foreign languages, attempt to enter colleges and universities in countries where those languages are spoken.

Tassos, therefore, is taking a most serious attitude toward his pre-engineering studies. He learned English before coming to this country and is having relatively little difficulty with the language. One slight linguistic hurdle has been understanding of a Southern accent.

"The people in New York are much easier here," Tassos says. But Tassos likes this area very much. He has found Monroe a "very pretty city," though a much smaller one than his native Athens. And he is much impressed with the green grass, which Athens lacks.

Tassos gives a handsome appearance with his blue eyes and golden-brown hair and his 5-10, 142-pound build. While pursuing his studies, he is living with a relative, Mrs. Gus Jackson, at 311 Roselawn. Tassos' father is a government superintendent who supervises newspapers in Athens.

SMALLER MEALS

American eating habits are a source of amazement to the young visitor. Tassos says that, although there is no set menu for breakfasts in Greece, the morning meals are much smaller than in this country.

And at dinner Americans eat many of their courses at the same time, while in Greece each course is served and eaten and the dishes removed before the next is brought on.

A typical Greek meal might consist of soup, salad, cheese, fish and/or meat, bread and butter, fruit and ice cream. Wine or beer or other beverages might be served.

Tassos feels that Americans generally eat more than the people of Greece — and he has a

MISS HAZEL MITCHELL, an associate professor of Spanish at Northeast Louisiana State College, points out the growth of the campus to a new student from Athens, Greece. The student, Anastasios Chronopoulos (Tassos to his friends), has realized the dream of a life time—to study in the United States. And, because of a chance meeting with Miss Mitchell in Greece, Tassos came to Northeast in Monroe. (Northeast News Bureau Photo)

SANDRA EDWARDS

Northeast Queen Is Local Beauty

Northeast's queen of homecoming for 1960 is a 19-year-old Monroe beauty, Sandra Edwards.

The brown-haired business-education major will be formally crowned by Dr. George T. Walker, president of Northeast, as a highlight of halftime ceremonies Saturday afternoon.

For Miss Edwards the coronation will be a slightly early birthday present, for Sandy becomes 20 years old three days after the crowning.

MAID OF HONOR

Jeanie Duffey of West Monroe is Miss Edwards' maid of honor. Miss Duffey is a sophomore home - economics major.

The five other members of the homecoming court are Linda Rogers, a sophomore, and Sandra Stancil, a freshman, both of Monroe; Carol Shippe, a junior, Crowville; and Patsy Price a junior, Ferriday.

The seven coeds were elected from a field of 22 nominees in a full day of campuswide balloting.

theory on American eating habits. Americans work harder than most, other people he believes — not in the sense of physical activity so much as in the sense of work that causes emotional or mental stress.

Tassos has nothing but praise for what he calls American push-button life. "I think Americans have only tried to free themselves from physical labor to devote more time to making life pleasant for everyone," he concludes.

Miss Edwards, her maid of honor and the court will preside over a crowded schedule of homecoming activities.

They will ride in the Alumni Association float in Saturday morning's parade. At Saturday afternoon's football game between Northeast and Northwestern the queen and her court will arrive a half hour early — at 1:30 p.m. — and will circle the field in convertibles before being taken to their seats for the game.

At halftime the queen and her court will be presented as they walk beneath an arch of swords formed by the Pershing Rifles and Scabbard and Blade.

Miss Edwards will be escorted by her father, H. D. Edwards, 406 Lakeshore, Monroe; Miss Duffey by her father, Donald Duffey, 503 Glenmar, Monroe; Miss Rogers by her father, R. W. Rogers, 210 Redwood Drive, Monroe; Miss Stancil by her uncle, O. M. Stancil, Horn Street, West Monroe; Miss Shippe by her father, G. A. Shippe, Route 2, Monroe; Miss Price by her father, T. M. Payne, Crowville; and Miss Price by her father, J. E. Price, Ferriday.

CORONATION

After the presentation President Walker will formally crown Miss Edwards queen of 1960 homecoming.

Miss Edwards is the younger sister of Ann Edwards, who was maid of honor at last year's homecoming. Sandy was a member of the court then. Ann is now teaching in Lake Charles.

HOMECOMING QUEEN AND COURT — A touch of glamour will be added to Northeast Louisiana State College's 28th annual Homecoming activities Saturday when the queen, the maid of honor and the Homecoming court are presented during halftime ceremonies at the Northeast-Northwestern game. The queen, Sandra Edwards, Monroe, seated on far right, will be crowned by Dr. George T. Walker, president of Northeast. The maid of honor is Jeanie Duffey of West Monroe, standing on the far right behind the queen. At the left are members of the court: Sandra Stancil, Monroe, Linda Rogers, also of Monroe, and Carol Shippe, Bosco (all seated), and Sue Payne, Crowville, and Patsy Price, Ferriday (both standing). ## Continued Growth Seen

Former Northeast Louisiana State College students and other visitors returning to the campus for the 1960 Homecoming will notice many changes signifying the institution's continuous growth.

Now well under way in its second decade as a four-year institution, Northeast has been using its new $200,000 air - conditioned dining hall since the beginning of the school term.

BOOKSTORE

A new bookstore has been completed and is being used. In the very near future a system of additional outdoor campus lighting will be completed, increasing the illumination of the college grounds. Sections of the system are in operation now.

By the first of the year a $200,000 expansion of the school's gymnasium will be nearing completion — an addition that will bring the gym to collegiate standards and allow Northeast's basketball team to play its home games on campus.

By June of 1961 Northeast is scheduled to open the doors on a new men's and a new women's dormitory, both of which are already under construction. And in the early fall of 1961 the school is anticipating completion of a new biology - geology building.

Northeast's new dining hall seats 450 persons, and its serving lines are capable of handling a total of 1,500 persons per meal. A part of the dining area may be separated for use in private functions.

The serving lines are separated from the dining area by a decorative screen so that the interior can be used for special functions other than food service. Kitchen equipment is of stainless steel.

DINING HALL

The dining hall, which contains approximately 19,000 square feet of floor space, stands between the tennis courts and the former baseball diamond and faces the president's home.

The new $200,000 bookstore, approximately 45 by 90 feet, is an addition to the east end of the Student Center. It is a brick veneer permanent structure matching existing campus buildings. Materials available from a demolished house, which is being replaced by the new men's dormitory, were used in the bookstore construction.

The new outdoor lighting at Northeast will cost approximately $25,000. It consists of 81 light standards and luminaires, or globes. Wiring will be underground on the project.

The lights are being located along sidewalks and drives and near the major buildings on campus.

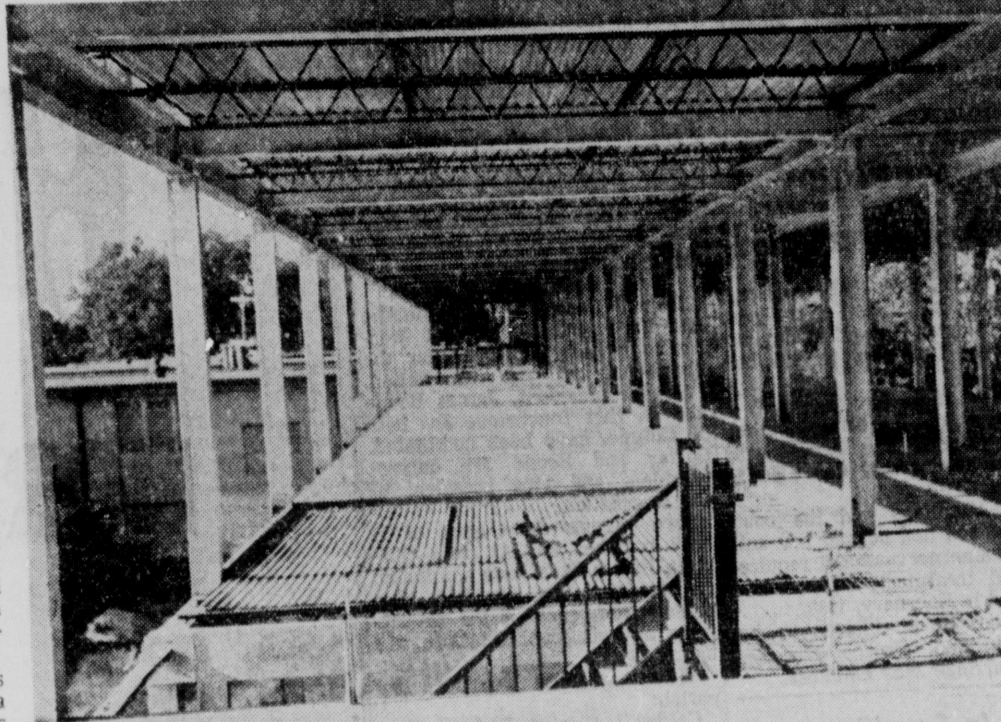

Northeast's gym expansion will include the addition of new bleachers to increase the seating capacity from the 500 to 1,000 persons. It will also include two practice courts and areas suitable for teaching modern dancing, handball, gymnastics and other activities.

The expanded gym will be used by both men and women students. Later the college plans to convert it for women only and to build a new gym for structures are expected to be ready by June of next year — the men's and the women's dormitories, both of which will be air - conditioned.

MEN'S DORM

The men's dorm is designed for 300 students. It will be an H-shaped structure with three-story dormitory units on the west and east and a two - story central unit.

It will have two - man bedrooms on both sides of each wing with bathrooms in the center. This arrangement will provide a private bath between every two rooms on either side of a wing. Each room will contain a built-in storage wall with double desk and bureaus.

The women's dorm, located on the bank of Bayou DeSiard near the present women's housing units, is designed for 150 students. It will be a three - story structure of steel frame with brick and stone trim to match the other campus buildings.

The fireproof unit will contain a total floor space of 27,000 square feet with a parlor opening onto the gym near the president's home. The rectangular structure will be of contemporary design. Each room is planned for two women with storage wall and study desk built in. A drive to the new dorm and a parking area are also to be constructed.

The new biology - geology building will cost an estimated $450,000. The State Board of Education has allocated funds for the project, has approved its location, and a contract with architects was signed recently.

In addition to these projects, work is to begin this month on an extension of Hippocrite street from College Avenue to a point north of the new dining hall — the drive behind the president's home. It will be connected to the street leading from College Drive between the Student Center building and the warehouse to the rear of the dining hall.

Northeast has also completely remodeled its former cafeteria, changed its location and converted it into a building for the new department of nursing. The department, which just opened this fall, has enrolled a total of 47 students in its nursing curriculum.

Regular Classes To Be Dismissed Early Saturday

Regular classes will be dismissed after 8:50 a.m. Saturday at Northeast Louisiana State College because of Homecoming.

However, regular 8 o'clock classes will be held as usual, said President George T. Walker. Special Saturday classes, which meet for 2½ hours, will also be held as usual.

Participants in Northeast's Homecoming parade begin organizing at 9 a.m. on campus Saturday.

English Jazz And Southern Accent Billed

English jazz with a southern accent will be heard in Monroe on Thursday, Oct. 20, when Chris Barber and his band will appear as a feature attraction of the Northeast State Concerts Association.

Barber, his band of five and vocalist will perform at Neville Hall auditorium beginning at 8:45 p.m.

The concerts association is conducting its annual membership drive through next Monday. Information may be obtained from the dean's office, division of fine arts, Northeast State College.

In Europe today the name Chris Barber has become a household word. This English jazz band has astonished the entertainment world with its smash box-office records. Rated as one of the top jazz bands in Europe, Barber and company tour widely and are seen and heard through the media of radio, television, motion pictures and records.

BASIC

Although the basic structure is the New Orleans sound, the Chris Barber band plays a wide and varied selection of numbers including the old Dixie standards, Ellington tunes, ragtime, blues and folk tunes. Though versatile, the distinctive Barber sound remains.

This band has played and toured with many of the jazz greats and in turn has learned and absorbed the finer points of this type of music.

The band members consist of Barber, trombone; Monty Sunshine, clarinet; Dick Smith, bass; Pat Halcox, trumpet; Eddie Smith, banjo; Graham Burbridge, drums; and the charming vocalist, Otilie Patterson.

The popularity of the Chris Barber band reached a new high in 1959 with the international success of the recording, "Petite Fleur." This record sold over two million copies in America and Europe together and the band collected a golden record on both sides of the Atlantic.

Among the other attractions scheduled this season by the concerts association are Mantovani and his orchestra of 45, which will perform here Friday, Nov. 4; "Fiorello!" on Dec. 2. Other attractions will include "Amahl and the Night Visitor," Gen. Carlos P. Romulo, Philippine Ambassador to the United States; and the U. S. Air Force Band.

Nearly Perfect Tax Collection

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—The city of Dallas has collected more than 99 per cent of the taxes owed it for the past fiscal year. Officials think this may be the highest percentage in the nation.

When the year's books were closed Sept. 30 the city had collected 99.0736 per cent of the $55,998,204 owed to it. Dallas has collected more than 99 per cent of its taxes four times in the last decade.

By comparison, Houston collects about 86 per cent of its taxes and Fort Worth, 96 per cent, Dallas officials said.

New Dining Hall In Spotlight

Northeast State College's new dining hall will be used for three major Homecoming functions — an alumni buffet luncheon, an open house and the Homecoming dance.

But the dining hall wouldn't have been ready for Homecoming — not to mention the opening of the school term last month — without a lot of hard work on the part of architects, contractors, subcontractors, suppliers and others.

For the $200,000 structure was completed only four months after construction had begun — some eight months ahead of the completion date called for in the contract.

"Some sort of record must have been set by the all-out effort of everyone concerned in pushing the project through to completion," said James M. Nicholson, dean of administration at Northeast.

Turpin & Wells of Monroe were architects and W. S. Salley of Monroe prime contractor. Subcontractors included:

Thorpe Insulation, Houston; Portman Steel Construction, Monroe; Mosher Steel, Shreveport; Jackson Stone Co., Jackson; Proffit - Holmes, Monroe; Pogue - Atkins, Monroe; the Strong Co., Pine Bluff; A. H. Recouley, Monroe; Harold Lipper Co., Shreveport; and Monroe Brick & Builders Supply, Monroe.

Windham Woodwork & Supply, Shreveport; McElroy Electric & Supply, West Monroe; Electronic Contractors, Monroe; Ellis T. White Painting Contractor, Monroe; and Covington Sheet Metal Works, Monroe.

The college is planning in the near future an appreciation dinner in the dining hall to honor those responsible for its rapid completion, Nicholson said.

Saturday the dining hall is being used as a center of Homecoming activity with three of the major indoor functions being held there.

The alumni buffet luncheon will be held at 12:15 p.m. with alumni and their husbands or wives guests of the college. The open house will be held after the Northeast - Northwestern football game ends and will last until 6 p.m. Guests from Northwestern and Northeast students, faculty, staff and alumni, plus their families, have been invited.

Homecoming comes to an end in the dining hall also. The annual dance will be held there from 9 p.m. to midnight with Phares Corder and the Constellations providing music. Northeast students, faculty, and staff, plus their families, and guests from Northwestern have been invited.

For the $200,000 structure was completed only four months after construction had begun — some eight months ahead of the completion date called for in the contract.

"Some sort of record must have been set by the all-out effort of everyone concerned in pushing the project through to completion," said James M. Nicholson, dean of administration at Northeast.

Turpin & Wells of Monroe were architects and W. S. Salley of Monroe prime contractor. Subcontractors included:

Thorpe Insulation, Houston; Portman Steel Construction, Monroe; Mosher Steel, Shreveport; Jackson Stone Co., Jackson; Prophit - Holmes, Monroe; Figue Co., Atkins, Monroe; the Strong Co., Pine Bluff; A. H. Recouley, Monroe; Harold Lipper Co., Shreveport; and Monroe Brick & Builders Supply, Monroe.

Windham Woodwork & Supply, Shreveport; McElroy Electric & Supply, West Monroe; Electronic Contractors, Monroe; Ellis T. White Painting Contractor, Monroe; and Covington Sheet Metal Works, Monroe.

The college is planning in the near future an appreciation dinner in the dining hall to honor those responsible for its rapid completion, Nicholson said.

Road Bandits Are Arrested By Officers

LANCASTER, Calif. (UPI)—A band of highwaymen who terrorized motorists throughout the southwest during the past five months by posing as police was broken up Friday when their illiterate leader was caught because he refused to dim his headlights.

Barrel chested Elton H. Hale, 42, an ex-convict and hog rancher, admitted leading the "red light" marauders during the raids in California, Arizona, Texas and Arkansas, during which several women and a 12-year-old girl were raped and motorists beaten, chained and robbed.

Hale, who drawled "I hate people" after his arrest by California highway patrolmen, identified his accomplices as E. J. Minor, 31, and Leroy Coates, 27, of Yuma, Ariz. They were arrested in the Arizona city.

Another man was being sought in Livermore, Calif., where Hale had a hog ranch which he left in May, telling his wife and six children he was going "to pick cotton."

Hale was arrested with his 17-year-old son Robert as they drove on California 138 near this desert community. He refused to dim his lights when he met a highway patrol cruiser. The cruiser turned around to warn him about the lights when officers noticed the car was sought in an all points bulletin.

Hale—as did his accomplices—gave up without a fight. Officers found a .45 caliber pistol in the car along with a red spotlight that could be rigged up with special wiring under the dash. Hale admitted serving time in Arkansas for cattle rustling and robbery.

The boy was cleared of any implication in the highway crimes. He said he had been picking cotton near Yuma until his 5-foot-11 father picked him up Wednesday night.

"What they say I've done is true," Hale told his son after confessing to deputies. "I don't want you to do nothing like this. The cops will have to hold you here for awhile, but afterwards I want you to go home and take care of your mother and brother and sisters and work hard."

At his hog ranch near Livermore—in northern California—officers said they found "thousands of dollars worth of loot" taken from motorists, including jewelry, watches and money.

Sounds Of Gaiety Echo In Dormitory

Dormitory life contains some of the elements of home for Northeast coeds who are still new to the idea of living away from familiar surroundings.

In some instances there are three students to a room, but a touch of feminine ingenuity has transformed the rooms into delightful living quarters that are spacious and attractively furnished.

Northeast is typical of many colleges facing an increasing enrollment. With new construction meeting the demands there is no problem of overcrowding.

At Women's Dormitory No. 1, many of the rooms house three students. In one of these rooms live three attractive freshmen, Melba Riels, Linda Eubanks and Ann Garrett, all of Bastrop. Ann and Linda are secretarial science majors and Melba is a nursing student.

These roommates are close friends and share many of the same interests. They also have the same ideas on room decorating.

When they moved into their dormitory room they immediately began arranging the furniture, putting up curtains, fastening mementos of a collegiate nature on the walls and adding frills to a bare corner.

The heavy weave bedspreads, dark brown in color, are identical and match the drapes covering the windows and closet area. When the room is used as a place of study or a gathering of friends, small blue "throw pillows" dot the beds creating a bright color contrast.

Now that the fall term is underway the Northeast dormitory rooms are echoing with sounds of gaiety as new friendships become cemented during parties and homework sessions.

JUDGE DENIES DIVORCE

Husband Is Found Hiding In Bedroom

LONDON (AP) — A wife who caught her husband hiding in another woman's bedroom learned to her surprise Friday that she had no grounds for divorce.

"In my judgement," said Justice Sir Geoffrey Wingham, "his disappearance into the bedroom is very nearly equally as consistent with innocence as with guilt."

What happened?

James Record paid an evening visit on Ann Bird. They were sitting talking in Mrs. Bird's kitchen when there was a rap on the window. Record fled into an adjoining bedroom and hid behind some curtains.

The wife, Luise Record, entered the kitchen, pushed into the bedroom and sighted her husband's shoes beneath the curtain.

"Come out, James, I've got you," she said.

Emerging from behind the curtains, the husband said he was relieved to find the person who rapped on the kitchen window was his wife. He said he thought the window-rapper was Lil, a woman who lived next door.

After hearing the evidence, the judge said: "The wife says he fled as guilty husbands have done throughout history and in many a farce—because he suspected his wife had come to find him out."

He added that this was a "possible explanation" of what happened, but not the only explanation.

"Whether the husband thought it was Lil—with whom he'd had an argument—or whether it was his wife, it seems to me he would inevitably go and hide somewhere," said the judge.

"I don't think any inference can be drawn except that the husband is singularly inept at hiding himself."

With that he dismissed the wife's suit.

Strict Absentee Rules Imposed

BATON ROUGE (AP) — The State Board of Education Friday clamped down on university and college students who miss classes.

The board approved a recommendation by the presidents' council, a group made up of the heads of the nine colleges and universities under board authority.

Students who miss more than the limit face expulsion. The board recommended that the new rules be put into effect immediately.

Louisiana State University, which has its own board of supervisors to make such rules, is not affected by the curbs.

The board also approved $1,541,441 in federal funds under the National Defense Education Act to be distributed to parish school systems to pay for federally backed programs in guidance and testing and in mathematics, science and foreign language fields.

The board approved a change order in the contract of C. O. Cooley of Ruston, on a University of Southwestern Louisiana building project to give the firm an additional $16,587 to cover foundation costs. Increased rainfall during August caused earth around foundation holes to cave in and require an alteration in the foundation design.

Charges Dropped

A charge of driving while intoxicated against Donovan Brandao of 3402 S. Grand St. has been dismissed by City Judge W. M. Harper. Harper said, "the blood test saved him."

U.S. Clinics Group Hears Dr. Lee Talk

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Dr. Russell V. Lee of Palo Alto, Calif., president of the American Association of Medical Clinics, said Friday the government must guarantee access to health services if the individual is unable to do so.

Lee, addressing the group's annual convention, called on the government and the medical profession to join to meet the challenge of delivering adequate medical care to all Americans.

Delegates from 140 clinics in 37 states and Canada are attending the convention which ends Saturday.

Dr. Lee suggested private means to provide medical services, but "public means should be used for their payment when this is an obligation of the government."

He suggested a prepaid health insurance plan developed by private hands with policies purchased by the government for personnel under its care.

"Group practice," said Lee, "provides the most efficient and most closely quality-controlled device for medical care. It is my firm belief that the only hope for the avoidance of governmental medicine lies in the great extension of group practice combined with direct pre-payment plans."

Dr. Edwin P. Jordan, of Charlottesville, Va., executive director of the association, said the "great challenge facing all medical clinics is the possibility of being frozen into undesirable patterns by government control."

Dr. Harold D. Caylor of Bluffton, Ind., was elevated from president-elect to president of the association.

A co-founder of the Caylor-Nickel Clinic in Bluffton, he is a director and past president of the Indiana State Tuberculosis Association, a diplomat of the American Board of Surgery, a fellow of the American College of Surgery and of the American Medical Association, and is a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

STATE SOLON SAYS

Voting Machines Can Be 'Rigged'

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Rep. Lionel Grizzaffi, member of the Joint Legislative Committee to investigate vote machine rigging, said Friday outsiders interfered with the committee's report.

The St. Marish Parish lawmakers said also that a Louisiana State University expert showed without a doubt that voting machines can be rigged to show undetected false returns, but Gov. Jimmie H. Davis' voting machine purchase board still is buying new ones.

Grizzaffi talked to newsmen at a conference here.

"Why should we purchase more machines," Grizzaffi asked, "knowing that the machines can be rigged?"

The Davis board earlier announced machines would be purchased on condition that manufacturers must make what the board called minor modifications first.

The board gave as its reason a need for more machines in the coming general election, but Grizzaffi said the Democratic first primary last December and the second primary were handled with the machines on hand.

There is no need to spend $800,000 on new machines, Grizzaffi said, when the general election, even with 55 constitutional amendments on the ballot, cannot compare with the earlier ones.

Grizzaffi praised the joint legislative committee, headed by Rep. John Lewis of Beauregard Parish, as an independent group that is trying hard to do a good job for the public.

He declined, however, to identify the outsiders he said interfered with the report made public Thursday.

In that report, the voting machine committee called on the state Voting Machine Board to

Registration Books Closed

The Ouachita Parish voter registration books are closed until Wednesday, Nov. 9 — the day after the presidential election.

Approximately 500 people became registered voters this week, in the last-minute rush before the books closed.

State law prohibits registration during the 30 days before any election.

Books for Monroe closed at 5 p.m. Wednesday, for the Nov. 5 city recreation bond issue election. For the parish, books closed at 5 p.m. yesterday.

If the city of West Monroe calls for a recreation bond issue election in November — and indications are that this may be done — the West Monroe registration rolls won't reopen until after that election.

"Come out, James, I've got you," she said.

Emerging from behind the curtains, the husband said he was relieved to find the person who rapped on the kitchen window was his wife. He said he thought the window-rapper was Lil, a woman who lived next door.

After hearing the evidence, the judge said: "The wife says he fled as guilty husbands have done throughout history and in many a farce—because he suspected his wife had come to find him out."

He added that this was a "possible explanation" of what happened, but not the only explanation.

"Whether the husband thought it was Lil—with whom he'd had an argument—or whether it was his wife, it seems to me he would inevitably go and hide somewhere," said the judge.

"I don't think any inference can be drawn except that the husband is singularly inept at hiding himself."

With that he dismissed the wife's suit.

Strict Absentee Rules Imposed

BATON ROUGE (AP)—The State Board of Education Friday clamped down on university and college students who miss classes.

The board approved a recommendation by the presidents' council, a group made up of the heads of the nine colleges and universities under board authority.

Students who miss more than the limit face expulsion. The board recommended that the new rules be put into effect immediately.

Louisiana State University, which has its own board of supervisors to make such rules, is not affected by the curbs.

The board also approved $1,541,441 in federal funds under the National Defense Education Act to be distributed to parish school systems to pay for federally backed programs in guidance and testing and in mathematics, science and foreign language fields.

The board approved a change order in the contract of C. O. Cooley of Ruston, on a University of Southwestern Louisiana building project to give the firm an additional $16,587 to cover foundation costs. Increased rainfall during August caused earth around foundation holes to cave in and require an alteration in the foundation design.

Charges Dropped

A charge of driving while intoxicated against Donovan Brandao of 3402 S. Grand St. has been dismissed by City Judge W. M. Harper. Harper said, "the blood test saved him."

Today's Forest Festival Events

Friday was school day at the festival when all the white schools in the parish sent the students to the fair for the day.

Rodeo finals will be tonight at 8 p.m.

STATE SOLON SAYS

Voting Machines Can Be 'Rigged'

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Rep. Lionel Grizzaffi, member of the Joint Legislative Committee to investigate vote machine rigging, said Friday outsiders interfered with the committee's report.

The St. Marish Parish lawmaker said also that a Louisiana State University expert showed without a doubt that voting machines can be rigged to show undetected false returns, but Gov. Jimmie H. Davis' voting machine purchase board still is buying new ones.

Grizzaffi talked to newsmen at a conference here.

"Why should we purchase more machines," Grizzaffi asked "knowing that the machines can be rigged?"

The Davis board earlier announced machines would be purchased on condition that manufacturers must make what the board called minor modifications first.

The board gave as its reason a need for more machines in the coming general election, but Grizzaffi said the Democratic first primary last December and the second primary were handled with the machines on hand.

There is no need to spend $800,000 on new machines, Grizzaffi said, when the general election, even with 55 constitutional amendments on the ballot, cannot compare with the earlier ones.

Grizzaffi praised the joint legislative committee, headed by Rep. John Lewis of Beauregard Parish, as an independent group that is trying hard to do a good job for the public.

He declined, however, to identify the outsiders he said interfered with the report made public Thursday.

In that report, the voting machine committee called on the state Voting Machine Board to cancel orders for new machines unless modified. The report gave several reasons it said unmodified machines would be subject to tampering.

Grizzaffi said he also believed C. Saxton, mechanic who started the vote machines investigation with claims of rigging, should be given "one of the greatest trophies ever given to anybody in Louisiana."

Saxton is under indictment by the East Baton Rouge Parish grand jury for tampering with a voting machine. The indictment grew out of a filmed incident in which Saxton said he demonstrated a vote machine rigging. The film was widely televised.

Grizzaffi said the committee had agreed on a rough draft of its report and outsiders caused it to be changed. Because of the changes, he said, he became the only member of the seven-man group to refrain from signing the report.

Members of the committee are Lewis, Grizzaffi, Reps. Risley Triche of Assumption Parish, Fred Decuir of Iberia Parish, and Sens. B. H. Rogers of Grand Cane, Sylvan Friedman of Natchitoches, and J. C. Gilbert of Sicily Island.

Grizzaffi said Nathaniel Terry, LSU mechanic, "could change the vote from one candidate to another without the protective counter registering at any time."

U.S. Clinics Group Hears Dr. Lee Talk

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Dr. Russell V. Lee of Palo Alto, Calif., president of the American Association of Medical Clinics, said Friday the government must guarantee access to health services if the individual is unable to do so.

Lee, addressing the group's annual convention, called on the government and the medical profession to join to meet the challenge of delivering adequate medical care to all Americans.

Delegates from 140 clinics in 37 states and Canada are attending the convention which ends Saturday.

Dr. Lee suggested private means to provide medical services, but "public means should be used for their payment when this is an obligation of the government."

He suggested a prepaid health insurance plan developed by private hands with policies purchased by the government for personnel under its care.

"Group practice," said Lee, "provides the most efficient and most closely quality-controlled device for medical care. It is my firm belief that the only hope for the avoidance of governmental medicine lies in the great extension of group practice combined with direct pre-payment plans."

Dr. Edwin P. Jordan, of Charlottesville, Va., executive director of the association, said the "greatest challenge facing all medical clinics is the possibility of being frozen into undesirable patterns by government control."

Dr. Harold D. Caylor of Bluffton, Ind., was elevated from president-elect to president of the association.

A co-founder of the Caylor-Nickel Clinic in Bluffton, he is a director and past president of the Indiana State Tuberculosis Association, a diplomat of the American Board of Surgery, a fellow of the American College of Surgery and of the American Medical Association, and is a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Howard To Talk To Pharmacy Meet On Monday

Monroe Mayor W. L. (Jack) Howard will speak to a pharmacy meeting at Northeast Louisiana State College Monday night.

The mayor will address the first meeting of the school year of the American Pharmaceutical Association (Student Branch). The session will be held at 7 p.m. in the Fine Arts Auditorium on the Northeast campus.

Members of the association said the public is invited.

The purpose of the student organization is to give information to the student on current problems in the profession and to provide opportunity for development of leadership in all phases of pharmaceutical practice.

Eight Are Fined In State Court

Eight persons were fined $25 and costs in the Monroe city court session for state cases Thursday on various charges.

Those fined and the charges against them were Jack Larkin, Negro, 1903 Conover, Monroe, reckless driving; Reginald J. Root, 35 Daniels Avenue, Trenton, N. J., reckless driving; Mose Thomas, Negro, Rt. 1, Monroe, simple obstruction of a highway of commerce; George S. Camp, 607 Natchitoches, West Monroe, reckless driving; Cecil C. Eley, 316 Van Avenue, Bastrop, reckless driving; Jessie Rutland, Negro, 1112 McGuire, Monroe, no drivers license; Buford J. Huckleberry, Negro, 521 Atkinson St., Monroe, reckless driving; Roy W. Eley, Rt. 3, Box 212, Monroe, reckless driving.

Nick B. Bonnett, no address listed, was found not guilty on a peace warrant charging that he threatened a man. Daniel Henderson, Negro, no address listed, was discharged on oath to keep the peace after being charged with threatening a man.

Board Member Is Recuperating

Monroe City School Board member Frank Breese is recuperating in Schumpert Hospital at Shreveport, after undergoing surgery Tuesday.

Mrs. Breese indicated that he will be in the hospital for some time. He is in room 738. No visitors are allowed yet.

Registration

Books Closed

The Ouachita Parish voter registration books are closed until Wednesday, Nov. 9 — the day after the presidential election.

Approximately 500 people became registered voters this week, in the last-minute rush before the books closed.

State law prohibits registration during the 30 days before any election.

Books for Monroe closed at 5 p.m. Wednesday, for the Nov. 5 city recreation bond issue election. For the parish, books closed at 5 p.m. yesterday.

If the city of West Monroe calls for a recreation bond issue election in November — and indications are that this may be done — the West Monroe registration rolls won't reopen until after that election.

Laos Premier Declares U.S. Suspends Aid

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma announced Friday American military aid to Laos has been suspended. A U.S. announcement to the same effect was made and then denied as incorrect earlier this week, causing a minor uproar.

The American Embassy here declined confirmation or denial of Phouma's announcement. But an embassy spokesman indicated that little, if any, U.S. aid has been delivered to this civil war-torn country in recent days.

Gen. Williston B. Palmer, director of American military aid, announced in Saigon last Saturday that aid was being suspended. Palmer said that "until there is stabilization, it is difficult to send anything anywhere and know what is going to happen to it."

The American Embassy here said on Monday that Palmer's statement was a mistake and had been made "without instructions."

The embassy said at the time: "In fact, U.S. military aid to Laos has not been suspended."

Souvanna said today American military aid was suspended early this week. He said the United States has not paid the Laotian armies since August.

Before the Aug. 9 coup d'etat put Souvanna's neutralist government into power, the United States poured an average of $40 million in aid into Laos each year. The Laotian armies have been supported entirely by that aid.

Palmer's original statement provoked charges that the United States was engaged in a "pressure pay" against Souvanna's neutralist government amid threats by some Laotian officials to turn to the Communist bloc for help.

Laotians feel the United States, favoring the right-wing rebel regime of Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, is turning its aid on and off in an effort to force Souvanna to come to terms with Phoumi.

It is also believed here that the United States feels a compromise settlement between Souvanna and the pro-Communist Pathet Lao rebels, with whom peace talks are to start Saturday would open the door to Communist penetration of this strategically located Southeast Asian kingdom.

Observers point out that Laos's three-cornered civil war could well have held up military supplies from the United States, but they say that is no reason to stop paying Laotian armies.

Twice In One Inning

DENVER (AP)—Cool Veal, Denver Bears shortstop, was hit twice by an Indianapolis pitcher in the same inning, although he was at bat only once. Veal trotted to first after being hit with a pitch. Then the pitcher threw to first trying to catch him off base and the ball hit Veal again. He scampered to second before the ball could be retrieved.

U.S. Reports Jobless Rise In 5 Areas

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government Friday added five of the nation's major production centers to its list of areas with "substantial" unemployment. This means that 6 per cent or more of the labor force in those areas can't find jobs.

The Labor Department also reported that surveys of employer hiring plans indicated little, if any, improvement in the job picture during the next month or so.

The new cities placed in the "depressed areas" category were Birmingham, Ala.; San Diego, Calif.; Jersey City, N.J.; Canton, Ohio; and Muskegon-Muskegon Heights, Mich. Forty-two of 150 major industrial centers surveyed by the government now have substantial unemployment.

The Muskegon - Muskegon Heights area also was placed on the government's list of production centers with "chronic" unemployment problems. This list now includes 22 major areas and 74 smaller points.

The 42 areas listed as having substantial unemployment compared with 37 in July, 35 a year ago and 89 during the 1958 recession.

Three areas — Milwaukee and Kenosha, Wis., and Columbus, Ohio — were shifted into a category denoting "moderate" unemployment of 3 to 6 per cent. During the last survey in July they were listed as having "low" unemployment.

One smaller area, Southridge-Webster, Mass., was added to a list of less populous areas with heavy unemployment. Another such city, Thompsonville, Conn., was removed to the number of areas in this category remained at 116. This compared with 124 such areas last September.

The Labor Department said its surveys of employers "indicated little net change in total non-farm employment to late autumn." It said half of the 150 areas look for some job gains over the next few months, but that the increases probably will be counterbalanced by cutbacks in other areas.

Job improvements were expected mainly in non-manufacturing activities, with the largest gains foreseen in trade when it begins its usual pre-Christmas upsurge next month.

Davis Invites

Truman Visit

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Gov. Jimmie H. Davis today asked former President Harry S. Truman to "break bread" with him Oct. 22.

The governor relayed the invitation through Truman's secretary after trying unsuccessfully to personally reach him by telephone.

Truman, in a swing through the deep South for the Democratic presidential ticket of John Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson, will speak at the Abbeville dairy festival.

Davis asked Truman to stop by the mansion for a brief visit en route to the Abbeville engagement.

The governor earlier emphasized he is not working directly with any party organization in the presidential race.

End In Miami

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — After four days of free rides, Miami bus passengers were set afoot again Friday when owner William D. Pawley ended a unique arrangement that kept the buses rolling during negotiation of strike issues. Pawley, owner of the Miami Transit and Miami Beach Railway companies, called all buses into the terminal effective at 6:30 p.m. He blamed the drivers, declaring that they had broken an agreement that they would accept no tips from riders.

STOLE FOR LOVER

Brunette Sentenced In $500,000 Theft

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (UPI)—A shapely brunette who bought her husband a liquor store and paid her lover's alimony with $500,000 she embezzled from her employer was sentenced Friday to 18 months to four years in prison.

Mrs. Elissa Vaccaro, 39, could have been given a maximum of 130 years on 14 counts of forgery and grand larceny for her five year life of luxury financed by dipping into the till of the U.S. Knitwear Co., of Port Chester, N.Y.

She will be eligible for parole in 13 months.

Mrs. Vaccaro was charged specifically with the theft of only $13,751 while working as a $135-a-week bookkeeper for the company, whose officials said they had treated her "like one of the family."

But a check of the company books showed that $500,000 had been taken through a complicated check forging scheme.

In court with the statuesque brunette was her husband, Richard, who stood by her despite her admissions that she had given

Police Locate

Hiding Place

For Bank Loot

MERIDIAN, Miss. (AP) — Meridian police said Friday they have found the hiding place two men planned to use for the loot they hoped to get from banks at Meridian and Stonewall.

Police said Homer Lee and Stanford Puckett, both under arrest on federal warrants charging conspiracy to rob banks, prepared a 20-gallon garbage can to receive the money. The can was buried in a remote spot off state highway 39 in a thinly populated section of north Meridian. It was covered with dried pine branches.

The men were arrested Wednesday after officers had kept them under surveillance several days following a tip from an undisclosed source.

Puckett was arrested in a telephone booth a few feet from the Stonewall bank officers said he planned to rob. They had planned to wait until he went into the bank but sprang the trap ahead of time because a woman and two small children had gone inside.

Lee was arrested a short time later in Meridian.

The FBI, state, county and city officers cooperated in the case.

Admits Nigeria

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The General Assembly Friday admitted Nigeria into the United Nations as the 99th member.

The assembly acted unanimously without a record vote in adopting a resolution for the purpose submitted by all the British Commonwealth countries plus Tunisia. The 11-nation Security Council had recommended the admission only two hours earlier with unanimous adoption of a resolution sponsored by Britain, Ceylon and Tunisia.

The federation of Nigeria became independent of Britain last Saturday. It is the 17th country to become a U.N. member since the assembly's current session began Sept. 20. There are no more presently eligible candidates for membership.

John Wayne Feted

CAMP LEJEUNE, N.C. (AP)—Marines of the 2nd Division here have selected screen actor John Wayne as their favorite "mythical" squad leader. Actor Aldo Ray polled 1,933 votes and Jeffery Hunter, 1,074. All have portrayed tough Marines on the screen. The balloting, sponsored by the division, was a reminder to the Marines to register and file absentee votes on Nov. 8. As a result, more than 2,500 absentee ballot applications were handed out.

Voice Of Broadway

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

Friends of Jason Robards Jr., believe the separation action started by his wife, Rachel, will be settled out of court. They don't think he'll want to subject Lauren Bacall to any further publicity until he's in a position to make her the next Mrs. Robards. Broadway is happier because of a new hit — "Irma La Douce" — a musical packed with the gaiety and flair and innocently wicked satire of Paris. Elizabeth Seal is the big news of the show; she's an enchanting pixie who combines the acting-singing-dancing talents of Leslie Caron, Carol Haney and Gwen Verdon. But Keith Michell as the hero is another delight, and the narrator, Clive Revill, is such a splendid pantomimist he should be elevated to star billing immediately.

Debbie Reynolds' best friends are waging that she'll be honeymooning with Harry Karl in the Bahamas in February. Meanwhile Harry's daughter Judy has started divorce proceedings against Paul Raffles, the Chicago case operator. "Once Upon a Mattress," which was so well received in New York (the songs being by Dick Rodgers' daughter, Mary) was clobbered by the London critics.

During a wardrobe fitting for her upcoming flicker, "The Misfits," somebody asked Marilyn Monroe what she thought of the various "best-dressed" lists, and she answered, "With the distorted emphasis some people place on correct attire, it's no wonder we have so many nudists in America." (Very funny reply, if you've seen "Let's Make Love," in which Marilyn's seductive torso is displayed in almost nudist-camp detail.) Are you ready for "another Johnny Mathis?" Word out of Buffalo has it that a singer named Bobby Brooks will make a big name when he hits New York. Ethel Merman is one of the great show business stars campaigning for Vice-President Richard Nixon — but nobody in hip political circles thinks that will offset the Jack Paar stigma.

Cantinflas, making his first publicity junket for a movie in the United States, isn't about to be swamped with offers of TV appearances in his native land, Mexico.

The comedian has set a firm price of $4,000 for personal appearances on the video screen, and that sum is unheard of South of the Border. Veronica Lake's biography, as yet untitled, has been bought by Doubleday for publication in 1961.

U. S. scientists must keep quiet about it, but the most startling missile event in history is being timed for Nov. 1, or close to that date. Sophia Loren's frequent fainting spells have caused her European colleagues to predict she's expecting a baby. The other actors were also influenced by her mother admonition: "Do you want to kill my daughter? You must treat her carefully in her condition."

There's a Lenny Bruce registered as an ulcer victim at University Hospital. Is it OUR Lenny Bruce, the night club comedian? The first big name night club to open in Northern New Jersey since the Riviera folded in C'est Si Bon, slated to make its debut in Cliffside Park. The management promises such attractions as Bobby Darin, Sammy Davis Jr., and Mort Sahl. Paulette Goddard astonished fellow diners at the Hob Nob the other night when she showed them a flask of Mme. Schiaparelli's latest creation—six ounces of pink vodka, not intended for the ear lobes or collarbone.

When the Yankees won the pennant, they chased the wolf away from the door of many a local ticket broker. The speculators had suffered their worst Summer in 20 years, starting with the theatre strike and going right through the railroad strike and other causes to make it a season for the blues.

Broadwayites who've caught "Laurette" out of town describe it as "well-meaning but frightfully dull." Monte Proser, after auditioning acts for months, has decided to get out of the rat race for "names." His new Broadway spot, set to open in November, will have no big acts—just a policy of lavish food and service. William Holden is apt to flip when he sees the trade ads for "Suzie Wong." They feature Nancy Kwan, the young girl who plays the title role, and Academy Award winning Bill is relegated to a small mention at the bottom of the ad. Shelly Winters turned up with a handsome young man at Basin Street East the other night, but nobody could identify him; they simply described him as "the Tony Franciosa type." One of Tennessee Williams' friends predicts that from now on the great playwright will pen nothing but "happy, heterosexual plays." (The big news for Tennessee: Sometimes even heterosexuals are unhappy.)

Fish Got Two Lines

MOUNTAIN HOME, ARK. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Jerry McClurg of Homewood, Ill., were fishing together at Bull Shoals Lake near here when each got a strike. They combined to haul in a 9 pound 13 ounce bass which had grabbed one bait, then the other.

Laos Premier Declares U.S. Suspends, Aid

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma announced Friday American military aid to Laos has been suspended. A U.S. announcement to that effect was made and then denied as incorrect earlier this week, causing a minor uproar.

The American Embassy here declined confirmation or denial of Phouma's announcement. But an embassy spokesman indicated that little, if any, U.S. aid has been delivered to this civil war-torn country in recent days.

Gen. Williston B. Palmer, director of American military aid, announced in Saigon last Saturday that aid was being suspended. Palmer said that "until there is stabilization, it is difficult to send anything anywhere and know what is going to happen to it."

The American Embassy here said on Monday that Palmer's statement was a mistake and had been made "without instructions."

The embassy said at the time: "In fact, U.S. military aid to Laos has not been suspended."

Souvanna said today American military aid was suspended early this week. He said the United States has not paid the Laotian armies since August.

Before the Aug. 9 coup d'etat put Souvanna's neutralist government into power, the United States poured an average of $40 million in aid into Laos each year. The Laotian armies have been supported entirely by that aid.

Palmer's original statement provoked charges that the United States was engaged in a "pressure pay" against Souvanna's neutralist government amid threats by some Laotian officials to turn to the Communist bloc for help.

Laotians feel the United States, favoring the right-wing rebel regime of Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, is turning its aid on and off in an effort to force Souvanna to come to terms with Phoumi.

It is also believed here that the United States feels a compromise settlement between Souvanna and the pro-Communist Pathet Lao rebels, with whom peace talks are to start Saturday would open the door to Communist penetration of this strategically located Southeast Asian kingdom. Observers point out that Laos's three-cornered civil war could well have held up military supplies from the United States, but they say that is no reason to stop paying Laotian armies.

Twice In One Inning
DENVER (AP)—Coot Veal, Denver Bears shortstop, was hit twice by an Indianapolis pitcher in the same inning, although he was at bat only once. Veal trotted to first after being hit with a pitch. Then the pitcher threw to first trying to catch him off base and the ball hit Veal again. He scampered to second before the ball could be retrieved.

U.S. Reports Jobless Rise In 5 Areas

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government Friday added five of the nation's major production centers to its list of areas with "substantial" unemployment. This means that 6 per cent or more of the labor force in those areas can't find jobs.

The Labor Department also reported that surveys of employer hiring plans indicated little, if any, improvement in the job picture during the next month or so.

The new cities placed in the "depressed areas" category were Birmingham, Ala.; San Diego, Calif.; Jersey City, N.J.; Canton, Ohio; and Muskegon-Muskegon Heights, Mich. Forty-two of 150 major industrial centers surveyed by the government now have substantial unemployment.

The Muskegon-Muskegon Heights area was placed on the government's list of production centers with "chronic" unemployment problems. This list now includes 22 major areas and 74 smaller points.

The 42 areas listed as having substantial unemployment compared with 37 in July, 35 a year ago and 89 during the 1958 recession.

Three areas — Milwaukee and Kenosha, Wis., and Columbus, Ohio—were shifted into a category denoting "moderate" unemployment of 3 to 6 per cent. During the last survey in July they were listed as having "low" unemployment.

One smaller area, Southridge, Webster, Mass., was added to a list of less populous areas with heavy unemployment. Another such city, Thompsonville, Conn., was removed to the number of areas in this category remained at 116. This compared with 124 such areas last September.

The Labor Department said its surveys of employers "indicated little net change in total non-farm employment to late autumn." It said half of the 150 areas look for some job gains over the next few months, but that the increases probably will be counterbalanced by cutbacks in other areas.

Job improvements were expected mainly in non-manufacturing activities, with the largest gains foreseen in trade when it begins its usual pre-Christmas upsurge next month.

Davis Invites Truman Visit

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Gov. Jimmie H. Davis today asked former President Harry S. Truman to "break bread" with him Oct. 22.

The governor relayed the invitation through Truman's secretary after trying unsuccessfully to personally reach him by telephone.

Truman, in a swing through the deep South for the Democratic presidential ticket of John Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson, will speak at the Abbeville dairy festival.

Davis asked Truman to stop by the mansion for a brief visit en route to the Abbeville engagement.

Free Bus Rides End In Miami

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—After four days of free rides, Miami bus passengers were set afoot again Friday when owner William D. Pawley ended a unique arrangement that kept the buses rolling during negotiation of strike issues. Pawley, owner of the Miami Transit and Miami Beach Railway companies, called all buses into the terminal effective at 6:30 p.m. He blamed the drivers, declaring that they had broken an agreement that they would accept no tips from riders.

STOLE FOR LOVER

Brunette Sentenced In $500,000 Theft

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (UPI)—A shapely brunette who bought her husband a liquor store and paid her lover's alimony with $500,000 she embezzled from her employer was sentenced Friday to 18 months to four years in prison.

Mrs. Elissa Vaccaro, 39, could have been given a maximum of 120 years on 14 counts of forgery and grand larceny for her five year life of luxury financed by dipping into the till of the U.S. Knitwear Co., of Port Chester, N.Y.

She will be eligible for parole in 18 months.

Mrs. Vaccaro was charged specifically with the theft of only $31,751 while working as a $135-a-week bookkeeper for the company, whose officials said they had treated her "like one of the family." But a check of the company books showed that $500,000 had been taken through a complicated check forging scheme.

In court with the statuesque brunette was her husband, Richard, who stood by her despite her admissions that she had given

Police Locate Hiding Place For Bank Loot

MERIDIAN, Miss. (AP)—Meridian police said Friday they have found the hiding place two men planned to use for the loot they hoped to get from banks at Meridian and Stonewall.

Police said Homer Lee and Stanford Puckett, both under arrest on federal warrants charging conspiracy to rob banks, prepared a 20-gallon garbage can to receive the money. The can was buried in a remote spot off state highway 39 in a thinly populated section of north Meridian. It was covered with dried pine branches.

The men were arrested Wednesday after officers had kept them under surveillance several days following a tip from an undisclosed source.

Puckett was arrested in a telephone booth a few feet from the Stonewall bank officers said he planned to rob. They had planned to wait until he went into the bank but sprang the trap ahead of time because a woman and two small children had gone inside.

Lee was arrested a short time later in Meridian.

The FBI, state, county and city officers cooperated in the case.

United Nations Admits Nigeria

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The General Assembly Friday admitted Nigeria into the United Nations as the 99th member.

The assembly acted unanimously without a record vote in adopting a resolution for the purpose submitted by all the British Commonwealth countries plus Tunisia.

The 11-nation Security Council had recommended the admission only two hours earlier with unanimous adoption of a resolution sponsored by Britain, Ceylon and Tunisia.

The federation of Nigeria became independent of Britain last Saturday. It is the 17th country to become a U.N. member since the assembly's current session began Sept. 20. There are no more presently eligible candidates for membership.

John Wayne Feted

CAMP LEJEUNE, N.C. (AP)—Marines of the 2nd Division here have selected screen actor John Wayne as their favorite "mythical" squad leader. Actor Aldo Ray polled 1,993 votes and Jeffery Hunter, 1,074. All have portrayed tough Marines on the screen. The balloting, sponsored by the division, was a reminder to the Marines to register and file absentee votes on Nov. 8. As a result, more than 2,500 absentee ballot applications were handed out.

Voice Of Broadway

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

Friends of Jason Robards Jr., believe the separation action started by his wife, Rachel, will be settled out of court. They don't think he'll want to subject Lauren Bacall to any further publicity until he's in a position to make her the next Mrs. Robards. Broadway is happier because of a new hit — "Irma La Douce" — a musical packed with the gaiety and flair and innocently wicked satire of Paris. Elizabeth Seal is the big news of the show; she's an enchanting pixie who combines the acting-singing-dancing talents of Leslie Caron, Carol Haney and Gwen Verdon. But Keith Michell as the hero is another delight, and the narrator, Clive Revill, is such a splendid pantomimist he should be elevated to star billing immediately.

Debbie Reynolds' best friends are waging that she'll be honeymooning with Harry Karl in the Bahamas in February. Meanwhile Harry's daughter Judy has started divorce proceedings against Paul Raffles, the Chicago cafe operator. "Once Upon A Mattress," which was so well received in New York (the songs being by Dick Rodgers' daughter, Mary) was clobbered by the London critics.

During a wardrobe fitting for her upcoming flicker, "The Misfits," somebody asked Marilyn Monroe what she thought of the various "best-dressed" lists, and she answered, "With the distorted emphasis some people place on correct attire, it's no wonder we have so many nudists in America." (Very funny reply, if you've seen "Let's Make Love," in which Marilyn's seductive torso is displayed in almost nudist-camp detail.) Are you ready for "another Johnny Mathis?" Word out of Buffalo has it that a singer named Bobby Brooks will make a big noise when he hits New York. Ethel Merman is one of the great show business stars campaigning for Vice-President Richard Nixon — but nobody in hip political circles thinks

Rained Out

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — Heavy rain Friday forced cancellation of the second round of the Southeastern PGA golf tournament.

Tournament officials decided to cut the distance from 72 to 54 holes of medal play so the event still will wind up Sunday.

Tourney officials said the cancellation of Friday's play will not affect the $200 prize-amateur event or the seniors competition being held in conjunction with the meet.

Saturday's 18-hole round will be combined with Thursday's first-round scores to determine the winners in each.

Neville's Sprinters, Sturdy Defense Drops J-H, 38 To 0

By BOB ANDERSON
World Sports Editor

Neville's one-two punch—long-range racers and a rock-ribbed defense—laid out Jonesboro-Hodge, 38-0, here Friday night as the state champion Tigers rolled to their 17th straight victory and fifth shutout in a 2-AA loop contest.

Neville's quick - striking backs reeled off six runs of 20 yards or more as Bill Ruple's Tigers pushed their point total for the season to 174 while a defense anchored by brilliant tackle Dob Duncan preserved the shutout string.

Ralph Roberts streaked 35 yards for the first Neville touchdown.

Bill Becton led all ball carriers with 136 yards for an sparkling 11.3 yard average. Neal Gunn reeled off 56 yards in seven runs while fullback Roberts picked up 154 yards in only five trips.

Duncan was in on a good 75 percent of the Neville tackles in a great performance. Big John Segars, 260 pounds, Robert Turner, Jack Younblood and Herschel Walker also turned in fine defensive work.

Beverly Franks turned in a fine game at quarterback. He completed five of seven passes for 54 yards, receivers dropping the other two throws.

Workhorse fullback Ronnie Carson and the apply - named Chessley Rocket provided most of Jonesboro - Hodge's offensive push. Carson carried 15 times for 66 yards while halfback Rocket gained 39 yards in seven carries. The big J-H line opened big holes for Carson in the early going but slacked off later on and the other Tiger backs had pretty tough going.

Tackle Fred Newman was the losers' top defender with plenty of help from Jim McKeithen, Mac Alexander and John Blake.

Neville's first touchdown came with only slightly over two minutes gone in the first half. Becton's 60 - yard dash came late in the first. He went off left tackle, got loose on the sidelines, shook off Carson and dragged safety man Jim Jones into the end zone with him.

Shortly after, Neville started its third scoring push with the help of a 27 - yard jaunt by Becton. Gunn bounced into the end zone from six yards out with 1:25 gone in the second.

Another good gallop by Becton

FOOTBALL ROUNDUP

Grid Spotlight On Big Ten Where Six Unbeaten Clash

By The Associated Press

The Big Ten holds the nation's college football spotlight Saturday when six of its seven unbeaten teams are paired against each other.

In addition, two other pairs of unbeaten, Air Force - Missouri, and Arkansas-Baylor, lock horns in a day that is going to settle the usual topsy-turvy picture prevalent so early in the season.

The top battle is between the teams ranked Nos. 4 and 5 in the current Associated Press poll, Illinois and Ohio State, which meet in Champaign Ill.

The Illini, ranked fourth, have beaten Indiana, in a game that won't count in the Big Ten standings, and West Virginia. However, the fifth-ranked Buckeyes have not yielded a point in beating Southern Methodist and Southern California.

In another conference battle almost equally attractive, third-ranked Iowa (2-0) plays Michigan State, which has tied Pitt and defeated Michigan. Iowa jumped into the thick of things a week ago with a 42-0 romp over Northwestern.

Purdue, ranked seventh after its stunning 51-19 drubbing of Notre Dame last Saturday, plays Wisconsin. The Bollermakers tied UCLA before beating the Irish while Wisconsin has easily handled Stanford and Marquette. Minnesota, the other unbeaten Big Ten eleven, meets Northwestern.

Top-ranked Syracuse gets a respite against two-time loser Holy Cross, giving some of its battered backs time to get ready for next Saturday's clash against Penn State.

Air Force and Missouri both have won three games while Arkansas, ranked ninth with a 3-0 mark, tries to get a bigger jump in the Southwest Conference race against Baylor (2-0). The Razorbacks will pit speedy backs Lance Alworth and Jo Paul Alberty against the Bears hustling halfback, Ron Bull, and a solid defense.

Three more of the top ten are busy in the South. Second-ranked Mississippi has a Southeastern Conference date against Vanderbilt while sixth-ranked Navy plays Southern Methodist in the Oyster Bowl at Norfolk, Va. Clemson, ranked eighth, plays Virginia, which has the nation's longest major college losing streak, 28.

Kansas (No. 10), still explosive after its 14-7 loss to Syracuse last week, meets equally potent Iowa State in a key Big Eight battle of running attacks.

SKINNER HURT

Bucs Confident They'll Rebound

NEW YORK (AP)—Danny Murtaugh brushed aside talk Friday his Pittsburgh Pirates are mentally and physically unsound for the New York Yankees.

"There's never been a series forfeited yet," snorted the Pirates' field manager in the visitors' dressing room before a workout in vast Yankee Stadium. "Sure Bob Skinner's got a bad thumb, but I didn't plan to use him, anyway against Whitey Ford," he said. "I'm going with my right handed lineup."

This was Murtaugh's first visit to Yankee Stadium in uniform. He's watched several games as a spectator but never played there. Was he impressed?

"Except for the left field corner the dimensions are similar to Forbes Field," said Murtaugh. "The players think it's a little rough and maybe it is."

Reminded the Yankees won 52 games at home, Murtaugh countered with:

"Then they must have lost 25."

Murtaugh said Vinegar Bend Mizell will start Saturday with another southpaw, Harvey Haddix, probably on Sunday. "Haddix will definitely start one of the three games here," he said.

Skinner spent a half hour soaking his swollen and inflamed left hand in a whirlpool bath. He jammed his thumb in the first game Wednesday but X-rays showed no breaks.

Trainer Danny Whelan said the thumb still is badly swollen and Skinner cannot grip a bat. "It's hard to say how soon he can come around," he said.

The Pirates' only other casualty, Don Hoak, seems to have recovered from an inflamed prostate gland and a temperature of 103 degrees.

"I didn't feel good in the first game," said the fiery third sacker, "but I'm feeling better every day. I feel real good."

The 163 shellacking at the hands of the Yankees in the second game of the day beginning at 3:45 p.m. EST (ABC-TV). Seven hours before this, Miami (Fla) and Pitt meet in Pittsburgh (9 a.m., EST) so as not to conflict with the World Series TV from New York.

Another top Eastern clash pits unbeaten Army (3-0) against once beaten Penn State. Ohio U., top ranked among the nation's small colleges is at Boston University.

Top intercollegiate battles find Notre Dame at winless North Carolina, Rice in the Miami Orange Bowl for a night game against unbeaten Florida, undefeated Duke at Michigan, and Oregon State at Indiana.

Louisiana State, still tough defensively but with its offense sputtering, meets Georgia Tech in a Southeastern Conference game. A sellout crowd in Dallas' Cotton Bowl will watch Oklahoma and Texas in their annual rivalry between schools laden with Texas players.

Rowan credits Northwestern with a "good sound offense and two of the finest guards in the conference, Jerry Didier and Robert Powell."

Demons, Indians Do Battle Today

2 O'Clock Tilt Homecoming At Northeast

By BOB ANDERSON
World Sports Editor

Northeast has a two-year-old score to settle with Northwestern and today could be payday.

The Demons, who don't need a Halloween setting to be frightening, wrecked a six-game Northeast winning streak and a homecoming celebration here two years ago with a Charlie Tolar-triggered 42-6 rout.

Last fall Jack Rowan's Indians almost paid the Demons back in a 24-19 homecoming squeaker at Natchitoches and hope to settle accounts this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the first Gulf States Conference game for both clubs.

To make the situation perfect, today's game will be the Indian homecoming with festivities due to begin 20 minutes before gametime in Brown Stadium.

Jack Clayton's Northwestern club carries a 2-1 record into today's game, just the opposite of the Tribe record. The Demons, sporting last week's conference "Back of the Week" in fullback J. M. Maricelli, have whipped Stephen F. Austin, 14-0, and Louisiana College, 14-6, while falling to Lamar Tech, 21-13.

Northeast won its opener over Arkansas State, 13-6, and then lost road games to Arlington, 16-0, and East Texas State, 13-6.

Northeast has not defeated Northwestern since the first game of the seven - game series begun in 1952 when the Indians took a 20-13 decision.

Northwestern goes into the game a bit better off physically than Northeast. The Tribe has two question marks, tackle Ross Noland and center Billy McGraw. Noland, who has seen very little action this year, in games or on the practice field, because of pulled muscles, didn't work out this week and is not expected to play much tonight.

McGraw sustained an eye injury this week and didn't work out Wednesday or Thursday. If McGraw doesn't play, Rowan will shake up his lineup a bit, shifting ex - center Perry Beaver from guard back to his old position and moving Tulane transfer Terry Brunet up to the Gold, or first, unit.

Northeast's top speedster, halfback Percy Cruce, has been slowed by injuries this week but is expected to start as is Al Ott, apparently back in shape after early season physical difficulties.

Quarterback Pete Vincent jammed a thumb in the East Texas game but should play.

Northeast's offense, which looked good against Arkansas State, bad against Arlington and so - so against East Texas, is built around the passing of quarterback Percy Cruce, has been slow-Webb to end Charley Barnes and the halfbacks and the running of Cruce.

Rowan credits Northwestern with a "good sound offense and two of the finest guards in the conference, Jerry Didier and Robert Powell."

SMITH SCORES

Ouachita Whips Bastrop, 7 To 0

BASTROP, La. (Special) — Ouachita halfback Ted Smith squeezed through an opening off tackle and sped 24 yards for a Lion score in the second period to give Ouachita of Monroe a 7-0 decision over winless Bastrop in a triple-A game here last night.

Smith's scoring jaunt came early in the second quarter of the game after the Lions had gained possession of the ball near midfield.

Lion quarterback James Cromwell made a key gain in the drive that led to the Ouachita score. With third down and eight to go for the first at midfield, Cromwell failed back to pass, failed to locate a receiver, and scooted around left side and found running room to pick up ten yards and a first to keep the drive alive.

Four plays later Smith took a handoff from Cromwell at the Bastrop 24 and sifted into the end zone to score for the Lions. James McManus kicked for the point.

The Rams threatened briefly in the second period of the game when quarterback Charles McGee, taking the ball around the right side on a keeper play, went 38 to the Ouachita ten. A holding penalty moved the ball back 15

VMI Halfback Leads Keydets Past Colonials

WASHINGTON (AP) — Substitute halfback Don Kern put on a four-touchdown scoring spurge Friday night to pace Virginia Institute to a 34-10 Southern Conference football triumph against George Washington University at Griffith Stadium.

It was the Keydets' fourth straight victory this year and 11th in a row over a two-season span. Kern, a 6-foot, 195-pound senior, scored three touchdowns in the second quarter after GW's Colonials had thrown a scare into VMI, defending Southern Conference champs, by grabbing a 10-0 lead in the opening period.

Passes from Frank Pazzaglia to Tony Guida and Charley Reed carried the GW Colonials to the 5 early in the game and Warren Corbin kicked a 27-yard field goal. Latter Bill Hardy passed 17 yards to John Kracola for a touchdown.

That set the stage for Kern. He scored once on a 38-yard run, then on a 54-yard pass from Howard Dyer and again on a four-yard buck. Kern scored a fourth touchdown in the third period on a 32-yard pass from Dyer.

Baylor Bears At Arkansas

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Arkansas meets Baylor Saturday in the second step in its three-week walk down the Southwest Conference murderer's row.

The Razorbacks beat Texas Christian last week, 7-0. Next week they meet Texas in Austin. The Hogs, Baylor, TCU and Texas were ranked before the season as the league's top four.

Baylor is expected to be tough after a 7-3 victory over Louisiana State last week. The Bears, with two straight victories to their credit, have the same kind of quick, solid team as the Razorbacks. They also have championship ambitions.

TWO LEAGUE GAMES

GSC Clubs Face Rough Weekend

HAMMOND, La. — It will be a rough weekend for Gulf States Conference teams, with nationally-rated Louisiana Tech in the Corpus Christi game, and seeking conference win over a rejuvenated University of Southwestern Louisiana Bulldogs and the Lions of Southeastern Louisiana College taking on a bunch of all-stars from Pensacola Naval Air Station.

In other tilts the surprising Northeast Indians play the Northwestern State Demons in a GSC encounter, and McNeese takes on non-conference Arlington State of Texas.

The Tech Bulldogs, rated No. 2 by the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics, will have to be at their best against USL. The Bulldogs squeaked to a 15-14 victory over the McNeese Cowboys last week, and the improving Lafayette eleven, after dropping a 20-10 game to Southeastern, defeated Sam Houston and swamped Stephen F. Austin, 36-0, last week.

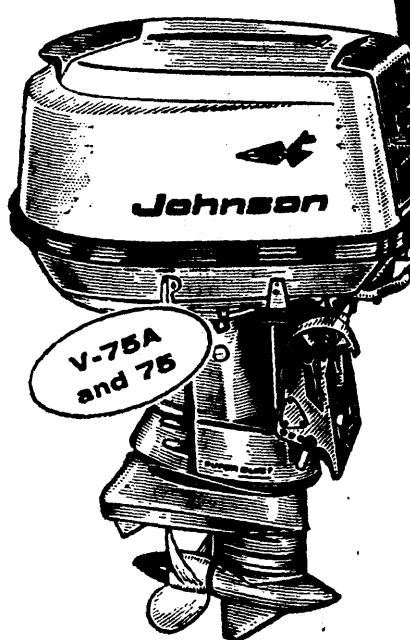

Southeastern, while having a comparatively easy time in their 40-0 win over Corpus Christi, will be playing a tough Pensacola

Up at Monroe, the Northeast Indians are preparing for their first GSC game of the season, meeting the Demons from Natchitoches. The Indians, off their 6-13 game last week against East Texas, are favored to down the Demons, who defeated stubborn Louisiana College 14-6 in their last outing.

The Cowpokes from McNeese go against Arlington State, a team which downed the Indians 16-0 two weeks ago. The Lake Charles eleven, which is smarting under their 15-14 loss to Tech, will be victorious hungry.

Reporter Asks 'Who's In Left?'

NEW YORK (AP) — A fellow Friday asked Casey Stengel who was going to play left field for New York in Saturday's third World Series game against Pittsburgh.

The Yankee manager scratched his head, screwed up his wrinkled brow, gazed up into the sky and thought deep.

"Well," Casey began, "this is not an easy left field to play because of the background and the shadows which creep up on you and even go behind you. Then there's those sun spots that come out from the cracks through the third deck and they could blind you."

"Now if you played the sun field like I did for 10 years and I used to be fairly good, not like Babe Ruth who they never let play those sun fields and they'd switch him with Bob Meusel so it would not hurt his eyes, and when you come in wearing a blue uniform into those black spots, it's like going into a dark cellar. Now you certainly got to wear sunglasses in the afternoon and sometimes you see better at night."

"Now, I had an outstanding left fielder when I came here in '49 in Charlie Keller. But he had a bad back and had an operation. Then I had Tommy Henrich and he was good, too, but he had a bad knee. Then I broke in two young fellows, which would be Hank Bauer and Gene Woodling whom I seen on the coast and they would alternate, but Bauer was green although he had a strong arm and could run but he used to be embarrassed by right-handed pitching so I switched him to right field and Woodling did an outstanding job for me for five-six years."

Because he was not a one-handed fielder but a two-handed fielder, which he was born that way.

"I had another fellow who did an outstanding job for me in left field and he was (Irv) Noren but he had bad knees, too, which was not (Norm) Siebern's trouble but his eyes and that's why I made him wear glasses and now I got (Hector) Lopez who must have something bad but I don't know what it is because he changes in on a ball — whoops — there it goes over his head so I have him play deep now."

"When you ask me about left field don't forget Yogi Berra who they say is awkward and slow but there's nobody faster fielding a ball in front of the plate but he could play anywhere you put him and he won't embarrass you because he has judgment and he has an idea how to get his hands on the ball and he has a good mind because when he sees somebody for the first time he always asks his name and next to (Joe) DiMaggio, he's the second best man who ever played for me."

"And did you notice there was quite a discussion the other day when he chased Mantle off the ball because he got a good jump on it and came all the way over from left field into Mantle's territory and so when I took him out I put in (Tony) Kubek and they hit a ball over his head and he said, 'How's it, Kid?' and he took it in stride. "Now I wanted to play Maris in left field but we had a disagreement over it and he did fairly well over there so I quit playing him there where he was unhappy because it might affect his hitting and I also found out when I played him in left I had a weakness in right so I put him in right field and he was the most outstanding player in right field for me since Bauer and if they would have closed the season after the All-Star game he would have been the biggest man in baseball."

"That's the story. Now ask me about the Pittsburgh club."

Braves Cut Schoendienst From Roster

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—The Milwaukee Braves Friday cut loose veteran second baseman Red Schoendienst, a hero of two pennant celebrations here, to signal the start of a major rebuilding effort.

Schoendienst, 37, who overcame tuberculosis to get back in the Milwaukee lineup this season, turned down a job in the Braves' organization. He said he's still healthy enough and skillful enough to help some other major league club.

Gen. Mgr. John McHale said he figured the infielder would turn down a non-playing job, and that's why he was given his unconditional release.

"Now he's free to go with the club of his choice," McHale said. Schoendienst, forecast his release a few days ago when he said he felt the Braves had no further use for him, and McHale clinched it when he was quoted at a World Series huddle in Pittsburgh as saying "We feel Red can no longer do the job."

Schoendienst, a major leaguer since 1945, and one of the National League's brightest stars in his prime, started strong this season, then went into a slump. About mid-season, slickfielding rookie Chuck Coffey took over second base, and Red got it back only once or twice.

He wound up batting .257, and playing in less than half of the team's games. Before the season started, he had predicted he would play at least 100 games. Schoendienst came to Milwaukee in June of 1957, with the club in a slump. The Braves rallied behind his leadership, and won the pennant by 8½ games. In 1958, although hobbled by injuries, he was again a key factor in a second successive pennant.

He was stricken with TB after the World Series, and didn't play again until September of 1959.

Annual Battle Of Bulldogs Set At Lafayette Tonight

RUSTON, La. (Special) — The annual battle of the Bulldogs — the upstate and downstate breeds — will take place at Lafayette Saturday night when Louisiana Tech attempts to keep its record clean in the Gulf States conference against the University of Southwestern Louisiana.

Southwestern's only loss of the season was a 20-10 defeat inflicted by Southeastern, so the downstate Canines will be trying to hang in the race for the title with a win over Tech.

USL has more experienced personnel back than any team in the GSC. Southwestern has 28

Miami Marlins May Switch To Northern City

NEW YORK (AP)—The Miami Marlins are toying with the idea of moving their franchise to either Syracuse, N.Y., or Portsmouth, Va., General Manager Joe Ryan told the International League Friday.

Ryan added, however, that if the Marlins get the "proper" support in Miami, they will remain there.

Gabe Paul, general manager of the Cincinnati Reds, announced to the meeting that he would like to keep his International League entry in Jersey City. But that, too, he added, would depend on the support given the team by local fans.

The franchise was moved from Havana to Jersey City during the past season because of political troubles in Cuba.

Loren Caffena of Arda, Ont., revealed that he had taken an option on the purchase of the Montreal Royals. The Los Angeles Dodgers recently announced they would not operate the Montreal franchise next year.

Taylor By TKO

BRISBANE, Australia (AP) — Wally Taylor, Australia's featherweight champion, won on a technical knockout over Auburn Cope-land Friday night when a shoulder injury forced the Flint, Mich., boxer to quit in the eighth round of the 10-round bout.

here," said Mizell. "We don't choke up. We haven't and we won't. This isn't a club that drops dead over one loss."

Hynes having returned two for 80 yards and Williamson two for 70 yards.

Wayne Parker has handled nearly all of Tech's punting and has averaged 36.5 yards per kick on 20 punts. Casey leads the team in scoring with 14 points.

USL holds an 8-3 win over Sam Houston State and a 36-0 romp over Stephen F. Austin. Steve Gossen, tightback left halfback and best punter in the GSC, is due to see his first action of the season against Tech after recovery from a pre-season injury.

Tech coaches have been mapping strategy for the USL game this week, with the practice sessions early in the week conducted during or after rains.

With exception of Halback Jack Howard who suffered an ankle fracture in the opener, the Tech eleven will be at full strength for the Southwestern tilt.

Tech's running game has been somewhat stymied in the last two games, but the Ruston team got two touchdowns via the aerial route last week to edge by McNeese State 15-14.

It was the passing of Mickey Slaughter and Johnny Hudson, stout line play in the second half, and the pass snatching wizardry of End Tom Causey that brought the Techsters the 15-14 win over McNeese.

Causey, who caught eight passes for 132 yards last week, has now pulled down 14 for 188 yards and two touchdowns in Tech's first three games.

Hudson and Slaughter, who share the quarterback duties, have been hitting their targets on passes all season. Hudson has connected on 10 of 18 for 108 yards and one TD while Slaughter shows 12 completions in 17 attempts for 146 yards and one TD.

Paul Hynes and David Williamson, both right halfbacks, lead the Techmen in grinding out the yardage on the ground. Williamson has 122 yards on 25 carries while Hynes has 94 yards in 26 attempts.

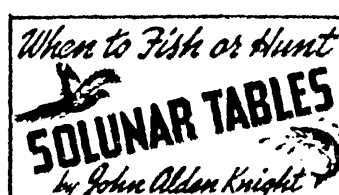

Hynes started this season having gained 1,546 yards on the ground for Tech on 275 attempts for an average gain of 5.6 yards per carry. Hynes and Williamson have also handled most of the punt and kickoff returns for Tech.

Tech To Host Indian Cross Country Team

RUSTON, La. (Special) — Louisiana Tech's cross country team will resume action here Saturday, Oct. 15, in a meet with Northeast State.

Tech and Northeast were tentatively slated to meet here this Saturday, but the date was changed to Oct. 15, Tech, the defending Gulf States conference champ, has lost both its meets so far this season to McNeese State by 25-30 and 23-32 scores.

Bob Hayes has been Tech's top distance runner this fall, finishing second in the three-mile races against the Cowboys. Fred Norris, the McNeese import from England who twice represented that nation in the Olympics, placed first in both meets, more than a minute ahead of nearest competitor on both occasions.

Bucs Laugh Off 16-3 Rout, Send Mizell Against Ford

NEW YORK (UPI) — The unimpressed Pittsburgh Pirates, battered 16 to 3 as the New York Yankees squar-

Friday as they prepared to send Wilmer Vinegar Bend Mizell against Whitey Ford, in a southpaw duel at massive Yankee Stadium.

"They've got to be wondering a little now," Yogi Berra of the Yankees summed up the general impression that the second game massacre might have broken the morale of the Pirates.

But the Bucs, 7½ to 5 underdogs for their 1 p.m. EDT debut in the vast reaches of Yankee Stadium Saturday, scoffed at the idea.

"The Series is not decided by total runs," said burly Pirate manager Danny Murtaugh. "What we did the day before never has had any bearing on our next performance."

"Psychological scar?" snorted shortstop Dick Groat, the Pirate captain. "We don't even have a scratch."

"Yesterday is forgotten and all we care about is tomorrow," added third baseman Don Hoak.

"Ridiculous," asserted center fielder Bill Virdon. "Every time we have been beaten by a big score we have been better in our next game."

The Pirates apparently were going to have ideal conditions to prove themselves when the Series resumes after a day off for travel. The forecast was for clear skies, with the temperature in the high 60's, with little or no wind to complicate fielding problems.

The Yankees, now 9 to 5 favorites to win the Series as result of their 19-11 winning barrage in the second game, were quietly confident that the stubby Ford, who had a 12-9 record this year, would put them in front as hostilities resume.

But even the decisiveness of their second game triumph didn't arrive from Pittsburgh by train at 8:30 a.m. and two hours later were taking an hour's batting practice at the stadium.

"This is just to keep their minds on baseball," winked wise old Casey Stengel, who led them to 10 pennants in 12 years. "I gave 'em a day off several times this year and they never did very well coming back. Well, this is no time to let down now."

Murtaugh led his Pirates onto the Yankee Stadium diamond for the first time at 1 p.m. for a workout "as close to game conditions as possible." He and the entire squad appeared highly confident that Mizell, who won 14 games against eight losses this season, would put them ahead again in Saturday's third game.

"I saw the Series here two years ago when the Yankees played the Braves, but I wasn't ever on this field until today," he said, staring around at the sprawling premises and paying particular attention to left field.

That spot, to be patrolled for the Bucs Saturday by Gino Cimoli.

handed hitters Hector Lopez or Bob Cerv patrolling that unpredictable left field.

"They're both capable right-handed hitters," Stengel said undecidedly, adding that he was reluctant to keep Berra on the bench. "I'll have to wait until tomorrow to decide on my lineup."

However, he did say that veteran Gil McDougald would be at third instead of slick fielding Cleatus Boyer because "he's a more experienced man."

The rest of the Yankee lineup is set with Mickey Mantle in center field, Roger Maris in right field, Moose Showron at first base, Bobby Richardson at second base and Tony Kubek at shortstop.

Ted Williams, the retired home run king of the Boston Red Sox, will throw out the first ball before close to 70,000 fans. Then the other hitters will take over — and even the superficially confident Pirates had to be wondering whether those Yankee bats would thunder as they had in that final bombardment at Pittsburgh.

Pirate Manager Says Team Ready

By JOE BRADIS
NEW YORK (AP)—Danny Murtaugh brushed aside talk Friday his Pittsburgh Pirates are mentally and physically unsound for the New York Yankees.

"There's never been a series forfeited yet," snorted the Pirates' field manager in the visitors' dressing room before a workout in vast Yankee Stadium. "Sure Bob Skinner's got a bad thumb, but I didn't plan to use him anyway against Whitey Ford," he said. "I'm going with my right handed lineup."

This was Murtaugh's first visit to Yankee Stadium in uniform. He's watched several games as a spectator but never played there.

Was he impressed? "Except for the left field corner the dimensions are similar to Forbes Field," said Murtaugh. "The players think it's a little rough and maybe it is."

Reminded the Yankees won 52 games at home, Murtaugh countered with:

"Then they must have lost 25." Murtaugh said Vinegar Bend Mizell will start Saturday with another southpaw, Harvey Haddix, probably on Sunday. "Haddix will definitely start one of the three games here," he said.

Skinner spent a half hour soaking his swollen and inflamed left hand in a whirlpool bath. He jammed his thumb in the first game Wednesday but X-rays showed no breaks.

Trainer Danny Whelan said the thumb still is badly swollen and Skinner cannot grip a bat. "It's hard to say how soon he can come around," he said.

The Pirates' only other casualty, Don Hoak, seems to have recovered from an inflamed prostate gland and a temperature of 103 degrees.

"I didn't feel good in the first game," said the fiery third sacker, "but I'm feeling better every day. I feel real good."

The 16-3 shellacking at the hands of the Yankees in the second game of the World Series at Forbes Field bore no mental roadblocks on the Pirates, at least none was evident.

NEW YORK (AP) — A fellow Friday asked Casey Stengel who was going to play left field for New York in Saturday's third World Series game against Pittsburgh.

The Yankee manager scratched his head, screwed up his wrinkled brow, gazed up into the sky and thought deeply.

"Well," Casey began, "this is not an easy left field to play because of the background and the shadows which creep up on you and even go behind you. Then there's those sun spots that come out from the cracks through the third deck and they could blind you."

"Now if you played the sun field like I did for 10 years and I used to be fairly good, not like Babe Ruth who they never let play those sun fields and they'd switch him with Bob Meusel so it would not hurt his eyes, and when you come in wearing a blue uniform into those black spots, it's like going into a dark cellar. Now you certainly got to wear sun-glasses in the afternoon and sometimes you see better at night."

"Now, I had an outstanding left fielder when I came here in '49 in Charlie Keller. But he had a bad back and had an operation. Then I had Tommy Henrich and he was good, too, but he had a bad knee. Then I broke in two young fellows which would be Hank Bauer and Gene Woodling whom I seen on the coast and they would alternate, but Bauer was green although he had a strong arm and could run but he used to be embarrassed by right-handed pitching so I switched him to right field and Woodling did an outstanding job for me for five-six years."

Because he was not a one-handed fielder but a two-handed fielder, which he was born that way.

"I had another fellow who did an outstanding job for me in left field and he was (Irv) Noren but he had bad knees, too, which was not (Norm) Siebern's trouble but his eyes and that's why I made him wear glasses and now I got (Hector) Lopez who must have something bad but I don't know what it is because he charges in on a ball — whoops — there it goes over his head so I have him play deep now."

"When you ask me about left field don't forget Yogi Berra who they say is awkward and slow but there's nobody faster fielding a ball in front of the plate but he could play anywhere you put him and he won't embarrass you because he has judgement and he has an idea how to get his hands on the ball and he has a good mind because when he sees somebody for the first time he always asks his name and next to (Joe) DiMaggio, he's the second best man who ever played for me."

"And did you notice there was quite a discussion the other day when he chased Mantle off the ball because he got a good jump on it and came all the way over from left field into Mantle's territory and so when I took him out I put in (Tony) Kubek and they hit a ball over his head and he said, 'How's it, Kid?' and he got again until September of 1959."

in stride. "Now I wanted to play Maris in left field but we had a disagreement over it and he did fairly well over there so I quit playing him there where he was unhappy because it might affect his hitting and I also found out when I played him in left I had a weakness in right so I put him in right field and he was the most outstanding player in right field for me since Bauer and if they would have closed the season after the All-Star game he would have been the biggest man in baseball."

"That's the story. Now ask me about the Pittsburgh club."

Braves Cut Schoendienst From Roster

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—The Milwaukee Braves Friday cut loose veteran second baseman Red Schoendienst, a hero of two pennant celebrations here, to signal the start of a major rebuilding effort.

Schoendienst, 37, who overcame tuberculosis to get back in the Milwaukee lineup this season, turned down a job in the Braves' organization. He said he's still healthy enough and skillful enough to help some other major league club.

Gen. Mgr. John McHale said he figured the infielder would turn down a non-playing job, and that's why he was given his unconditional release.

"Now he's free to go with the club of his choice," McHale said. Schoendienst forecast his release a few days ago when he said he felt the Braves had no further use for him, and McHale clinched it when he was quoted in a World Series huddle in Pittsburgh as saying "We feel Red can no longer do the job."

Schoendienst, a major leaguer since 1945, and one of the National League's brightest stars in his prime, started strong this year, then went into a slump. About mid-season, slick-fielding rookie Chuck Cottier took over second base, and Red got it back only once or twice.

He wound up batting .257, and playing in less than half of the team's games. Before the season started, he had predicted he would play at least 100 games. Schoendienst came to Milwaukee in June of 1957, with the club in a slump. The Braves rallied behind his leadership, and won the pennant by 8½ games. In 1958, although hobbled by injuries, he was again a key factor in a second successive pennant.

He was stricken with TB after the World Series, and didn't play again until September of 1959.

Annual Battle Of Bulldogs Set At Lafayette Tonight

RUSTON, La. (Special) — The annual battle of the Bulldogs — the upstate and downstate breeds — will take place at Lafayette Saturday night when Louisiana Tech attempts to keep its record clean in the Gulf States conference against the University of Southwestern Louisiana.

Southwestern's only loss of the season was a 20-10 defeat inflicted by Southeastern, so the downstate Canines will be trying to hang in the race for the title with a win over Tech.

USL has more experienced personnel back than any team in the GSC. Southwestern has 28

Miami Marlins May Switch To Northern City

NEW YORK (AP)—The Miami Marlins are toying with the idea of moving their franchise to either Syracuse, N.Y., or Portsmouth, Va., General Manager Joe Ryan told the International League Friday.

Ryan added, however, that if the Marlins get the "proper" support in Miami, they will remain there. Gabe Paul, general manager of the Cincinnati Reds, announced to the meeting that he would like to keep his International League entry in Jersey City. But that, too, he added, would depend on the support given the team by local fans.

The franchise was moved from Havana to Jersey City during the past season because of political troubles in Cuba. Loren Caffena of Arda, Ont., revealed that he had taken an option on the purchase of the Montreal Royals. The Los Angeles Dodgers recently announced they would not operate the Montreal franchise next year.

UNIMPRESSED

Bucs Laugh Off 16-3 Rout, Send Mizell Against Ford

NEW YORK (UPI) — The unimpressed Pittsburgh Pirates, battered 16 to 3 as the New York Yankees squared the World Series, laughed off any psychological scars Friday as they prepared to send Wilmer Vinegar Bend Mizell against Whitey Ford in a southpaw duel at massive Yankee Stadium.

"They've got to be wondering a little now," Yogi Berra of the Yankees summed up the general impression that the second game massacre might have broken the morale of the Pirates.

But the Bucs, 7½ to 5 underdogs for their 1 p.m. EDT debut in the vast reaches of Yankee Stadium Saturday, scoffed at the idea.

"The Series is not decided by total runs," said burly Pirate manager Danny Murtaugh. "What we did the day before never has had any bearing on our next performance."

"Psychological scar?" snorted shortstop Dick Groat, the Pirate captain. "We don't even have a scratch."

"Yesterday is forgotten and all we care about is tomorrow," added third baseman Don Hoak. "Ridiculous," asserted center fielder Bill Virdon. "Every time we have been beaten by a big score we have been better in our next game."

The Pirates apparently were going to have ideal conditions to prove themselves when the Series resumes after a day off for travel. The forecast was for clear skies, with the temperature in the high 60's, with little or no wind to complicate fielding problems.

The Yankees, now 9 to 5 favorites to win the Series as result of their 19-hit winning barrage in the second game, were quietly confident that the stubby Ford, who had a 12-9 record this year, would put them in front as hostilities resume.

But even the decisiveness of their second game triumph didn't arrive from Pittsburgh by train at 8:30 a.m. and two hours later were taking an hour's batting practice at the stadium.

"This is just to keep their minds on baseball," winked wise old Casey Stengel, who led them to 10 pennants in 12 years. "I gave 'em a day off several times this year and they never did very well coming back. Well, this is no time to let down now."

Murtaugh led his Pirates onto the field for the first time at 1 p.m. for a workout "as close to game conditions as possible." He and the entire squad appeared highly confident that Mizell, who won 14 games against eight losses this season, would put them ahead again in Saturday's third game.

"I saw the Series here two years ago when the Yankees played the Braves, but I wasn't ever on this field until today," he said, staring around at the sprawling premises and paying particular attention to left field.

That spot, to be patrolled for the Bucs Saturday by Gino Cimoli, Hoak and (Rocky) Nelson.

li, figures to be one of the greatest Pirate danger spots because of late inning shadows.

"My three guys from Brooklyn, Cimoli, Hoak and (Rocky) Nelson, all say it's pretty rough but we'll cope with it," Murtaugh said confidently.

There was some speculation that outfielder Bob Skinner might be lost to the Bucs for the rest of the Series because of a swollen left thumb, although Murtaugh said X-rays proved negative and "I would have played Cimoli against Ford anyhow because he's a right-handed hitter."

"One thing sure," Murtaugh added, "I'm not worried about Cimoli. He's a very good defensive man."

The Pirate manager made one other shift, putting the right handed hitting Hal Smith behind the plate in place of left-handed hitting Smokey Burgess.

While Stengel was mulling over his starting lineup, Murtaugh announced that he would lead off with Virdon. Groat, the National League batting champion, will hit second, followed by right fielder Roberto Clemente, first baseman Dick Stuart, Cimoli, Smith, Hoak, second baseman Bill Mazeroski and Mizell.

Murtaugh said that Clem Labine, Fred Green and Joe Gibbon would be available for early relief of Mizell "if necessary" with little Elroy Face the fireman on call from the sixth inning onward.

Stengel was holding back his batting order as he tried to decide how to get Berra into the lineup. Yogi, who has appeared in a record 63 Series contests and sets a new record every game out, apparently will be on the sidelines for the first time since 1947—and this is the 11th Series for the Yankees since that time.

That's because Stengel wants Elston Howard behind the plate and he would rather have right handed hitters Hector Lopez or Bob Cerv patrolling that unpredictable left field.

"They're both capable right-handed hitters," Stengel said undecidedly, adding that he was reluctant to keep Berra on the bench. "I'll have to wait until tomorrow to decide on my lineup."

However, he did say that veteran Gil McDougald would be at third instead of slick fielding Cletus Boyer because "he's a more experienced man."

The rest of the Yankee lineup is set with Mickey Mantle in center field, Roger Maris in right field, Moose Skowron at first base, Bobby Richardson at second base and Tony Kubek at shortstop.

Ted Williams, the retired home run king of the Boston Red Sox, will throw out the first ball before close to 70,000 fans. Then the other hitters will take over — and even the superficially confident Pirates had to be wondering whether those Yankee bats would thunder as they had in that final bombardment at Pittsburgh.

Pirate Manager Says Team Ready

By JOE BRADIS

NEW YORK (AP)—Danny Murtaugh brushed aside talk Friday his Pittsburgh Pirates are mentally and physically unsound for the New York Yankees.

"There's never been a series forfeited yet," snorted the Pirates' field manager in the visitors' dressing room before a workout in vast Yankee Stadium. "Sure Bob Skinner's got a bad thumb, but I didn't plan to use him anyway against Whitey Ford," he said. "I'm going with my right handed lineup."

This was Murtaugh's first visit to Yankee Stadium in uniform. He's watched several games as a spectator but never played there.

Was he impressed? "Except for the left field corner the dimensions are similar to Forbes Field," said Murtaugh. "The players think it's a little rough and maybe it is."

Reminded the Yankees won 32 games at home, Murtaugh countered with:

"Then they must have lost 25." Murtaugh said Vinegar Bend Mizell will start Saturday with another southpaw, Harvey Haddix, probably on Sunday. "Haddix will definitely start one of the three games here," he said.

Tech To Host Indian Cross Country Team

RUSTON, La. (Special) — Louisiana Tech's cross country team will resume action here Saturday, Oct. 15, in a meet with Northeast State.

Tech and Northeast were tentatively slated to meet here this Saturday, but the date was changed to Oct. 15. Tech, the defending Gulf States conference champ, has lost both its meets so far this season to McNeese State by 25-30 and 23-32 scores.

Bob Hayes has been Tech's top distance runner this fall, finishing second in the three-mile races against the Cowboys. Fred Norris, the McNeese import from England who twice represented that nation in the Olympics, placed first in both meets, more than a minute ahead of nearest competitor on both occasions.

YOUR PROBLEMS

Boy Friend Demanding In Battle Of Hair-Do

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I need your help again. This time on a different subject. How much should an 11-year-old boy eat?

This may sound stupid, but it's a serious problem at our house. Our son weighs 90 pounds. He can eat more than his husband. It's nothing for him to devour six or eight biscuits at breakfast. He never seems full. He'll drink as many glasses of milk as we'll give him.

I'm afraid if I take him to a doctor he'll develop a complex or worry that something may be wrong with him. When he told me he ate three big hamburgers and drank five bottles of pop at a school picnic I decided to write to you. Please advise me. —PERPLEXED

Dear Perplexed: You might as well ask me how high is up. I can't tell you through the mail if your son is eating too much. You tell me he weighs 90 pounds but you don't say how tall he is, so I can't even tell you if he's overweight.

Take this boy to a doctor and let "him" advise you. He should have a periodic physical check-up and this could be part of it.

Also, stop talking about what the boy eats in his presence. Some kids would eat a basket of licks dipped in axle grease to get attention. When he brags about drinking five bottles of pop at the school picnic I suspect he may be overeating to show off.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm 16 and going steady with a boy 21. We've been going steady for six months. Yesterday was our first big argument. He won't let me wear my hair up.

My mother says it looks neater up than down. I like it up because it's cooler and more comfortable.

He says it looks cheap and sexy. He claims my personality even changes when my hair is up.

I asked him if it was all right to wear it down with him and up when he's not around. He said, "No, I want everyone to see you as I do—whole and lovely."

I know you can't tell me which way it looks best, but maybe you can tell me if you think he's being too domineering. He claims he wants what's best for me. Please answer. —B. D.

Dear B. D.: If you were engaged to this fellow I'd say you should wear your hair as he likes it. Under the circumstances I think he's being unduly possessive and he should not make such demands.

He may mean well, but hair-up down or sideways—should not be "that" important.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm going steady with a very nice clean-cut guy. He has a habit of tickling me and it just drives me nuts. I am more ticklish than most people and I have begged him to please not do it. He says it's all in fun and I should be a good sport.

I've tried tickling him back but he is not a bit ticklish and it doesn't bother him a bit. He also likes to wrestle with me in fun, and I don't like this either. My father says it's "revolting" but he's old-fashioned and very conservative about everything.

What are your ideas on this? It's no laughing matter any more. —FRANCINE

Dear Francine: Tickling and wrestling may look like nice clean fun on the surface but they are attempts to wear down your resistance. Tell the big ape "hands off" and make it stick.

YOUR PROBLEMS

Boy Friend Demanding In Battle Of Hair-Do

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I need your help again. This time on a different subject. How much should an 11-year-old boy eat?

This may sound stupid, but it's a serious problem at our house. Our son weighs 90 pounds. He can eat more than my husband. It's nothing for him to devour six or eight biscuits at breakfast. He never seems full. He'll drink as many glasses of milk as we'll give him.

I'm afraid if I take him to a doctor he'll develop a complex or worry that something may be wrong with him. When he told me he ate three big hamburgers and drank five bottles of pop at a school picnic I decided to write to you. Please advise me. —PERPLEXED

Dear Perplexed: You might as well ask me how high is up. I can't tell you through the mail if your son is eating too much. You tell me he weighs 90 pounds but you don't say how tall he is, so I can't even tell you if he's overweight.

Take this boy to a doctor and let "him" advise you. He should have a periodic physical check-up and this could be part of it. Also, stop talking about what the boy eats in his presence. Some kids would eat a basket of tacks dipped in axle grease to get attention. When he brags about drinking five bottles of pop at the school picnic I suspect he may be overeating to show off.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm 16 and going steady with a boy 21. We've been going steady for six months. Yesterday was our first big argument. He won't let me wear my hair up.

My mother says it looks neater up than down. I like it up because it's cooler and more comfortable.

He says it looks cheap and sexy. He claims my personality even changes when my hair is up.

I asked him if it was all right to wear it down with him up and when he's not around. He said, "No, I want everyone to see you as I do—wholesome and lovely."

I know you can't tell me which way it looks best, but maybe you can tell me if you think he's being too domineering. He claims he wants what's best for me. Please answer. —B. D.

Dear B. D.: If you were engaged to this fellow I'd say you should wear your hair as he likes it. Under the circumstances I think he's being unduly possessive and he should not make such demands.

He may mean well, but hair-up down or sideways—should not be "that" important.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm going steady with a very nice clean-cut guy. He has a habit of tickling me and it just drives me nuts. I am more ticklish than most people and I have begged him to please not do it. He says it's all in fun and I should be a good sport.

I've tried tickling him back but he is not a bit ticklish and it doesn't bother him a bit. He also likes to wrestle with me in fun, and I don't like this either. My father says it's "revolting" but he's old-fashioned and very conservative about everything.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Adoption Needn't Be Hidden, Nor Harped On

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

It isn't necessary for a good physician to have had all the diseases he treats in order to be successful with them. And women can be good trainers of children without ever having been mothers, as can be attested by any school teacher.

In the same vein, one need not have been an adopted child in order to know how such a parent feels, or what is good for the adopted child.

Mr. and Mrs. T. M. E. write: "Dear Mrs. Eldred:

"Why should a person as you who has had no personal experience with adoption, try to write about it. Why don't you leave it to parents of adopted children to know exactly what to say and when to say it? A child who is adopted is loved—adored—and wanted more than birth children. It is people like yourself who keep writing articles that make a child wonder about something that otherwise would not give him a thought.

"It's easy to see you do not want to understand that an adopted child loves his parents as much as a birth child. He could not possibly be hurt by someone whom he has never seen in his life. It is the people around him who are real, not someone in a story.

The article about which some months ago—was an exceptional case in that the real mother lived close to the child and could become an influence at any time.

When an adoption is conducted according to the best advice of adoption agencies, the real mother has no contact with the child. Despite this, it is unrealistic to refuse to tell the child of the adoption, somewhere, somehow, the news will come out and be more shocking and devastating to the child than if she had known it from the first.

NEEDN'T HARP
Personally I do not believe it necessary to keep harping on the fact that the child was adopted. But adoption is not an act of which to be ashamed or to keep hidden in the mistaken belief that if you don't mention it you can in truth become the child's real parents. Be proud of the wonderful privilege of adoption which gives two loving parents to a child who needs them.

You show me in any of my columns such an assertion that adoptive children do not love their parents as much as real children. Also, accord the real parents the same imagination you claim you have to understand that adoptive or real, a true parent loves his children. Your thinking is biased and so is your reading when you make such false and foolish accusations. Take the chip off your shoulder.

If you would like to have my leaflet, "So You Want to Adopt a Child," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 85. Address: Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

Davis Opposes Amendment 27

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Gov. Jimmie H. Davis today urged voters in the November election to reject constitutional amendment No. 27 changing jurisdiction of juvenile court in Orleans Parish.

Davis said in a statement the amendment was improperly drawn by its authors.

"The proposal," he said, "was originally intended to extend the jurisdiction of the juvenile court to include paternity cases where support of unlawful children is involved."

"The Legislature voting for the act shared my belief that its sole purpose was the extension of this jurisdiction," he said. "I now discover that through inadvertent passage of the amendment will reduce the number of judges in this important court to two and will be in conflict with the 1968 amendment."

Good Reputation More Important Than Car

By ANIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We were invited to a wedding. The bride's parents wanted to put on a big show without spending anything. They sent out 300 invitations for a wedding in a church that could seat only 100. More than half the people had to stand outside until they were exhausted. The reception was held in the church basement. There was a mob pushing and shoving so you couldn't even get near the refreshment table. Isn't that like inviting guests to your home and not having room for them at the table? We'd like your opinion. —STANDING GUEST

DEAR GUEST: As for the ceremony—I wouldn't have said a word. And as for the reception, I wouldn't have stayed for it.

DEAR ABBY: What can I do to keep a 21-year-old girl from ruining her reputation by hanging around a gasoline station? There are nothing but married men there and people are often to keep their car in good condition, but she stays for hours. How can I put a stop to it? —HER MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Let her know that while her automobile is in

DEAR ABBY: We married young and don't have many material things although we both come from nice families and are used to much more. We have three children, 6, 5 and 3. I have no help and do the best I can.

Lately my husband has become very fussy about things I consider trivial and unimportant. Example: Last night I set the table without a table cloth or place mats. He likes green onions and since he was the only one eating them, I washed a few and placed them beside his plate. He said the last I could do was to put them on a plate. I said he was making something out of nothing. He said he wants the children to learn how to do things properly. I say setting a formal table is wasted on young children. It caused a real row. Was he right? —TRYING HARD

DEAR TRYING: Try a little harder. Attractive place mats can be bought at the five and dime. Serving vegetables in a plate can hardly be called "formal service." It's well worth the extra effort if it pleases your husband.

Furniture Can Be Protected By New Finish

CHICAGO (UPI) — A new finish for hardwood furniture protects it against cigarette burns as well as scratches and stains.

Aluminum foil is the new finish. A thin layer of the foil, laminated beneath the veneered exterior, swiftly distributed the heat of a dropped cigarette to keep the wood from heating up enough to burn.

The Fine Hardwoods Association, which developed the foil trick, has teamed it with a transparent scratch- and stain-resistant surface for wood. The transparent surface gives the same kind of protection afforded by the plasticized finishes now widely used on table tops.

But the plasticized finishes are opaque and carry photographic reproductions of the wood, which actually makes them wood substitutes. The new kind of surface, on the other hand, protects wood, but reveals its actual grain, color and figure.

Unlike the old shiny, plasticized finishes, the new surface can be given anything from a dull, rubbed to a gleaming, high gloss. It's ideal for the fine, figured and inlaid surfaces of antique reproductions and traditional designs as well as for contemporary pieces.

In a child's room, the new surface makes it practical to furnish for permanence rather than as a temporary "gymnasium." In offices, hotels, restaurants and medical reception rooms, it should eliminate the need for glass tops on tables or desks.

All furniture manufacturers and designers have access to the new surface and its burn-resistant undercoating.

Good Reputation More Important Than Car

DEAR ABBY: We were invited to a wedding. The bride's parents wanted to put on a big show without spending anything. They sent out 300 invitations for a wedding in a church that could seat only 100. More than half the people had to stand outside until they were exhausted. The reception was held in the church basement. There was a mob pushing and shoving so you couldn't even get near the refreshment table. Isn't that like inviting guests to your home and not having room for them at the table? We'd like your opinion. —STANDING GUEST

Service Station Attendant Slain

HAMMOND, La. (AP)—A service station attendant was killed Friday in a gun-battle while trying to prevent a holdup of the station, and a few hours later police arrested a Minnesota couple for murder.

Wayne Turner, 25, a 6-foot-2, 280-lb. Chisholm, Minn., man wanted in several states, was charged with murder. His wife Shirley, 24, was charged as an accessory to murder.

Albert D. Young, 58, was slain at an all-night station near Hammond. His body was found on a concrete strip in front of the station. He was shot in the chest and heart with a .25 caliber bullet.

The would-be robber fled in a waiting car. His stolen auto, damaged by a bullet from Young's gun, was left behind.

Policeman Murphy Hebert of nearby Ponchatoula received a call from a rural resident that an auto had run in the ditch along a country road.

Hebert drove out and spotted the auto, its wheels spinning vainly in the mud. A man and a woman were inside.

Turner stepped out of the car. Hebert said, and told him: "I'm the man you want."

The couple, attempting to elude roadblocks, had taken to backwoods roads. They were taken to the Tangipahoa Parish jail at Amite.

Sheriff Tom Sanders said Turner admitted the shooting of Young, the father of five children.

Turner told officers he stole a car Thursday night in Hammond and drove it to the service station while his wife waited nearby in a rental car stolen from California.

When Young went for his gun, Turner said, he fired three times, hitting Young once. A bullet from the attendant's .36 caliber revolver er smashed the headlight of Turner's car. Its motor was still running when teen-agers found Young's body beside it.

Young's gun, fired once, was lying near his body. The station's cash register was untouched.

Sheriff Sanders said Turner was wanted in Michigan for forgery and in California for forgery, burglary and car theft.

Officers found the 25 automatic death weapon in Turner's auto that was stuck in the ditch. They also found the drawing of a Slidell store. Turner said he was planning to rob the store.

Negro Arrested For Obscenity

Monroe police arrested a 56-year-old Negro yesterday charging him with obscenity.

Emmale Scott, 2716 Prospect St., was arrested at Walnut and DeSiard streets when it was reported that he was committing an indecent act.

Police said that a patrolman was stopped at a red light when a citizen came and reported the incident to him.

Scott is being held on a $500 bond and will be tried in Monroe City Court.

WEIL CLEANERS has completed plans for the building of a pick up station to be located on N. 18th near the intersection of Forsythe. In addition to ample parking around the building, shown in the architect's drawing above, a sheltered drive-in area is included.

5 Nations Get Smallpox Alert

GENEVA (AP) — The World Health Organization alerted five countries Friday of possible smallpox contagion by an airline passenger en route from Ceylon to London.

A WHO spokesman said warning cables to Ceylon, India, Iran, Turkey and Italy were expected to touch off large-scale vaccination.

The spokesman said the smallpox suspect arrived in London Monday on a commercial flight and was hospitalized Wednesday. He had stopped over in the five countries on his way from Colombo.

The WHO said the man was born in Holland and is known by the surnames of Vandoren and Perk. It said he flew from Malaysia to Colombo, Ceylon, where he boarded the British plane.

Meanwhile, in Oslo, Norwegian health authorities continued to search for a flying companion of the infected man who continued on from London to Oslo. A health department spokesman identified the man sought in Norway as E. M. Gravas. He said no trace er smashed the headlight of Turner's car. Its motor was still running when teen-agers found Young's body beside it.

Policeman Murphy Hebert of nearby Ponchatoula received a call from a rural resident that an

Young's gun, fired once, was lying near his body. The station's cash register was untouched.

Sheriff Sanders said Turner was wanted in Michigan for forgery and in California for forgery, burglary and car theft.

Officers found the .25 automatic death weapon in Turner's auto that was stuck in the ditch. They also found the drawing of a Slidell store. Turner said he was planning to rob the store.

JIM DEAL

Deal's House Of Light Opening Here

A new business firm, Deal's House of Light, Inc., 1105 Forsythe, in Forsythe Shopping center, will formally open Monday morning, but is doing business now.

This was announced by owner Jim Deal.

It will feature an extensive assortment of electric and gas appliances, and "Anyone building a new home needs to see the display at the store," said Deal.

Among the items featured will be lighting fixtures, built-in appliances, medicine cabinets, attic fans, hoods, built-in barbecue units, food centers, built-in refrigerators, freezers and dishwashers.

Store hours will be 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

On October 11, 12, 13, a factory representative will give evening demonstrations of Chambers cooking equipment at the store by appointment only. Those who attend the demonstrations will get a free meal, Deal said.

Jack Brandt, Stephens Out Of Hospital

BALTIMORE (AP)—Baltimore Oriole outfielders Jack Brandt and Gene Stephens checked out of Union Memorial Hospital Friday four days after each underwent surgery.

Brandt, who batted .232 and clubbed 15 home runs for the second place Birds this season, had a bone chip removed from between the thumb and forefinger of his right hand.

Stephens, who compiled a .232 batting average with the Boston Red Sox and Baltimore over the season, had a small piece of bone removed from his right wrist.

The two, both of whom played with what their doctor described as "considerable amount of pain," will be in bandages for about four weeks.

Dr. Erwin Mayer, the Oriole team physician, said the operations "should make quite a difference" in the play of the two athletes.

However, Stephens says he still is considering giving up baseball. "I'm not going to make a decision now, and probably not before Christmas," said the veteran who was discouraged by his hitting this year.

Stephens left here by plane for his home at Oklahoma City. Brandt planned to return to his Omaha home by automobile.

Two other Orioles are scheduled for post-season operations next week — second baseman Marv Breeding for nose surgery and first baseman Jim Gentile for removal of a bone spur.

Former Jena Man Art Winner At Atlanta, Ga.

A former Jena resident was recently awarded a first prize in the Southeastern Art Exhibition held at the Atlanta Art Museum in Atlanta, Ga.

Stuart Purser, now a professor at the University of Florida and a brother of Mrs. A. R. Doughty of Monroe, formerly taught at Louisiana Tech in Ruston.

His canvas, an oil work called "Atchafalaya Camp" will become part of the permanent collection at the Atlanta Museum.

This is the second first prize entry for Purser in the exhibition.

His prize-winning 1948 painting, "Eeru Lake," also hangs in the collection.

This year, some 80 paintings were included in the exhibition selected by a jury from 2,400 canvases entered by artists from nine southeastern states.

Flood Spreading
MARSEILLE, France (AP) — The flood menace that struck west-central France earlier this week spread today to the lower Rhone Valley of southern France. Outside Avignon the Rhone spilled over its banks and cut the national highway. Outside Marseille, at Aubagne, flood waters swept into the lower parts of town.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore Van Dellen

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

BABY'S PROGRESS
The average birth weight is 7 pounds but variations are so common, it is difficult to find an infant who tips the scale at this exact figure. Newborns weighing 5, 8, or 9 pounds are considered normal but there is a limit to variations. Any baby weighing less than 5 pounds, for example, is classified as premature.

The progress made after birth is more important. Most children grow more during the first year than at any other time in life. They double their birth weight by 5 to 6 months and triple it by 1 year. Again, these are average values.

The usual gain is 6 to 8 ounces a week during the first 6 months, and 4 to 6 ounces a week during the next 6 months. The well fed child with a hearty appetite gains more, which is not harmful so long as he does not become obese. Such youngsters may be heavier but are not necessarily healthier.

The excessive growth spurt of the first year is not maintained. The same can be said of appetite. So don't be concerned when Junior begins to eat less or becomes more choosy in his selection of food.

Most infants lie quietly in the crib during the first month or two. Their first muscular movements are purposeless but at 3 months the tyke raises the head and attempts to grasp objects. With practice, the hands become more coordinated and useful to the child. Some tots sit alone at 6 months but are a bit wobbly; the majority sit securely by the eighth month. A few children stand at 9 months and walk before their first birthday but the majority creep until age 1. Most babies are walking at 15 months.

The first understandable word comes near the end of the first year but the toddler may be 2 years old before he uses a sentence. Delays in talking are common and should not be considered abnormal. Many youngsters have no need to talk, especially when they are waited on like a king simply by crying.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

FURROWED FOREHEAD
J. G. Writes: Can anything be done to erase the crease on the forehead between the eyes?

REPLY
Yes, but you will need the help of a plastic surgeon.

LOWER BACK PAIN
J. C. P. writes: What are the symptoms of sacroiliac trouble?

REPLY
Pain in the lower back, usually toward one side. Discomfort is aggravated by tilting the body to the left or right.

GIANT HIVES
Mrs. R. writes: Is angioneurotic edema the same as hives?

REPLY
Both are allergic reactions but angioneurotic edema is more extensive. Breathing and swallowing are affected when these giant hives develop in the mouth and throat.

BREAKING A FEVER BLISTER
C. S. writes: Is it safe to break open a fever blister with a sterilized needle?

REPLY
No. The fluid within a blister is free of bacteria but inserting a needle is the best way to infect it. Wash the lesion with soap and keep it covered. It will heal faster this way than by removing the covering, leading to an open sore. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on cold sores, or fever blisters.

Today's Health Hint—
Every person should experience success or superiority in some field or situation.

Soviet Extends Recognition To Algerian Rebels

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — In a challenge to French President De Gaulle, Soviet Premier Khrushchev Friday recognized the Algerian rebel leadership as in fact a government.

The French government has threatened to break relations with the Soviet Union if it recognized the North African rebels fighting for independence from France. De Gaulle is promoting a plan he says will give Algeria self-determination but hopes to keep it allied with France.

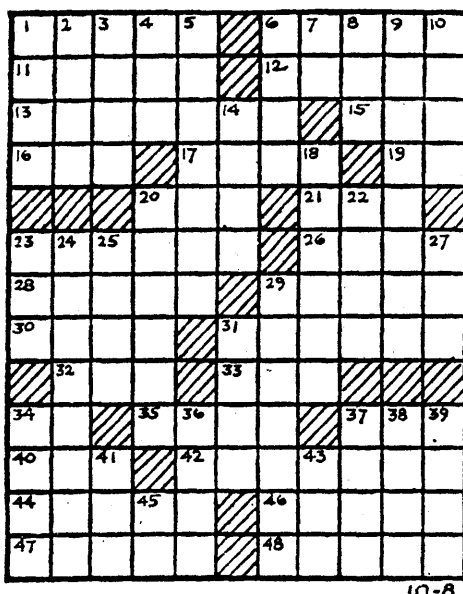

The immediate reaction of Paris officialdom was that Khrushchev's statement before a U.N. Correspondents' Association luncheon came as a surprise.

President De Gaulle himself was touring the French provinces, bitterly speaking out against the U.N. Assembly in apparent anticipation of action it may take on the Algerian rebels' case for independence.

De Gaulle's traveling party at Annecy had no immediate comment on Khrushchev's remarks. De Gaulle alone among the Big Four power leaders has avoided the current U.N. Assembly. President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan have spoken to the assembly and Khrushchev is still on hand.

Rarick Charges Union Financial Report False

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Donald C. Rarick, leader of a dissident faction in the United Steelworkers Union, charged in a federal court suit Friday that the union's financial report was calculated to deceive the government and the USW membership.

Rarick charged that USW President David J. McDonald, whom he once opposed for the union presidency, had "squandered and dissipated" union funds.

Rarick's petition alleged that a report filed with the government last May under terms of the Landrum-Griffin Act, was "vague, indefinite and erroneous." He asked that the court order the USW to open its records for examination.

The suit, filed by attorney James C. Ashton, named McDonald and the United Steelworkers of America as defendants.

Rarick's petition alleged that some $250,000 paid to singer Phil Regan for services as "union vocalist" were not listed in the report.

Rarick contended that McDonald's union-paid expenses were "much greater" than the $14,667 listed. McDonald reported his annual salary at $38,333.34.

The suit alleged that McDonald authorized payment from union funds of a $1,500 bill at the Club 21 in New York City for a party given by Regan for USW directors.

It contended McDonald maintains hotel suites in New York, Washington, and Miami for personal use. The suite rentals and expenses for vacation trips to Sea Island, Ga., Palm Springs, Calif., and Europe were not listed in the Labor Department report.

Accent Gets Laugh
CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy's Boston accent got a big laugh here Thursday. "Cincinnati," said Kennedy and when his audience laughed, the Democratic presidential nominee explained: "That's the way we pronounce it in Boston."

But when Kennedy continued his talk in downtown Fountain Square, he played it safe. "This city," he called it.

No One Injured In Plane Mishap

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) — The nose wheel of an American Airlines plane collapsed on landing at Newark Airport Friday. Seventeen passengers and the five-man crew left the plane without injuries through the pilot's door.

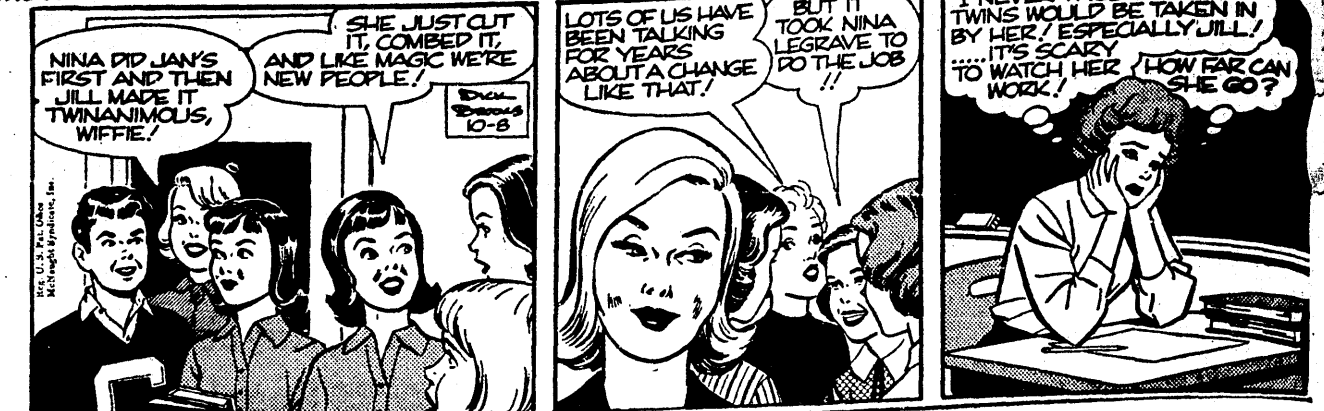

The four-engined DC8 nosed into the ground at the end of the runway and the tail upended as the plane came to a halt. There was no fire, airline officials said.

The plane was a short-hop flight originating in Los Angeles. It stopped at San Diego, Calif., Phoenix, Tucson, Douglas, and Bisbee, Ariz.; El Paso and Fort Worth, Tex.; Memphis, Nashville and Knoxville, Tenn.; Washington, D.C.; and Philadelphia.

Emergency equipment was sped to the plane, but was not needed, aircraft officials said. The airline said there was little damage to the plane.

BALTIMORE (AP)—Baltimore Orioles outfielders Jack Brandt and Gene Stephens checked out of Union Memorial Hospital Friday four days after each underwent surgery.

Brandt, who batted .232 and clouted 15 home runs for the second place Birds this season, had a bone chip removed from between the thumb and forefinger of his right hand.

Rarick Charges Union Financial Report False

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Donald C. Rarick, leader of a dissident faction in the United Steelworkers Union, charged in a federal court suit Friday that the union's financial report was calculated to deceive the government and the USW membership.

Rarick charged that USW President David J. McDonald, whom he once opposed for the union presidency, had "squandered and dissipated" union funds.

Rarick's petition alleged that a report filed with the government last May under terms of the Landrum-Griffin Act, was "vague, indefinite and erroneous." He asked that the court order the USW to open its records for examination.

The suit, filed by attorney James C. Ashton, named McDonald and the United Steelworkers of America as defendants.

Rarick's petition alleged that some $250,000 paid to singer Phil Regan for services as "union vocalist" were not listed in the report.

Rarick contended that McDonald's union-paid expenses were "much greater" than the $14,667 listed. McDonald reported his annual salary at $38,333.34.

The suit alleged that McDonald authorized payment from union funds of a $1,500 bill at the Club 21 in New York City for a party given by Regan for USW directors.

It contended McDonald maintains hotel suites in New York, Washington, and Miami for personal use. The suite rentals and expenses for vacation trips to Sea Island, Ga., Palm Springs, Calif., and Europe were not listed in the Labor Department report.

Senator Ellender Visits In Ruston

RUSTON (Special) — Louisiana Senator Allen J. Ellender, visiting in Ruston Friday, said that he thought the Kennedy-Johnson ticket would sweep Louisiana easily.

He added that Kennedy was making inroads all over the country and expected to win the national elections.

Ellender was making what he termed his annual visit to Lincoln parish. He said he always visited every parish in the state at least once per year.

The veteran senator, who has held office since 1939, said that in numerous previous elections he had had Democratic opposition, but that this year was the first time that he had Republican opposition for the post. He has been touring the state since he returned from Washington September 10.

There is no doubt that we need a change in the national administration," the dapper senator, who turned 70 last month said. "I find the people very much worried about our foreign affairs, and they can blame no one but the administration for our blunders around the world."

He was particularly incensed about the "two-bit dictator, Castro," who is defiance of the United States, he said, has had a large effect on the opinion of other countries concerning the U. S.

"If this matter had been handled correctly, the whole thing could have been avoided," Ellender declared. He said that the U. S. refused to send Batista weapons with which to maintain internal peace.

Another "Faux Pas" the administration made was to agree in San Jose to punish Trujillo and Castro," he continued, when we merely slapped Castro, and were pretty hard on Trujillo."

"The only thing we can do now about the Cuban situation is continue the economic sanctions and hope that someone will shoot Castro," the senator added.

Ellender said that the finest thing that ever happened as far as Castro and Nikita Khrushchev are concerned was the United Nations meeting now in session.

"They showed their teeth and what they are," he declared.

"They are just like children, if they don't get what they want, they stomp like a child asking for candy."

"But I don't sell Khrushchev short," he went on. "I don't suppose there is a greater propagandist alive in the world today than Khrushchev."

Collision Sets Nine Vessels On Fire; One Killed

EMMERICH, Germany (AP)—A ship collision set nine vessels afire on the Rhine River Friday and police reported one person killed, two missing and 25 injured. Burning oil sent thick smoke skyward.

Laden with 730 tons of kerosene, the 565-ton Belgian tanker barge Diamant burst into flames on contact from a newly rebuilt Danish ferry that had broken away from its tug on a downstream voyage.

The blaze quickly engulfed the ferry—the $1 million, 1,600-ton Tina Scarlett—and seven vessels tied up as was the Diamant at this inland port on the Dutch-German border. Some, abandoned by their crews, drifted downstream into the Netherlands.

The Rhine resembled a burning sea.

Traffic on Europe's busiest waterway was halted.

A spokesman for the German water police said the one known dead was a Dutch woman, Mrs. Van der Flag, wife of the skipper of the Fortuna, a 315-ton Dutch vessel that burned and sank.

Ten of the injured were in serious condition. They are five Germans, three Dutchmen and two Danes.

Tensas Drainage Up For Approval In Nov. Election

ST. JOSEPH (Special) — Nov. 15 has been set as the date for a bond and maintenance election in Gravity Drainage District No. 2, Tensas Parish, by the district board, according to A. G. McIntosh, board secretary.

Purpose of the election is for the people to decide whether to construct the north Tensas watershed project, covering some 186,72 acres.

The project includes 102 1/2 miles of drainage canal excavation and channel improvement, with a total amount of excavation estimated at 1 million cubic yards. Total clearing and snagging is estimated at 135 acres, and the total estimated cost of installation is $516,034.

Financing and additional engineering assistance will be provided by the Soil Conservation Service through Public Law 366, 83rd Congress.

The Louisiana Dept. of Public Works will provide financial and engineering assistance, also.

The people's share of the cost of installation is $61,000, and a tax for 2 miles, to be voted on Nov. 15, will pay for maintenance.

McIntosh said the drainage board has been granted eligibility by the Farmers Home Administration to borrow funds from them.

Last week, FHA officials helped the board secretary complete application for the loan of $61,000 this board needs, and the application is in Washington for approval.

The secretary said easements for rights-of-way for the canals must be on file in the courthouse before the federal government will participate in the contract.

Members of the drainage board are Jack P. Mabry, Newellton, president; George R. Bagley, St. Joseph, vice president; and M. P. Guthrie, Newellton, George Lord, Henry White, all of Newellton.

TOKYO (UPI)—A Japanese college glee club will make a two-month concert tour of the United States next fall, the first such trip since the war.

The Rikkyo St. Paul's University chorus will sing Japanese folk songs, religious hymns, and nursery rhymes. Girls in the group will wear traditional robes.

She was on her way to the state legislature to address a joint meeting of the House of Chiefs and the House of Assembly. The princess served as Queen Elizabeth II's representative at ceremony last week in which Nigeria achieved its independence from Britain. (AP Wirephoto)

Two teenagers were arrested by the Ouachita Parish Sheriff's department yesterday and held for the Mississippi authorities.

The duet, Truman J. Malone, 18, and his sister, Brenda Malone, 17, were arrested at 601 Woods St. after the sheriff's department received a tip that the boy was changing the license plates on his car.

Collision Sets Nine Vessels On Fire; One Killed

EMMERICH, Germany (AP)—A ship collision set nine vessels afire on the Rhine River Friday and police reported one person killed, two missing and 25 injured. Burning oil sent thick smoke skyward.

Laden with 730 tons of kerosene, the 565-ton Belgian tanker barge Diamant burst into flames on contact from a newly rebuilt Danish ferry that had broken away from its tug on a downstream voyage.

The blaze quickly engulfed the ferry—the $1 million, 1,600-ton Tina Scarlett—and seven vessels tied up as was the Diamant at this inland port on the Dutch-German border. Some, abandoned by their crews, drifted downstream into the Netherlands.

The Rhine resembled a burning sea.

Traffic on Europe's busiest waterway was halted.

A spokesman for the German water police said the one known dead was a Dutch woman, Mrs. Van der Fluga, wife of the skipper of the Fluga, a 315-ton Dutch vessel that burned and sank.

Ten of the injured were in serious condition. They are five Germans, three Dutchmen and two Danes.

Fair Slated For Opening On Monday

An old-fashioned show with a modern day program is slated to open in West Monroe Monday as the Ouachita Valley Fair begins its six-day run this season at the fairgrounds on North Seventh Street.

Members of the West Monroe Civitan Club will handle gate receipts and ticket sales as they have for several years.

There will be nothing outdated about the event although it ranks with the camp meeting and all-day singing and dinner on the ground of a past, colorful era.

Dating back to the early days of the nation, the fair is a link with the past when distant neighbors came together at harvest time to trade and swap.

A model of the USS Forrestal will be on display by the U. S. Navy and Daredevil Zucchini will be hurled from an "atomic" can non over two ferris wheels.

About $4,000 in premiums will be offered in a number of divisions.

Booth displays are termed "top notch" by Fair Secretary - Manager John H. Birdsong Sr.

Competition is expected to be heavy in the corn show, livestock section, ceramics division, poultry show, sewing and canning divisions, potato section and others.

The Civitan Club will use proceeds from ticket sales to build up its project fund.

Lawyers Meet

Continues With Civil Procedure

A lawyers seminar which began yesterday will continue today at 9 a.m. Saturday to acquaint some 200 northeast Louisiana lawyers with the new code of civil procedure adopted by the state legislature at its last session.

The attorneys arrived in Monroe yesterday for the meetings which are sponsored by the Louisiana Bar Association.

Discussions will be headed by Prof. Henry George McMahon, LSU Law School, and New Orleans attorneys Leon Sarpy, Leon Hubert and Adrian Duplantier.

A banquet and dance was held last night as part of the program at the Bayou deSiard Country Club.

The legislature recently passed into law a number of changes in the code of civil procedure, all recommended by the Louisiana Bar Association.

The new code is the biggest change in Louisiana laws since 1817, according to the attorneys.

Murphy Blackwell of West Monroe, president of the Fourth Judicial District Bar Association, opened the sessions yesterday.

This is only one of five seminars being sponsored throughout the state.

Others include meetings for New Orleans, Baton Rouge, Shreveport and Lafayette.

The conferences will be highlighted by lectures by the panelists.

Continues With

Civil Procedure

A lawyers seminar which began yesterday will continue through Saturday to acquaint some 200 northeast Louisiana lawyers with the new code of civil procedure adopted by the state legislature at its last session.

The attorneys arrived in Monroe yesterday for the meetings which are sponsored by the Louisiana Bar Association.

Discussions will be headed by Prof. Henry George McMahon, LSU Law School, and New Orleans attorneys Leon Sarpy, Leon Hubert and Adrian Duplantier.

A banquet and dance was held last night as part of the program at the Bayou Pechere Country Club.

The legislature recently passed into law a number of changes in the code of civil procedure, all recommended by the Louisiana Bar Association.

The new code is the biggest change in Louisiana laws since 1817, according to the attorneys.

Murphy Blackwell of West Monroe, president of the Fourth Judicial District Bar Association, opened the sessions yesterday.

Others include meetings for New Orleans, Baton Rouge, Shreveport and Lafayette.

The conferences will be highlighted by lectures by the panelists.

Allan Norris, West Monroe, Robert Easterling, chairman of the fifth district Republicans, Faulk, George Snellings, Jr., fifth district finance chairman for the Republicans, James W. Moore and Wayne Woods, fifth district officials, Mrs. Mildred Ewing, the state chairman of "Ladies for Nixon."

Clark Boyce, brother of state leader Jimmy Boyce, will be on hand.

Area "Democrats for Nixon" officials present will include Captain Jack Wily of Lak Providence, East Carroll parish, Land Hunter, West Carroll parish, R. W. Hammons, Franklin parish, Lamar Sherman, Caldwell parish, Kim Sherman, Caldwell parish, Marvin Culpepper and Billy Baker, Jonesboro (Jackson parish).
